

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Mr. Waterman offered the following, to wit:

Whereas, it is demanded by the character and peace of our City, for the reasons here set forth, that the police of the city should be effectually empowered to suppress the gangs of armed persons infecting our suburbs, and often coming into the city proper, with riotous intentions,

First. Because the number of these persons, and their habitual use of fire arms and other deadly weapons, enable them to defy the approach of a civil force.

Secondly. Because, in frequent attempts to arrest them, the police officers have been severely wounded, and their lives imminently endangered in the courageous performance of their duties.

Thirdly. Because, the officers thus disabled and deprived of the means of support for themselves or families, have a just claim on the public treasury, which is thus taxed to a considerable amount.

Fourthly. Because, the ultimate recourse to the military to sustain the police, is an additional and very large item of expense.

Fifthly. Because, this recourse (to the military) never avails, until the riotors, themselves, are wearied with the work of outrage, and have destroyed life and property to the extent of their momentary determination.

Sixthly. Because, the system of calling upon the military to suppress riots, is becoming so odious to that class of our citizens, that there is great reason to fear, the military will not, hereafter, be a reliable force.

Lastly. Because, the protection of our citizens, in the enjoyment of every right, incident to the civil compact, is the duty of their representatives, and to be fulfilled, without regard to consequences to any class of the community, which systematically violates the compact.

Therefore, Resolved—

1st. That the Police Committee be authorized and empowered to procure arms and ammunition to be placed in the Station Houses, to be used under the direction of the Mayor, by the Day and Night Police, whenever called out to suppress riots.

2d. That the Mayor may, whenever in his opinion it shall be advisable, arm that portion of the Day and Night Police, placed on duty in the suburbs of the City.

Which was read.

On motion,

Council proceeded to the second reading of the resolutions.

And being under consideration,

Mr. President, and Gentlemen of the Select Council:—

My official intercourse with you terminates with this evening, and I cannot persuade myself to allow the present occasion to pass, without expressing the deep regret I experience at the severance of those associations, which it has been my happiness so long to hold with the members of this branch of the City Councils. After a term of service, which, by the continued confidence of my fellow-citizens, has been extended beyond that of any other member of either chamber,—save only that of my estimable friend on my extreme right,—and who I most sincerely congratulate upon the renewed honor intended to be conferred on him. I am about to retire to private life ; and I do so, with the consciousness of having endeavored to the best of my very humble abilities, faithfully to discharge my duty to my constituents, however inadequately my endeavor may have been accomplished. The records of the various committees on which I have had the honor from time to time to be placed, will at least prove that I have been a punctual and industrious, if not always a skilful laborer in the many and important trusts committed to my charge.

In taking my leave of you, gentlemen, I must be permitted to express the very great gratification I feel in the reflection, that during the entire period of my intercourse with both Councils, it has been my good fortune to have received from my colleagues, the kindest attentions, with an unwavering confidence, due, I am persuaded, more to their cordial feelings and gentlemanly deportment, than to my own deserts.

I now retire, with the earnest hope that you may individually enjoy the blessings of continued health and happiness.

And Mr. Roberts

Made a motion that the address of Mr. Elliott be entered on the Journal.

Which was agreed to.

APPENDIX

JOURNAL OF THE SELECT COUNCIL.

APPENDIX No. I.

To the Select Council :

GENTLEMEN—In obedience to your order of 12th instant, I have the honor to report the following unfinished business of the late Council : namely,

On the 30th of August, 1849, the following Resolution was presented by Mr. Tyson, to wit :

Resolved, That the Committee on Police be instructed to inquire and report at large, into the causes of the outrages and excesses which are frequently committed upon the peace of the community in the adjoining and neighboring districts, and the remedy, if any, for their speedy suppression : also, whether the continuance of these disorders arises from the character of the population, or the want of efficiency in the police departments of the corporate districts, in which they occur, and whether the plan or administration of the city police system be chargeable with any of these deplorable evils,—and on second reading, being under consideration, it was

On motion of Mr. Waterman, laid on the table.

I further report, that on the 27th September, 1849, Mr. Roberts, from the Commissioners of the Girard Estates, made a Report, with a Bill annexed, entitled, “ An Ordinance making an appropriation from the Girard Estates, for the year 1849, for the purposes therein mentioned," which, on second reading, being under consideration, was postponed for the present.

I further Report, that on the 27th September, 1849, Mr. Tyson, from the Joint Special Committee on Interments, reported a resolution, recommending to the early consideration of the next Councils, the subject relating to the depth of graves, and the restricting or prohibiting of interments within the city limits, which was adopted.

All which is respectfully submitted by

Your obedient servant,

EDMUND WILCOX, Clerk.

APPENDIX No. III.

To the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia:—

GENTLEMEN :—

It seems necessary under existing circumstances, to increase the Night Police force in the south-western district.

From my present information, I should judge an increase of ten men would be sufficient.

I am not prepared to say whether so large a number will be necessary as a permanent arrangement.

I beg leave also to suggest to you the expediency of providing arms to be kept at the Station Houses—to be used under proper regulations by the Day and Night Police in cases of riots, and armed resistance to the law. To make this measure effectual, however, it would be necessary to authorize the appointment of an officer, to be charged with the especial duty of drilling and training the police in the proper use of the arms provided, and of taking the command under the superior authority—on such emergencies as are contemplated by the Act of Assembly passed April 12th, 1845, for the better regulation of the Police in the City of Philadelphia, &c.

I have the honor to be

Your obedient servant,

To fix the Salary of the Recording Secretary of the Girard College.

SECTION 1. *Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That the salary of the Recording Secretary of the Girard College shall be one thousand dollars per annum, to commence on the first day of October, A. APPENDIX No. V.

The Committee on City Property respectfully report to Councils the plan and estimate of Samuel H. Kneass, Principal City Surveyor, for the construction of the bridge over the river Schuylkill at High street, and the continuation of the Pennsylvania Rail-road to Broad street, along High street, for their approval or disapproval; the same having been adopted unanimously by the late Committee on City Property.

Philadelphia, October 25th, 1849.

CITY SURVEYOR'S OFFICE,
Philadelphia, 22nd October, 1849.

GENTLEMEN:—

The second section of the Ordinance for the construction of a rail-road from the foot of High street, on the west side of the river Schuylkill, to connect with the rail-road in Broad street, provides for the continuation of the rail-way across the river Schuylkill, by re-modeling the present bridge in such manner as shall accommodate the rail-road and common travel thereon.

The plan of the proposed bridge having been referred to the undersigned, he has the honor to submit the accompanying design.

This design proposes a new superstructure, having three main arched trusses, with a double range of posts and thorough-braces, and one subordinate arched truss with a single range of posts and thorough-braces, both constructed with adjusting rods so placed as to serve the purpose of counter-braces: these, with the addition of suspension rods, so arranged as to transfer a portion of the weight of the floor to the arches, constitute the chief features in the plan.

The width of the carriage way for common travel, located upon the southern opening, is proposed to be twenty-six feet, clear of the arch pieces, and the width of each rail-way track eleven feet in the clear; the foot passengers to be provided with a way upon the outside of each of the trusses five feet in width, and resting upon the main floor beams, extended for that purpose.

The present abutments will require an additional width of ten feet upon each side. The condition of the western abutment requires that it should be taken down and rebuilt from the present surface of the ground. The foundations of the new work at this abutment should be laid upon concrete, not less than six feet in depth, and properly secured by sheet piling around the entire area of the mason work. The foundation of the addition to the eastern abutment should be laid as the present work is, upon the rock.

The piers will sustain a new superstructure as they now are, with but slight modification to adapt them to the abutments of the arch timbers and the bearings of the chords.

It has been suggested to use the present superstructure, by strengthening the arch timbers, and suspending the floor from them, or by lowering the trusses and constructing the floor upon the top of the arches. The latter of these two plans is objectionable on account of the reduction of height it would necessarily make between the under side of the framing and the water of the river; and both plans are objectionable on account of the inferior strength of such a structure when compared with the plan now proposed.

The present frame work of High street bridge has done its duty, and faithfully; and the time has nearly arrived for its renewal, for purposes of common travel only, and certainly quite arrived if to be used for rail-way purposes. No alteration or remodeling could be made that would be safe, with the addition of rail-way travel to the very great amount of common travel now passing over it.

The continuation of the rail-way eastwardly along the line of High street, will be made to descend at the rate of $3\frac{1}{4}$ tenths per 100 feet as far as Ashton street, thence continue to descend eastwardly at the rate of 9 tenths per 100 feet, until it meets the present gradient of High street 200 feet east of Schuylkill Front street, from which point the present established regulation of High street will remain unchanged. By reducing the present curb height at Ashton and High street 1 foot and 3 tenths, this line of gradients will admit of sufficient headway for the passage of the common travel on Ashton street under the rail-way. And it will cross Schuylkill Front street with an elevation of six feet above the present curb height.

In order that Schuylkill Front street may be continued across the rail-way, it will be necessary to raise the present carriage-way to the level of the rails at the point of crossing, and descend with an easy gradient, meeting the present grade line of Schuylkill Front street about 80 feet south of the south line of High street, and the same distance north of the north line of High street. A similar arrangement will be necessary for the continuation of High street, east and west of the junction of High and Schuylkill Front street.

For this arrangement of the passage of Schuylkill Front street across High street and on a level with the rail-way, no change will be necessary in the established regulation of curb heights.

For a better understanding of the plan proposed at this point, I beg leave to refer you to the accompanying drawing.

The gradients for the line of rail-way and the elevation of the under side of the bridge framing from high water mark of the river, have been established after full consultation (under the advice of Councils,) with Edward F. Gay, Chief Engineer of the State rail-way, with J. Edgar Thomson, Chief Engineer of the Pennsylvania rail-way, and with Ellwood Morris, Chief Engineer of the Schuylkill Navigation Company. For the opinion of these gentlemen touching this subject, I refer you to the accompanying letters from them.

In compliance with a resolution of the Committee on City Property, I have examined the plan of the "Iron Rider bridge," at points where it has been erected upon the Harlem rail-way in New York, and upon the Nashua and Lowell rail-way in Massachusetts.

The plan of the "Iron Rider bridge" is objectionable, first, because it requires more material than a trussed iron arch to obtain the same strength: and secondly, because the combination of the materials does not at all times afford facilities for adjusting the framing.

No proper degree of strength can be secured, nor a proper disposition of the weight the bridge will have to support be obtained, without the introduction of the arch. This is a highly important feature in bridge framing, and particularly should it be relied upon in spans of such length as are proposed in the present case.

The cost of the superstructure of a bridge entirely of iron for the purposes intended, across the Schuylkill at High street, would be $150 per linear foot.

The cost of the superstructure of the wooden bridge now proposed to be built at the same place for similar purposes, will not exceed $56 00 per linear foot.

The point of crossing the river and the general features of the plan of the bridge being decided upon, I respectfully urge the necessity of authority being given immediately to make preliminary arrangements for the commencement of the work. The most important of which is, that proposals be invited for furnishing materials.

It is very desirable that the timber should be cut and stacked up at the earliest date, in order that as much time as possible be given for seasoning. It would be advisable also to enter into a contract for the mason work at an early day, that the necessary quantity of stone may be prepared during the winter, ready to lay in the work at the earliest moment in the spring. The bill of iron should be prepared during the winter.

The magnitude of the work, and the assurance that we have of the State rail-way being completed by June next, seem to demand immediate action on the part of the City to complete the connection with the State rail-road and Broad street by July next.

The following is the estimated cost of the bridge, and of extending the rail-way to Broad street.

Taking down old superstructure and portions of abutments, - - - - -	$1,500 00

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL H. KNEASS,
City Surveyor.

To the Committee on City Property.

RAILWAY OFFICE,
Philadelphia, Sept. 12th, 1849.

GENTLEMEN :—

I have examined the plans, and also perused the Report of Samuel H. Kneass, Esq., relative to the alteration of Market Street Bridge, with a view to the extension of the "Railway to avoid the Inclined Plane," across the river Schuylkill to Broad Street, and fully concur in the views expressed by him, in reference to the same.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,

EDWARD F. GAY,
Civil Engineer.

ENGINEER DEPARTMENT, P. R. R. Co.
Philadelphia, Sept. 11th, 1849.

GENTLEMEN :—

I have examined the plan proposed by Mr. Kneass, for the new bridge to be erected over the Schuylkill, at Market Street, for common road and rail-road purposes, and can recommend its adoption. Any alteration of the present wooden structure, to adapt it to its new duties, is deemed inadmissible.

The proposed changes in the gradients of Market Street and the Bridge, are also approved.

The plan of framing of the Bridge is equal, in all the requisites of a substantial structure, to any that has been erected. Whether it would be desirable to incur a greater outlay for the erection of a Bridge wholly of iron, or one in which that material would enter more largely into its construction, is a question worthy of the consideration of the City Councils.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,

J. EDGAR THOMSON,
Civil Engineer.

OFFICE SCHUYLKILL NAVIGATION COMPANY,

September 18th, 1849.

DEAR SIR :—

We have examined the plan for the proposed new bridge over the river Schuylkill, at High Street, intended for the accommodation of the Pennsylvania Rail Road, and made such measurements and calculations as the interests of this Company in the navigation of that river, seem to require.

And we respectfully state to you, that a clear height of twenty-two feet from the plane of the city, to the lowest timber or projection of the proposed new bridge, will be satisfactory to the Schuylkill Navigation Company.

A less height would seriously prejudice their business.

Your obedient servant,

F. FRALEY,

President Schuylkill Navigation Company.

ELLWOOD MORRIS,

Resident Engineer.

WILLIAM MORRIS, Esq.,

Chairman Committee on City Property.

APPENDIX No. IX.

To the Select and Common Councils:

The Watering Committee, to whom was referred the resolution of Councils, passed August 30, 1849, upon the subject of erecting filters at Fairmount, beg leave most respectfully to

REPORT,

That they examined the subject, and will proceed to give their views upon the feasibility of carrying out the requirements of the resolution, which reads as follows: "Resolved, that the Watering Committee be requested to take under consideration the propriety of erecting at Fairmount, a filter, of sufficient capacity to remove from the water all impurities, before it is deposited in the reservoirs for distribution, and report as early as practicable as to the feasibility of the plan and the probable expense."

The first requisition of the resolution it is obviously impossible to comply with, as it is well known that no filtering process, however complete, is capable of removing any of the soluble salts contained in the water, and as the soluble salts make up a portion of the so-called impurities of the Schuylkill water, the further consideration of this part of the resolution may be dismissed at once.

The next requisition is, that the water should be filtered "before it is deposited in the reservoirs for distribution." Now, in order to do this it would of course be necessary to place the filter beds in the forebay, so as to filter the water previous to its entering the pumps; from the manner in which the works are arranged, it would therefore be necessary to filter not only the water pumped up into the reservoirs, but also that used in giving motion to the water wheels. The supply of water during the past summer has reached 7,236,490 gallons per twenty-four hours, and to pump up this quantity about 144,729,800 gallons were used upon the wheels, so that we should have to filter 151,966,290 gallons per day. The average rate at which the best filters used in England, filter the water properly is ninety-three gallons per superficial foot of filtering surface used; at this rate it would require a surface of 1,634,046 square feet to filter the above mentioned quantity of water, whilst the entire surface of the forebay is only 21,182 feet, independent of which it must be obvious that no process of filtration can be carried on with sufficient rapidity to supply filtered water to the water wheels, even if we reject the absurdity of filtering water for such a purpose.

As these are the principal requirements of the resolution, and their impracticability is fully shown above, it might not be necessary to pursue the matter further; yet perhaps, it may not be amiss to inquire into the necessity of filtering the Schuylkill water. From careful analysis made by Professors Silliman and Boyé, it appears that the Schuylkill water contains an average of $4\frac{7}{8}$ grains of solid matter in one gallon, no one component of which is in any way deleterious or obnoxious in its use for household or manufacturing purposes; it does not incrust steam boilers, is a remarkably soft water, and has no unpleasant taste, in fact contains nothing which is not actually useful to it for the ordinary purposes of life. Moreover, it would appear to be a very needless waste of money to go to the expense of filtering the water for washing the gutters and streets, and for extinguishing fires, and in consideration of its great purity, even for washing our clothing or persons—it would therefore seem that the only call for filtering the water, (if there can be any reason at all for doing so,) is for the amount used for drinking and culinary purposes; if any one will consider the small quantity used in this way compared with the enormous amount wasted and allowed to flow through the gutters and sewers of our city, they must see how useless it would be to expend from \$50 to 70,000 dollars, to filter the quart of water that each inhabitant would probably consume in drinking per day.

It may be urged that the water is at times impure, after freshets in the river; admitting this to be the case, we all know how seldom it occurs; the average number of days when the water was discoloured in the city, during the past three years, has been but twelve per annum; therefore, we should be obliged to filter the water for no purpose whatever, for the remaining three hundred and fifty-three days of the year.

It appears evident that as long as the Schuylkill water shall continue to be as pure as it now is, that it would be a needless expenditure of money to erect a troublesome, expensive, and not entirely efficient apparatus for the purpose of filtering it. All that it requires in its worst state, is nothing more than time for subsidence—which can be very effectually managed whenever Councils shall find it expedient or necessary to erect new reservoirs upon the lot of ground just purchased for that purpose.

They submit the resolution annexed, and ask its favourable consideration.

Respectfully submitted,

APPENDIX No. X.

An Ordinance

To provide for the repairs and preservation of the Real Estate belonging to the Girard Estates.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That it shall be the duty of the agent of the Girard Estates to report to the Commissioners of the Girard Estates, at their first stated meeting in the month of December, the condition of the improved Real Estate under their charge, stating what repairs, improvements, or alterations should be made during the ensuing year, and the cost of the same; stating as far as practicable the amount to be expended on each property; and it shall be the duty of the Commissioners of the Girard Estates to consider and determine on the propriety of making such repairs, improvements, or alterations, recommended by the agent, and report to Councils, at the time of making their annual estimate for the management of the Girard Estate, and so much of the ninth section of an ordinance, passed January 10, 1833, as requires the Commissioners of the Girard Estates to report quarterly to Councils, is hereby repealed.

APPENDIX No. XI.

OFFICE PHILADELPHIA GAS WORKS,
November 22nd, 1849.

SIR:—

In conformity with a resolution of the Select and Common Councils, adopted on the 8th instant, I have the honor to transmit copies of all the papers on file, in the office of the Trustees of the Gas Works, relating to the introduction of Gas into the district of Moyamensing. They consist of

First. The contract made July 7th, 1847, between the Corporations of the City and the District, and the correspondence connected therewith—under this contract a supply of Gas is now furnished to a small number of public lamps.

Second. A communication, signed by Andrew Miller and others, in the nature of a protest against the right of the Commissioners of the District to make any such contract, dated March 7th, 1849.

Third. A resolution of the Commissioners of Moyamensing, requesting to be furnished with a copy of said letter or protest, dated April 25th, 1849.

Fourth. The application of John D. George, and other citizens of Moyamensing, residing in Ninth, near Cedar street, dated October 17th, 1849, requesting to be supplied with Gas from the City Works, through pipes to be laid by and at the expense of said applicants, which supply is now furnished at the price paid by private consumers residing in the City, and upon the same terms.

Fifth. A communication signed by Andrew Miller, as President of the Board of Commissioners of Moyamensing, but not purporting to be sent by their authority, dated October 26th, 1849, in which he complains of the arrangement made between said citizens and the Trustees, for receiving and furnishing a supply of Gas.

From these it will be perceived that the only communication relating to the introduction of Gas received by the Trustees from the Commissioners of Moyamensing since the contract was made, is the resolution of that Board, dated April 25th, 1849: as requested in it, a copy of the protest of Mr. Miller and others, was immediately furnished, but the Trustees are not advised of any action on said protest by that body. No action has been taken by the Trustees on he papers from Mr. Miller and others, dated March 7th, and October 26th, 1849.

It may be proper further to state, that the arrangement made with John D. George and others, is considered merely temporary, and the Trustees will discontinue the supply under it whenever the Commissioners of Moyamensing may render it practicable for the parties to be furnished under the contract of July 7th, 1847.

I have the honor to remain,

Your obedient servant,

F. FRALEY,

President.

President of the Select Council.

Articles of agreement made, concluded and agreed upon, this seventh day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-seven, between the Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Philadelphia, of the first part, and the Commissioners and inhabitants of the Township of Moyamensing, of the second part. Whereas, the said parties have agreed to supply, and to receive a supply of Gas upon the terms and conditions following: Now, this agreement witnesseth, that the said parties, for and in consideration of the covenants, promises and stipulations hereinafter contained, and in their favor respectively to be kept, performed and observed by the other party, do for themselves respectively, and for their respective successors, covenant, promise and agree, each with the other, in manner following, that is to say:—

First. That the party of the second part, and their successors, shall and may from time to time hereafter, at their own proper cost and charge, lay and attach iron pipes, of the same strength and construction with the iron pipes used in the City of Philadelphia, for the time being, to the iron pipes laid, or to be laid, in South or Cedar street, in the said City of Philadelphia, for supplying the citizens thereof with Gas, and from the said pipes convey and introduce the said Gas into the public streets and alleys within the said township, and from thence convey the said Gas into the premises and houses in the said township, and use the same for public lighting. And the said party of the second part, shall and will attach to each pipe which shall be used for the purpose of conveying the Gas from the said city into the said township, a meter or meters, and stop-cocks, which shall be exclusively in the charge and control of the party of the first part, their officers or agents.

Second. That the said party of the first part, and their successors, shall and will furnish to the party of the second part, and their successors, a supply of Gas, through the same mains, or pipes, through which the said city shall receive its supply. But it is agreed and understood, that no failure of supply occasioned by casualties shall be considered as any violation of this agreement.

Third. That the party of the second part, will pay to the party of the first part, the sum of two dollars and fifty cents for each one thousand cubic feet of Gas supplied as aforesaid, less twenty-five per centum; payable quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October, in each and every year during the continuance of the contract; and if the amount so due and payable, should not be paid within five days from the presentation of each quarterly bill, then it shall be lawful for the party of the first part to shut off the flow of Gas in the manner hereinafter provided.

Fourth. The quantity of Gas so supplied by the party of the first part, and received by the party of the second part, shall be measured and ascertained by the meters aforesaid; and if at any time the meters shall cease to record correctly, or it shall be necessary to repair the same, or the stop-cocks which regulate the supply of Gas to the said party of the second part, then and in such case the said party of the second part shall be charged with an average supply of Gas during the time occupied in making such repairs; such average to be determined by the flow of Gas for five days succeeding the completion of such repairs; and the party of the second part, their officers or agents, may at any time inspect the state of the meters, upon application to the first party.

Fifth. The party of the second part shall and will not sell the Gas at a lower price than that charged by the party of the first part to private consumers in the City of Philadelphia; and if at any time hereafter, the party of the first part shall increase the price of Gas to private consumers in the said city, beyond what is now so charged, which is understood to be two dollars and fifty cents for each one thousand cubic feet, with a discount of five per centum for prompt pay, then the party of the second part will pay a pro rata advance, and in case the party of the first part shall make any reduction in the price of Gas furnished to private consumers in the city, a pro rata deduction shall be made to the party of the second part; provided that the price to be paid by the party of the second part shall never be less than one dollar and seventy-five cents, nett, per each one thousand cubic feet. And it is distinctly understood and agreed, by and between the parties hereto, that the right of fixing the price of Gas for public lighting in the city is reserved by the party of the first part, and any increase or diminution thereof shall not affect the provisions of this contract. And further, that no increase of the annual appropriation made by the party of the first part for the increase and enlargement of the Gas Works of the said party shall be construed to affect any of the provisions hereof.

Sixth. The size and materials of the meters, service pipes and gas-fittings, and the manner of introducing the same, and the proof to which they shall be subjected, in the Township of Moyamensing, shall be the same as are adopted for the time being by the Trustees of the Gas Works of the party of the first part.

Seventh. That the said party of the first part, and their successors, shall at all times hereafter, in addition to their other legal remedies for breach of this agreement, have full right and power to stop off and withhold the supply of Gas hereby stipulated, whenever the said party of the second part shall, for the space of ten days after the time when the said quarterly payment shall be due and payable by them as aforesaid, and after notice in writing by the party of the first part, their successors or agents, to them to pay the same, neglect or refuse to make such payment, and also, whenever the said party of the second part, or their successors, shall, after notice in writing, refuse or neglect to remedy any violation of the provisions of this agreement: but such stopping the supply of Gas shall not deprive the party of the first part of their right to claim and receive from the party of the second part the sum due for Gas received by said second party between the last payment to said first party, and the time at which the supply of Gas may be stopped off and withheld. And it is further declared to be the distinct agreement and understanding of the parties to these presents, that the said party of the second part may at any time decline to furnish said Gas to individuals for private consumption, if they should find it expedient so to do, and that upon notification to that effect to the party of the first part, the party of the second part shall be fully released and discharged from all liability to receive said supply of Gas as aforesaid; anything in this agreement to the contrary notwithstanding.

Eighth. This agreement shall continue in force for five years from the first day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-seven, and at the expiration thereof, may be renewed for five years, at the option of the party of the second part.

In witness whereof, the Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Philadelphia, and the Commissioners and Inhabitants of the Township of Moyamensing, have hereunto respectively caused their common or corporate Seals to be affixed, the day and year first above written.

Pursuant to a resolution of the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia, passed the twelfth day of March, A. D. 1846.

Attest,

JOHN SWIFT,

MOYAMENSING TOWNSHIP,
January 27th, 1848.

FREDERICK FRALEY, Esq.,
President of the Philadelphia Gas Company.

Respected Sir,—I have been authorized by our Corporation to apply to the proper authorities for power to lay iron pipe for the purpose of introducing the Gas in the said Township, from the front of the house built for placing the meter in on South street, at south-east corner of Carbon street to the centre of 10th on South street, a distance of about 125 feet.

Will you be kind enough to look to the matter, and I will call upon you to-morrow morning.

Very respectfully,

Yours,

To the Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Works.

The undersigned members of the Board of Commissioners of Moyamensing, have learned that a contract has been entered into between "The Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Philadelphia," of the one part, and "The Commissioners and Inhabitants of the District of Moyamensing" of the other part, whereby the former agrees to supply the latter with carbureted, hydrogen or other inflammable gas, for lighting the streets and private houses of the said District of Moyamensing.

And the undersigned being acquainted with, and knowing the various powers and duties conferred and enjoined by the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, upon the Corporation of Moyamensing, are confident that no law exists under which the said, "The Commissioners and Inhabitants of the District of Moyamensing" have any right or legal authority to make any contract of the kind or character designated, and the said Board of Commissioners have not levied or raised any tax or fund for the purpose, and have therefore no means of paying or defraying the cost of any Gas that may be consumed, or any expenses consequent upon its introduction.

The undersigned, therefore, hereby give notice to "The Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Works," and all parties concerned, that they intend to resist, by all legal ways and means, the payment of any charges or claims that may be made upon the said District of Moyamensing, for any Gas that may be used or consumed, and that they also intend to use and exercise all their moral and political influence to have the said contract annulled and made void.

SIR:—By resolution of the Board of Commissioners of this District, I am required to request a copy of a paper or protest entered by Andrew Miller, in relation to the introduction of Gas into the District of Moyamensing, in the office of the Gas Company of the City of Philadelphia. Will you be kind enough to furnish our Board with a copy of said paper or protest.

J. C. CRESSON, Esq.

Dear Sir:—I herewith hand you an application from the holders of property in Ronaldson's Row, to the Trustees of the Gas Company, for the introduction of Gas into our dwelling. I trust we shall be successful, and that the Company will consent to put in the meter; the pipe will come so close to the stand for the meter, that the expense to the Trustees will be but trifling compared to the expense they incur in the City, by attaching to the pipes in the street.

I have seen Mr. Miller, the President of the Board of Commissioners of our District, who says that he sees no objection to the proposed plan, and that the District have nothing to do with it; and further, that he should be in favor of passing an ordinance authorizing the City to lay pipes in the District, and in that way supplying the citizens—but we should prefer the former method.

You stated to me that the cost of laying the pipes in the pavements would be about 40 or 45 cents, but that the carrying it through the vaults would cost much less. Would you oblige me by leaving word at your office, what will be the probable cost of taking it through the vaults.

I have not been able to obtain the signatures of all interested, but all have agreed to unite in the measure, except one person who is out of town, but with whom there will be no difficulty. I will, however, if I have time, this afternoon, obtain all the signatures.

I remain,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

Philadelphia, October 17th, 1849.

To the Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Company.

GENTLEMEN:—The undersigned, property holders and residents in Ronaldson's Row, situated in Ninth street, from South to Shippen, being desirous of introducing the gas into their dwellings, wish to ascertain whether the Gas Company will supply them with gas, provided they lay or bear the expense of laying a main pipe from South street, through the vault under their front pavements to Shippen street. With the exception of the corner house on South street all the houses in the square have vaults extending from the front wall of the dwelling to the curb; and it will only be necessary to open the pavement on the corner house and to pass the pipe through the partition walls, to Shippen street. It is ascertained that out of the eleven houses in the row thus situated, there are seven, or perhaps eight, where it is the desire of the owners to introduce the gas immediately: three of which now have the pipes already carried through their houses ready for attachment—but all will unite in laying the main pipe. We remain,

To the Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Works.

GENTLEMEN:—At an early hour this morning some men commenced digging up the footway of Ninth, south of Cedar street, within the jurisdiction of the District of Moyamensing, for the purpose, as I was informed, of laying gas pipes. On application at your office I was referred to Mr. Cresson, who, after considerable prevarication, admitted that the street in Moyamensing was dug up by the same persons who dug up the street in the city to insert the stop-cock, and that the Trustees had agreed to furnish to private consumers of gas within the District of Moyamensing the necessary meters and service pipe.

Thus, while the Trustees hold a written contract with the District of Moyamensing, under which that District has been compelled to pay during the past summer about ten times the usual cost of gas light, they wantonly, and without notice, invade the jurisdiction of that District and take from it the customers that it would otherwise have the privilege of supplying.

The ordinary courtesy that should always be observed between public bodies ought to have suggested to the Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Works, that it was their duty to have communicated with the authorities of Moyamensing before they invaded its jurisdiction, especially when they were under a written contract with that District; the provisions of which they were bound by the dictates of law and the principles of common honesty, to comply with.

Very respectfully,
(Signed,) ANDREW MILLER,

President of Commissioners of Moyamensing.

The Board of Commissioners of the Girard Estates REPORT,

That they have had under consideration a bill referred to them by Councils on the 8th November, entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the repairs and preservation of the real estate belonging to the Girard Estates;" and have arrived at the conclusion that to require them to present an estimate, in advance of the repairs, required for each item of the real estate under their charge would be attended with great inconvenience, if in fact such estimate be practicable. The Committee agree that the general objects of the bill referred to them are proper and expedient, and they therefore submit a substitute, which they recommend Councils to enact into an Ordinance.

And the said Board of Commissioners shall report to Councils, at the time of making their annual estimates of the appropriations necessary for the management of the Girard Estates, whether the said repairs, improvements or alterations, are necessary and proper.

The Board of Commissioners of the Girard Estates REPORT,

That on the 16th of August, 1849, the Directors of the Girard College presented to Councils a communication, representing the necessity of providing a suitable building, steam engine, and other apparatus and fixtures for supplying the College with water, and increasing its accommodations for other purposes connected with the health and instruction of the pupils. This was referred to the Commissioners of the Girard Estates.

The Directors, in their communication, represent that the supply of water is inadequate and uncertain: and suggest that the structure which it will be necessary to erect in order to store and distribute a sufficient quantity for the necessities of the Institution, should be so arranged as to serve other purposes connected with the health, education and convenice of the inmates of the College. They therefore propose at such building shall contain a cellar to serve for an engine room, work shop, and for storing fuel, &c., and stories to accommodate rooms for washing and ironing, bake house and sitting place, and drying rooms and play rooms.

The Commissioners have had several interviews with a committee of the Board of Directors on the subject of the communication to Councils, and they have personally examined the premises. These interviews and examinations have satisfied them, that the present supply of water is inadequate to the necessities of the College, and that a greater and permanent one should at once be provided for: they also commend that when the proper building is erected to secure such supply, it should contain apartments and accommodations for a bake house, play rooms, drying rooms, &c; the present College building being deficient in accommodations for such purposes. The expense of such structure will be, according to estimate, fifteen thousand dollars.

They therefore present an Ordinance to carry out these views: by which it is provided that the expense shall be met by appropriating an unexpended balance of the appropriation made for the use of the College for this year, and by an appropriation from the income of the residuary portion of the Girard Estates, for the year 1849.

to the Select and Common Councils :

The Committee on City Property

REPORT :

That they have received two communications from E. D. Barr, Esq., Solicitor for the County of Philadelphia, which are herewith presented, dated respectively the 3d and 5th of December, instant.

It will be observed, by reference to the first communication, that the County Commissioners ask Councils to consent to the use of a portion of Independence Square, for the building of a Court House for the County. This communication refers a minute of the proceedings of the County Board on that subject, showing that the Board have approved of the location of a new Court House fronting on Sixth Street, at near Walnut Street.

The communication of 5th December presents the estimates of the expense of erecting the proposed and other buildings.

By reference to the Act of Assembly of 1847, it will appear that the Commissioners of the County, with, and by the consent of the Select and Common Councils, are authorized to erect a new Court House, for the accommodation of the courts and County Officers, on part of the State House square, the location and erection of the same being first approved by the County Board.

The County Board having approved of such location, the County Commissioners only wait for the consent of Councils, before preparing to erect said building.

The Committee, therefore, present to Councils the accompanying resolution.

All of which is submitted.

Resolved, That the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia, do hereby consent, that the Commissioners of Philadelphia County may erect a new Court House, for the accommodation of the Courts and County Officers, on that part of the State House Square, at the corner of Sixth and Walnut Streets: Provided, that such consent shall not be considered to be given, until the plan of such building shall be approved by the Committee on City Property; and provided, that the said Commissioners first covenant to convey all their right and title to the present County Buildings, and the ground on which the same are erected, to the Corporation of the City of Philadelphia, when the new Court House shall be occupied; and provided further, that such consent shall not be construed to relinquish or affect the right of said Councils to erect a new City Hall on any part of said square.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE,

Philadelphia, December 3, 1849.

To the members of the Committee of Councils on City Property.

GENTLEMEN:—The eighth section of the Act of Assembly of March 16th, 1847, authorizes the County Commissioners, "with the consent of the Select and Common Councils of the City, to erect a new Court House on a part of Independence Square."

With a view to carry out the object of this Act of Assembly, and thereby meet the pressing demands for these buildings, the County Commissioners have, after inviting proposals for designs, awarded premiums to the three best designs, to wit: To N. Le Brun, John Haviland and T. U. Walter, Esquires. These designs, for plans, have been deposited in the room of the County Board, and are open to your inspection. They are all believed to be meritorious, and buildings erected agreeably to either of them would not only greatly add to the security of the public records, and offer facilities not now enjoyed for transacting public business, but at the same time be highly ornamental.

As the Commissioners design to erect the contemplated buildings agreeably to one of the plans alluded to, and in conformity with the one which, after mature deliberation and consideration, shall offer the greatest combination of conveniences to the public, and security to the papers and records of the different offices of the County. Should the consent of the Councils be given, they have deemed it proper to subject the plans to the inspection of the Committee of Councils, so that in asking the consent of that branch of the city government to erect the proposed buildings, they might have the assurance that a due regard would be had alike to public convenience and beauty of structure. It will be seen, by reference to the enclosed extract from the proceedings of the County Board, that that body has acted in the matter. It, therefore, only needs the "consent" of the Councils to enable the County Commissioners to put the buildings under contract.

The object of this communication is to obtain the consent of the Councils to the erection of the buildings alluded to, and is made at the instance of the County Commissioners.

I am,

With great respect,

Your obedient servant,

ELIHU D. TARR,

Solicitor of the County of Philadelphia.

November 27th, 1849.*

Mr. Smith, from the Committee on Public Buildings, to whom was referred the communication of the Solicitor, Elihu D. Tarr, Esq., together with the letter of the acting Chairman of the Sub-Committee on City Property, B. Gerhard,

Esq., relative to the proposed new County Buildings, made report as follows :—

That the eighth section of the Act of March 16, 1847, authorizes the County Commissioners, “with the consent of the Select and Common Councils of the City,” to erect “a new Court House on part of the State House Square.”

Under this act, the consent of both branches of the Councils ought to be formally given by the passage of a joint resolution, and as the communication of Mr. Gerhard is signed “Acting Chairman of the Sub-Committee on City Property,” your Committee are of opinion that the County Commissioners ought to request that the consent of Councils be so given, before proceeding to occupy any part of the State House Square for a new Court House.

The same act requires that the location and erection of said Buildings, as well as the new City Hall, authorized to be erected by the Councils, should be first approved by the Board, and your Committee would have been much better satisfied, if they had been called upon to consider the location and erection of a new City Hall, as well as of a new Court House. It appears, however, from the letter of Mr. Gerhard, that the Councils expressly reserve to themselves the right to erect corresponding buildings for a City Hall, “when they desire to do so, and not to be bound to erect any such building, unless and until they shall see proper.” Your Committee, therefore, believe that the Councils have no intention of erecting a new City Hall at present, and would recommend to the Board to bear this in mind in giving their approval to any location for the new Court House.

As the Board have already, by the resolution adopted June 11th, 1849, approved of the erection of a new City Hall, as well as of a new Court House, and as the Councils do not seem desirous at present of locating a new City Hall, the only remaining matter in relation to Public Buildings, which the Board is now called to act upon, is the location of the new Court House.

The communication of Mr. Tarr states that “the Commissioners would suggest the Walnut street front as the most appropriate location, and would ask the concurrence of the Board.”

Your Committee do not think that if a new Court House is alone to be erected, that it ought to front Walnut street, as, until the new City Hall is also erected on the same front, it will have an awkward and unfinished appearance, which will offend the good taste of the citizens more than a new building on the Chesnut street front. At the same time, however, they believe that such a building may be erected fronting on Sixth street, at or near the corner of Walnut street; that while it will be architecturally correct as a part of one great building hereafter to be erected to front on Walnut street, it will at the same time be equally correct as a whole, fronting on Sixth street. At the same time it will afford to Councils the opportunity at any time hereafter, of erecting a corresponding building fronting on Fifth street, and will enable both the City and County authorities to join in the erection of a centre building, which, uniting the wings on Fifth and Sixth streets, will make the main front on Walnut street, and form an imposing and harmonious whole.

With these views, your Committee would recommend the passage of the following resolution:—

Resolved, That the County Board do hereby approve of the location of a new Court House fronting on Sixth street, at or near Walnut street, and extending northward not more than two hundred and fifty feet from the north side of Walnut street, and eastward not more than one hundred and fifty feet from the east side of Sixth street: provided, the consent of the Select and Common Councils of the City be first given to the erection of the new Court House on said location.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

On motion to postpone the subject, the yeas and nays were required, and were as follows, viz:—

Yeas.—Messrs. Crabb, Forsyth, and Matthias, President—3.

Nays.—Messrs. Bellas, Biddle, Diehl, Henszey, Hartz, Martin, Pratt, Robb, Smith, Steele, N. Thorn—11.

So the motion was lost.

The question was then taken on the resolution, and was agreed to by the following vote:—

Yeas.—Messrs. Bellas, Biddle, Diehl, Henszey, Hartz, Martin, Pratt, Robb, Smith, Steele, N. Thorn—11.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE,
Philadelphia, December 5th, 1849.

To the Committee of Councils on City Property.

GENTLEMEN :—You will receive herewith, the action of the County Commissioners, upon the resolution of your body, asking certain information in regard to the erection, location, plans, and estimated cost of erecting County Buildings.

You will also find, enclosed, copies of the communications of the different architects, whose plans have been acted upon by the County Commissioners, containing estimates of the cost of erecting the buildings upon their respective plans.

The numerous presentments of Grand Juries, heartily acquiesced in by the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions, as well as every other branch of the judiciary—the decided expression of public opinion, as expressed through their representatives in the Legislature and the County Board, and the universally acknowledged inadequacy of the present buildings to the necessities of the public business, and the safety of the public records, are deemed sufficient reasons for the County Commissioners pressing upon the City Councils the great importance of immediate action upon this subject. After all these demonstrations of public sentiment in regard to the necessity, the absolute necessity, for the immediate erection of buildings for county purposes, and when every other department vested with power in the premises has assented to the necessity of erecting those buildings, and given their consent, the County Commissioners cannot for a moment entertain the belief that an improvement so much needed will be retarded for want of the consent of the Councils.

The Commissioners, therefore, desire me to urge upon the City Councils the vital importance of this measure, and to renew their request for the consent of Councils to occupy the site selected for the erection of the proposed buildings.

I am,

With great respect,

Your obedient servant,

ELIHU D. TARR,

Solicitor for the County of Philadelphia.

Extract from the minutes of the County Commissioners of Philadelphia County, December 5th, 1849.

The Committee of Councils of the City of Philadelphia, having, through their Secretary,) asked the information contained in the following resolution in regard to the location and erection of the County Buildings, to wit:

Resolved, That the County Commissioners be requested to furnish the Committee, in writing, with their decision as to location and plan for the erection of Public Buildings, giving their first, second, and third choice, with an estimate of the cost of each,

Therefore Resolved, That the proposed location for the County Buildings, is the corner of Sixth and Walnut Streets, to occupy not less than two hundred and fifty feet on Sixth Street, and not less than one hundred and fifty feet on Walnut Street, and that the consent of Councils be asked to use that location for said buildings, and that the choice of plans for said buildings, is as follows:

- I. The plan of John Haviland, Esq.
- II. The plan of Thomas U. Walter, Esq.
- III. The plan of N. Le Brun, Esq.

Resolved also, That the preference is given to the plan of John Haviland, Esq.

I. Because his plan is especially adapted to the location elected by this Board, and approved by the County Board.

II. Because, if the buildings are erected agreeably to his plan, they will be perfectly fire-proof.

III. Because his plan offers the greatest combination of conveniences and facilities to the different public offices, designed to be accommodated by the erection of these buildings.

IV. Because, while the County Buildings, if erected alone, would form a complete and handsome structure, yet, if joined by a City Hall, on Walnut Street, and City Buildings on the corner of Fifth and Walnut, would form a beautiful and connected range of buildings, with a principal front on Walnut Street.

Resolved, That a copy of the above minute and resolutions be furnished the Committee of Councils on City Property.

Signed by

M. VAN DUSEN, Sr.,
JOHN C. DOBLEMAN,
County Commissioners.

I certify the annexed to be a true extract from the minutes of the County Commissioners of December 5th, 1849.

the Commissioners of the County of Philadelphia.

GENTLEMEN:—Having been asked whether the designs I have the honor to submit to you in September last, for new City and County Buildings, would be as well adapted to the Walnut Street front of Independence Square as to Chesnut Street, I beg leave to say, that they are quite as appropriate for one location as for the other.

They may be built on the south-west and south-east corners of the Square, and connected at any future day, by a centre building, of corresponding architecture, so as to present the appearance of one entire structure.

The cost of erecting the County Buildings on Walnut and Chestnut Streets, if they are faced with cut stone, would be $5,000; and the cost of the City Buildings would not vary materially from that amount.

Should the plans I have submitted be approved, I would be glad to construct the buildings, and finish them complete, for the above mentioned sum, furnishing approved security for the faithful execution of the work.

I am, Gentlemen, with great respect,

Your obedient servant,

W. DOBLEMAN, Esq.

Dear Sir:—I received this morning, at a quarter before six o'clock, a letter from E. D. Tarr, Esq., Solicitor to the County of Philadelphia, requesting me to make three distinct estimates for the several public buildings proposed to be erected, and to send them to you before six o'clock this evening, for the purpose of laying them before the Committee of Councils.

I truly regret that the time afforded me is entirely too short; therefore, I request the favor of a few days, so as to enable me to make correct and careful estimates, which I will then have the honor of submitting.

I am, dear sir, respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed,)

N. LE BRUN, Architect.

Philadelphia, December 5th, 1849.

P. S. Since writing the above letter, I beg leave to state that my original estimate for the County Building, given in the report accompanying the plans, was $178,000; and the estimate for the City Building, embracing within its walls a large Hall, capable of accommodating 3,500 persons, was about $170,000.

These estimates were made for the Chesnut Street fronts, and the cost of the Walnut Street front might vary but a trifle higher; the exact amount of which I can give within the time requested for in my letter.

I am, respectfully, Yours,

(Signed,) N. LE BRUN, Architect.

APPENDIX No. XVII.

To the Select Council of the City of Philadelphia:

The Committee on Finance, to whom was referred a bill, entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the appointment of a Committee on the Gas Works," respectfully

REPORT,

That they have had the said bill under consideration, and have determined to report the same back to the Select Council, with a recommendation that it shall be passed into an Ordinance.

It has long been considered desirable to establish a permanent connection between the Councils and the Trustees of the Gas Works,—without which it is almost impossible to secure that harmony of action which should exist between Councils and any derivative board from them. The Gas Works are of great interest and of great value, considered merely as property, and as one of the means of ultimately liquidating the city debt. The supervision of the acts of the Trustees, and to some extent, at least, a participation in them by the Councils, are but reasonable, since they must be to a great extent responsible for the conduct of the works. Without discussing the propriety of managing the Gas Works by a Committee of Councils, to which many strong, if not insuperable objections, can be urged, the Committee on Finance are of opinion that the bill under consideration presents prac-

To provide for the appointment of a Committee on the Gas Works.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, that immediately upon the passage hereof, and annually hereafter, on the organization of Councils, there shall be appointed a Joint Standing Committee of two members of each Council, to be called the Committee on the Gas Works: the chairman of which shall be a member of Common Council. The said Committee shall perform such duties as shall from time to time be assigned to them by Councils; and the members thereof shall be ex-officio members of the Board of Trustees of the Gas Works.

In presenting the preceding estimate, the Board call the attention of Councils to the fact that it includes provision for the reception, maintenance and instruction of another class of one hundred pupils on the first day of April next, together with an advance in the studies of some of the pupils by the formation of a class in the preparatory department, at the head of which will be placed a male teacher, whose residence and services will, by the age of the scholars, be considered appropriate. The will of Mr. Girard evidently contemplates the admission of at least three hundred scholars as soon as the circumstances of the College will permit, and while care has been taken to ensure a due preparation of the present pupils, morally, mentally and physically, so that they shall be able to derive full advantage from the means of instruction provided, whatever may be the augmentation of numbers, and shall be competent to assist, by their example, in moulding the morals and modifying the manners of the members of the class to the requirements of the Institution, all attention has been given to the capabilities of the College, for receiving and accommodating the proposed additional number, so that no disturbance shall be experienced from their admission.

The economy of the school will be preserved, the advancement of the pupils will be insured, and the numbers of the primary class be fully maintained.

The Board believes that Councils share in the general interest which is felt in the Institution, and the prevailing desire that the blessings which it is calculated to impart should be as extensively, and as promptly diffused as the means which Councils possess for that purpose will permit. The Board will have the honor of presenting to Councils at the prescribed time in the ensuing month, a detailed statement of the situation of the College, and of their own proceedings. In the mean time, it may not be improper to add, that the school is in a most flourishing condition, the advancement of the scholars is steady and gratifying, and that the household department is correctly administered, and the pupils are healthful and happy.

The Board of Directors have pleasure in stating, that though they have been called on to expend several considerable sums for purposes not specifically included in their estimates for the present year; yet, by a system of judicious economy, the whole expenses, ordinary and extraordinary, of the year, will not exceed the appropriation made by Councils, and while no comfort will be denied to the pupils, it is believed that enlarged experience will assist the willing efforts of the Directors and officers of the College, to reduce the expenditures of the Institution to the lowest sum, which the liberal views of the generous Founder, and the growing usefulness of the school, will permit.

Should Councils grant the appropriation for the admission of another class of one hundred pupils, as asked by the Board, it is respectfully recommended that authority be given for the employment of a male teacher, at a salary of one thousand dollars per annum, and of an assistant matron, at a salary of five hundred dollars per annum.

I have the honor to be,

With great respect,

Your obedient servant,

JOSEPH R. CHANDLER,

President of the Board of Directors

APPENDIX No. XIX.

Philadelphia, December 4, 1849.

The following preamble and resolutions were offered and adopted, viz:

Whereas, The Board of Canal Commissioners having visited Philadelphia on official business, have learned with regret that the City authorities have not yet placed the work to connect with the rail-road to avoid the Schuylkill Inclined Plane under contract. And whereas, the early completion of the road to avoid said plane is of vital importance to the Commonwealth: therefore

Resolved, That in consequence of the dangerous delay on the part of the City authorities to commence the work to form the connection with the aforesaid road, as contemplated by the Act of Assembly, Edward F. Gay, Esq., Engineer, is hereby directed to survey and examine a route and crossing, at some point above Fairmount Dam, with a view of effecting a more speedy connection than at Market street bridge, and report to the Board the result of his investigation with the least possible delay.

Resolved, That if the said Engineer does not receive the most satisfactory assurance, on or before the 8th instant, that the City authorities have placed the aforesaid connection under contract, and will have it completed by the time the new rail-road to avoid the plane is ready to receive the transportation, he shall then suspend the work now in progress from below Fairmount Dam to the Permanent bridge.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Board forward one copy of the foregoing resolutions to the President of the Select, and one copy to the President of the Common Council of the City of Philadelphia.

Extract from the journal of the Board of Canal Commissioners.

APPENDIX No. XX.

The Committee on City Property
REPORT,

That in conformity to the authority given to them by the Ordinance of 2nd August, 1849, "to alter and remodel the permanent bridge in such manner as may be necessary to accommodate the rail-road," they have given a contract to Mr. John Rice, to remove the superstructure of the present bridge and to erect a new bridge on the site thereof.

The bridge proposed, will be erected on the piers of the present "permanent bridge," without enlargement, and will provide a double carriage-way on the southern side, of larger dimensions than those now in use upon the old bridge. It will be separated from the rail-way track so as no annoyance can be given to the common travel.

The foot passages will be erected on the northern and southern side of the bridge, of liberal width for pedestrian purposes.

The rail-road track, from the eastern end of the bridge, is intended to be laid as nearly as possible to the northern side of High street, until it crosses Ashton street, at which point it will converge towards the centre of High street, which it will reach about two hundred feet east of Schuylkill Front street. Thus leaving a very large passage on the southern side of the rail-road for common traveling purposes.

Ashton street will be made to pass under the rail-way, with abundant headway for common travel, and an arrangement is intended for the continuation of Schuylkill Front street, level with the rail-way, in such manner as to avoid any inconvenience whatever to the common travel at this point.

On the western side of the river, the route of the rail-way is such as to occupy very little of the space at present used for the ordinary travel, so that no inconvenience can possibly be suffered there.

It is contemplated to continue the present bridge in use for the common travel for nearly the whole of the time the new bridge is in process of building, and for the short time that it may be necessary to suspend the travel over the same, ample means will be provided for the passage of vehicles and passengers across the river, at or near High street.

The contract with Mr. Rice provides for the completion of the work by the 15th of July next; he has already made arrangements for the delivery of the materials at an early day, and we have full confidence in his ability to complete the work by the time specified, and in a manner creditable to himself and to the City.

We might remark, that bridges of the character proposed at High street, are by no means uncommon; they have frequently been erected where similar circumstances to our case exist,—and in no instance have disturbances ever occurred to their uses, that would determine such a structure unfit for the business they are intended to provide for.

The Committee have learned that an opinion prevails in some of the neighbouring counties, that the new bridge will not afford accommodation for ordinary travel, and that it is to be appropriated solely to rail-road purposes. So far from this being the fact, the new bridge will offer greater facilities for such travel than the present one, inasmuch as the carriage-way in the new bridge will be twenty-six feet in width, whereas in the present one it is but twenty-four feet: in addition to which the ascent and descent in the new will be much less than in the old bridge.

As the contractor has already commenced operations with a portion of the work, your attention is called to the propriety of an early provision of funds to meet the payments which will become due, under the agreement with Mr. Rice.

Resolved, That the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia do hereby consent, that the Commissioners of Philadelphia County may erect a new Court House for the accommodation of the Courts and County offices, on that part of the State House Square at the corner of Sixth and Walnut streets. Provided, that such consent shall not be considered to be given until the plan of such building shall be approved by the Committee on City Property, nor until and unless the counsel consulted by the Committee on City Property affirm the right of the City Councils to give the said consent. And provided, that the County Board shall previously consent to the location and erection of a City Hall and buildings on the said Square at the corner of Fifth and Walnut streets. And provided, that the said Commissioners first covenant to convey all their right and title to the present County buildings, and the ground on which the same are erected, so far as they can legally do so, to the Corporation of the City of Philadelphia, in the new Court House shall be occupied.

The Committee on City Property respectfully
REPORT,

That they have had under consideration a certain resolution, then before the Select Council, [referred back to the Committee on the 13th instant.] relative to the assent of the City to the erection of a new Court House on the State House Square, with instructions “to obtain from one or more persons learned in the law, an opinion as to the legality of the same." That your Committee have also had under consideration, a report of this Committee, accompanying a resolution relating to the same subject, [referred back to the Committee on the 20th instant.] with directions to report in full at the next meeting of Councils—and also a resolution passed by the Common Council relative to the same subject, also referred to this Committee on the 1st instant.

Your Committee further report, that having, in obedience to their said instructions, obtained the opinion of Binney and Thomas M. Pettit, Esquires, upon the propriety to which the advice of counsel was desired by the Council—and they annex the same to this report. It is perceived that these gentlemen unhesitatingly affirm the right of the city to grant the proposed assent to the erection of the new Court House, and the legality of such action with the assent of Councils.

Your Committee are more firmly convinced than ever that there is an urgent and immediate necessity for a new Court House—to secure the proper and commodious transaction of the legal business of the community—and among other things, to obviate the humiliating necessity of juries waiting and deciding in public taverns upon the property, liberty, and lives, of our fellow-citizens. Nor is the erection of a new Court House confined to the purposes just mentioned; other, and perhaps more generally interesting considerations, are known to us all to require the new building. The records of the county—the evidence of each man's title—kept in insecure rooms—mouldy cellars—and exposed to thefts—and among these papers, it is believed many valuable documents will be found to throw light upon our state and federal history. A single spark may consume the whole mass of these papers—the smallest fire would not only destroy documents which could never be replaced, but also testimony which could never be supplied, but by which the titles to much property could alone be sustained.

The County Commissioners and the County Board have discharged their duty in this matter, and the Common Council having shown their readiness to concur in this action, it remains for the Select Council to say whether it is wise to stop this great public and necessary improvement, at the expense of all the responsibility which this step may bring with

Finally, the Committee beg leave to report the annexed resolution, which is the original one pending before this Council, with a slight formal amendment.

Resolved, That the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia, do hereby consent, that the Commissioners of Philadelphia County may erect a new Court House for the accommodation of the Courts and County Offices, on that part of the State House Square at the corner of Sixth and Walnut streets. Provided that such consent shall not be considered to be given until the plan of each building shall be approved by the Committee on City Property: and provided that the said Commissioners first covenant to convey, (as far as they can legally do so,) all their right and title to the present County Buildings, and the ground on which the same are erected, to the Corporation of the City of Philadelphia, when the new Court House shall be occupied. And provided further, that such consent shall not be construed to relinquish or affect the right of said Councils to erect a new City Hall and buildings on any part of said Square.

A Committee of the Councils of the City of Philadelphia, have asked our opinion upon the following questions or points:—

1. "Upon what trusts, if any, the City Corporation hold the title to the State House or Independence Square."

2. "Whether by authority of the Act of Assembly of 16th March, 1847, the City Councils can grant the right to the County Commissioners to erect a Court House on that part of the said square which fronts on Walnut street, provided the County Commissioners convey or surrender to the City Corporation the buildings now used for county purposes on Chestnut and Sixth streets."

OF THE SELECT COUNCIL

As no statement of facts or title has been exhibited to with the questions, we have been under the necessity making one from the laws and records within our power. is probably complete, or sufficiently so for the purpose of opinion; and we proceed to set it forth, making liberal extracts, wherever we deemed them necessary, and giving the substance of what we did not think it material to recite literally.

From the preamble to an Act of the General Assembly of the Province of Pennsylvania, passed on the 21st February 1735-6, to be found in Franklin's edition of the laws, page 477, it appears that a State House and other buildings have then been erected, at the charge of the Province, on parts of certain lots of land situate on the south side of Chesnut street between Fifth and Sixth streets, which lots comprehended a large portion of the ground now known as Independence Square. These lots had been purchased from different persons, "by the directions of the Representatives of the freemen of the Province," through the agency of Andrew Hamilton and William Allen, Esquires, in whose name the legal title remained till after the erection of the buildings. being, however, thought necessary, that the State House buildings, and ground, should be effectually secured to the use of the Province, the Act of Assembly, above referred to proceeded to designate a mode by which the premises should be conveyed to John Kinsey and others in fee, to have and to hold the same to the uses, intents and purposes thereinafter specified, and to no other use, intent and purpose whatever "that is to say, to and for the use of the Representatives of the freemen aforesaid, which now are, and from time to time hereafter, shall be duly elected by the Freemen aforesaid, and to and for such other uses, intents and purposes, as the said Representatives at any time or times hereafter General Assembly met, shall direct and appoint."

"Provided always, and it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning of these presents, that no part of the said ground lying to the southward of the State House, as it now built, be converted into or made use of for erecting any sort of buildings thereupon, but that the said ground be enclosed, and remain a public open green and walks, forever."

Though some steps were taken to vest the title in the individuals named, yet it appears from the recital in the preamble of the Act of Assembly of 17th February, 1762, Smith's Laws, 242, that the assurances which the act

1735-6, required to be made, had not been executed and perfected." The legislature assuming a control over the whole subject, made another disposition of the premises, and declared the act of 1735-6, "to be repealed, null and void, to all intents and purposes." The act of 17th February, 1762, in its first section, (excepting from the arrangement the two corner lots at Fifth and Sixth streets,) enacted, that the premises mentioned in the act of 1735-6, and another lot on Walnut street, since purchased by William Allen, for the use of the Province, should be settled upon and vested in fee, in Isaac Norris and others, "freed and discharged and absolutely acquitted, exempted and exonerated of and from and against all and every the uses, intents and purposes mentioned and contained in the said recited Act of Assembly, and of and from all claims and demands of the said heirs of the said Andrew Hamilton, and the said William Allen and his heirs, and of either or any of them, forever. But, nevertheless, upon the trusts and to and for the ends, intents and purposes, and subject to the uses hereinafter mentioned, expressed and declared, that is to say, to and for the use of the Representatives of the freemen of this Province, which now are and from time to time hereafter shall be duly elected by the freemen aforesaid, and to and for such other uses, intents and purposes, as they, the said Representatives, at any time or times hereafter, in Assembly met, shall direct and appoint: Provided always, nevertheless, and it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning hereof, that no part of the said ground lying to the southward of the State House, within the wall as it is now built, be made use of for erecting any sort of buildings thereon: But that the same shall be and remain a public green and walk, forever."

The third section recites, that the two certain lots, one at the corner of Sixth street, fifty feet on Chesnut street and seventy-three feet on Sixth street, and the other at the corner of Fifth street, fifty feet on Chesnut street and seventy-three feet on Fifth street, had been purchased by Andrew Hamilton, in his life time, with intent that they should be assured and conveyed to the Trustees, one of them for the use of the County of Philadelphia, and the other for the use of the City of Philadelphia, for erecting two buildings for the holding of Courts or common Halls for the said County and City, which assurance or conveyance was never made and executed; and it directs Isaac Norris, and the others named as Trustees, on payment to them for the use of the Province, of fifty pounds for each lot, to convey the lot on Sixth street, to the County, and the lot on Fifth street, to the City, for erecting the public buildings as aforesaid: the buildings to be "made and constructed of the like outward form, structure and dimensions."

Other portions of the ground, now known as Independence Square, were purchased by the Trustees of the State House for the use of the Province, under authority of an Act of Assembly of 14th May, 1762, 1 Smith's Laws, 254, which, after reciting, that it was "thought necessary for public convenience to purchase certain lots of ground adjoining the ground whereon the State House is now erected, to and for the same uses, intents and purposes to which the said house and its appurtenances are appropriated," applies, orders and appoints the sum of five thousand pounds, or so much thereof as should be necessary, for and towards purchasing all or any of the lots of ground situate between Chesnut and Walnut streets, and between Fifth and Sixth streets, not already purchased, for the use of the Province, the said Trustees to take and receive the same "upon the same trust and to and for the same ends, intents and purposes, and subject to the same uses to and for which the State House with its appurtenances are," in and by the Act of Assembly of 17th February, 1762, "appointed, limited and declared, and to and for no other uses, intents and purposes whatsoever."

Such of the deeds executed under these Acts of Assembly, as we have seen, express no other than a pecuniary consideration. They do not recite at large any uses, but in the habendum clauses declare the property to be conveyed "in trust, and to and for such and the same use or uses, intents or purposes, as in the said last mentioned and recited Act of Assembly are mentioned, limited and appointed," and in one or two instances, "and to or for no other use, intent or purpose whatsoever."

After the Declaration of Independence, an Act of Assembly was passed, viz: on the 28th day of February, 1780, 1 Smith's Laws, 484, to place "the real estate of the public," "on a uniform, convenient and permanent footing." Among other things it enacted, that the State House, in the City of Philadelphia, together with the adjoining lot or piece of ground thereunto appertaining, bounded by Chesnut street on the north, Fifth street from the river Delaware, on the east, Sixth street from the said river, on the west, and Walnut street on the south, as the same are now vested in Samuel Rhoads and Edward Pennington, and other property particularly described, as held by Trustees, should be vested in the Commonwealth, freed and discharged, and absolutely acquitted, exempted and exonerated, of, from and against all claims and demands of the feoffees, or trustees, or bodies politic or corporate, &c. "Subject to the several uses, intents, trusts, dispositions and directions, for which the same have been heretofore respectively appointed and limited, and to none other, saving and always reserving to every person and persons, bodies politic and corporate, his and their heirs, successors, other than the said feoffees and trustees, all such estate, right, title and interest, of, in, to and out of the premises vested in trust as aforesaid, as they, every or any of them, had before the passing of this act, or could, or might have had or enjoyed in case this act had not been made or passed."

On the 28th March, 1785, the Legislature passed an Act, entitled "an Act for vesting in the American Philosophical Society, held at Philadelphia, for the promoting useful knowledge, a certain lot of ground, being part of the State House Square." An abstract is given in 2 Smith's Laws, 311, but the Act is to be found at large in the edition of the laws printed by Hall & Sellers, page 520. The preamble states the expediency and propriety of giving "all due encouragement to societies established for the purpose of advancing the arts and sciences, and promulgating useful knowledge;" and recites that the said society had prayed the Legislature, "to grant to them and their successors, a lot of ground suitable and convenient for erecting a hall and other buildings necessary for their accommodation;" and the second section enacts as follows:—"That a certain lot or piece of ground, being part of the State House Square, situate on the west side of Fifth street, and beginning ninety-six feet southward from Chesnut street, and thence extending along Fifth street aforesaid, seventy feet south towards Walnut street, thence westwardly on the State House Square fifty feet, thence northward, in a line parallel to Fifth street seventy feet, and thence eastward fifty feet to the place of beginning; shall and is hereby given and granted to, and vested in the American Philosophical Society, held at Philadelphia, for promoting useful knowledge, to have and to hold the said lot of ground to the said American Philosophical Society, and their successors, forever; for the purpose of erecting thereon a hall, library, and such other buildings or apartments as the said society may think necessary for their proper accommodation."

This lot was granted by the Legislature, subject to a restriction in regard to a sale, lease or transfer of it, which restriction was, by another Act of the Legislature, passed on the 17th March, 1786, rescinded, so far as related to power to lease parts of the building then to be erected on the said lot.

On the 29th March, 1787, the Legislature passed an Act, entitled "An Act to enlarge the lots in the State House Square appropriated for building thereon respectively County and City Court Houses," 2 Smith's Laws, 410. These lots which were seventy-three feet in depth, were by this act, extended to the depth of eighty-eight feet, and so enlarged and extended, were declared to be vested respectively in the County Commissioners and in the City Wardens, "to the same uses and purposes respectively, as they were before their enlargement."

On the 11th day of March, 1816, the Legislature passed an Act, entitled "an Act providing for the sale of the State House and State House Square, in the City of Philadelphia," Pamphlet Laws, 109. It directs the appointment of Commissioners, whose duty it shall be to proceed and lay out a street through the Square, in such manner as would most conduce to its value, and then to divide the Square into lots suitable for buildings, &c. It enacts that a valuation shall be made, with a view to a limit in the prices, and orders a sale by the Commissioners, after public notice. It also makes provision for the mode of payment by purchasers, and the execution of title deeds, &c.

The Seventh section enacts, that if the Corporation of the city of Philadelphia, shall, within a certain time, contract with the Governor, for the sale of the State House and Square, the sale of the lots shall be stopped, and directs the Governor, when the purchase money shall have been paid, to make a deed in the name of the Commonwealth, for said State House and Square, vesting the title in the said Corporation in fee simple: "Provided always, nevertheless, and it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning hereof, that no part of the said ground, lying to the southward of the State House, within the wall as it is now built, be made use of for erecting any sort of buildings thereon, but that the same shall be and remain a public green and walk forever."

The contract having been made, a deed was executed by the Governor, on the 29th June, 1818, vesting the title in the city Corporation, according to the provisions of the Act of Assembly.

APPENDIX TO THE JOURNAL

On the 16th March, 1847, the Legislature passed an Act (amphlet Laws 469,) the Eighth section of which is in the following words: "That the Commissioners of the County of Philadelphia, by and with the consent of the Select and Common Councils of the city of Philadelphia, are hereby authorised to erect a new Court House for the accommodation of the Courts and County Offices, on part of the State House Square in the said city; and the said Select and Common Councils are hereby authorised to cause a new City Hall to be erected on any part of the said Square; the location and erection of said buildings to be first approved by the County Board of said Philadelphia county."

This, we believe, is a correct history of the title to the State House Square, from the act of 1735, to the present time, and of all the Legislation of the Province of Pennsylvania, and of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in regard to the subject; and it is upon this basis, that we proceed to give our opinion.

The questions submitted to us, are of undeniable importance and interest to the public, and especially to the citizens of the city of Philadelphia. We do not find any judicial decisions in the State, so directly applicable to this subject, or to any one of obvious analogy to it, as to compel the mind, in respect for authority, to adopt a conclusion, without recourse to general principles. The case, it will be found, calls not only for the interpretation of Acts of Assembly, which we not heretofore been judicially interpreted, but also for consideration of the powers of the Commonwealth, which, they have heretofore been exercised by the Legislature, in similar relation, have not been judicially reviewed by our courts. It is for those who have asked for our opinion, to estimate the degree of reliance that should be placed upon it, in a case so circumstanced. As a professional duty, we do not hesitate to give our opinion upon it, in obedience to the call that has been made upon us.

It is clear from the preceding statement of the title, that the whole of the State House Square was originally private property, derived from the proprietary, and appropriated by public authority to private use, in the same manner generally as other city lots. A portion of it, to which the statement does not refer, may have originally been claimed and appropriated without office right. But it is inconsiderable in amount, and the rest, was at an early day purchased by direction of the Assembly as private property of the claimant, and brought into the mass of the Square.

OF THE SELECT COUNCIL.

A very considerable portion of these purchases before the Act of 1735-6, by direction of the Assembly of the Province, in the names of certain persons in trust, is expressed in the deeds of conveyance, or in some other manner understood at the time. What these trusts were we do not know, as we have seen no deed or evidence of a deed for any part of the Square, before the Act: nor have we seen any resolution or order of the Assembly directing their purchase. The Act recites that the land was purchased by direction of the Representatives of the Province. There seems reason to believe and suppose it to be certain that none of these deeds convey other than a pecuniary consideration for the conveyance, especially that none of them expresses a trust of land conveyed for a public green or walk, forever. If the Act of 1735, the trust upon which the land was purchased, as well as that of the portions afterwards purchased, appear by several of the deeds, and by the laws, as the guide of them. The Act of 1735, section, enacted that, for the purpose of securing a House and ground for the use of the Province in whose names they had been purchased by the said Representatives, should convey them to the persons therein named, and the heirs of the survivor, to the intents and purposes thereafter specified, and to the intent or purpose whatever, that is to say, "that the use of the Representatives of the freemen aforesaid now are, and from time to time hereafter shall be, by the freemen aforesaid, and to and for such intents and purposes as they, the said Representatives, at any time or times hereafter in General Assembly meet, shall determine and appoint."

And here, in our opinion, the uses, intents and purposes before mentioned and ordered to be declared in the Act, by Hamilton and Allen, the purchasers, by direction of the Assembly, to the trustees named in the act, terminate, and the declaration of them is completed. The whole enactment, is a requisition upon Hamilton and Allen, to convey the property to the trustees named in the Act, and the trusts set forth are what the conveyance by Hamilton and Allen to the trustees is to contain, and the trusts which the enactment directs the trustees to contain. No other trust, use, intent or purpose is to be inserted in the conveyance, and therefor were to hold the estate conveyed, for no other use, intent or purpose whatever.

We deem this remark of some importance in regard to the interpretation of the proviso which follows, and which, in the province laws, is printed as a second section: "Provided always, and it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning of these presents, that no part of the said ground lying to the southward of the State House, as it is now built, be converted into or made use of for erecting any sort of buildings thereon, but that the said ground shall be enclosed, and remain a public open green and walks forever."

We think it clear that this proviso was not intended by the Assembly to constitute any part of the uses, trusts, intents and purposes, to be stated or declared in the conveyance by Hamilton and Allen to the trustees. It is not a qualification of those trusts. It is not, in propriety of language, a proviso that qualifies the enacting clause. That enacting clause declared the trusts upon which the then holders should convey the State House, and the ground in the Square then purchased, to the trustees named in the act; and the concluding trust, which subjected the whole to a power of general appointment in the representatives in general Assembly met, which was tantamount to a limitation in fee, gave that power to be exercised at any time or times thereafter, and the very conveyance declaring the trusts, was to be executed after the act which contained the proviso. If it is to be regarded as a proviso, qualifying those trusts, it was wholly repugnant to the general power of appointment. Upon the old distinction between a repugnant saving clause and a repugnant proviso, it overruled and defeated the general power of appointment; and the power to be subsequently inserted in the conveyance, was thus defeated and destroyed before the deed could come into existence which was to declare it. The Legislature could not have had this intention. It is contrary, not only to their express directions in the enactment, but to the structure of the proviso, which does not relate to the trusts directed by that enactment, but is an independent declaration by the Assembly of their meaning and intent in regard to the application of the ground.

Both the general power of appointment by the representatives in Assembly met, and this declaration of the intent and meaning of the Legislature as to the application of the ground, were therefore to co-exist and continue together, and the proviso was not to control or destroy that power, either by revoking, or by executing it definitively and irrevocably. Such, we think, is the true interpretation of the general meaning of the Assembly, in the enactment and proviso taken together.

What the particular meaning of the proviso was, admits of some doubt. It may be interpreted as an expression of the then present meaning and intent of the Legislature, in regard to the future application or devotion of the ground, only a part of the lots in the Square having been purchased, or it may be interpreted as an immediate devotion of the ground then purchased to the uses of a public green and walk. The words in the proviso most naturally import a present intention of future application. It contains no words of immediate application or devotion of the ground to public uses. But we shall at present, for the purpose of this opinion, regard it as an immediate application or devotion of the ground.

Taking this to be the meaning of the proviso, the general power of appointment was nevertheless to be created in the deed that was directed to be executed, a power of appointment in the representatives in Assembly, to appoint from time to time to any use whatever. We are of opinion, that such an application of the ground, if it was not revocable, as we think it was, by the authority of the Legislature, was revocable by the exercise of the general power, which was directed by the law to be thereafter executed. Such trusts so to be subsequently declared by an act containing such a proviso, were equivalent to the express reservation of a power to revoke the proviso, and to appoint to other uses.

It was the case of property purchased with the money of the freemen of the Province, limited in trust for such uses as their representatives in Assembly from time to time thereafter should appoint, and that trust was directed to be declared in a conveyance to be executed after the act. As a question of intention, it would, we think, be impossible to maintain that the proviso was meant, either to annul the general power of appointment in the deed that was to be executed, or to be a complete and irrevocable appointment of the uses declared in the proviso. If the Assembly had intended to annul the unlimited power of appointment, they would have omitted that trust in the enacting clause, and would have inserted the uses declared in the proviso. If they had intended the declaration of the uses in the proviso to be irrevocable, they would not have directed a trust in the deed for such uses as they should from time to time thereafter appoint. They clearly intended the appointment to continue. The declaration that they must have meant to be revocable at will. Such we apprehend is, in point of law, the character of every such devotion to public use, whether of the public property; and it was the particular intention of the act of 1766.

It may not be difficult to conjecture the intention of the Legislature, which, it must be acknowledged, was not the intention of the Assembly and the Governor were conflicting in each other. The acquisition of the land by the Assembly was not generally agreeable to the Governor. The device resorted to to secure this purpose in this particular instance was not an exception to the general rule. The House and ground had remained simply in the hands of the Proprietary. In the conveyance, the power of disposal had been in the representatives in Assembly, and not in the Governor, and that would have been the policy of the Proprietary. To give the effect of the act, it was probably thought essential that this intention, or of the application of the property to the public use, the revocation of which might require the passage of a law, to which the Governor assented. There are other instances of peculiarities in the Province, occasioned by the mutual jealousy of the Governor and the Assembly.

If we have given the true construction to the deed, and if the peculiarities of it are accounted for, and if the intention we have attributed to the Legislature is correct, the result is, according to our opinion, that the land was intended to continue and were intended to continue in the representatives, for whatever purpose they might afterwards to appoint; and that the term of perpetuity, was a devotion of the land to the public use, if it was a present devotion to revocation by law at least, if not by the Governor. The general power of appointment to other public uses, would sustain the same conclusion. It is deemed it best to place this part of the evidence of particular intention in the act of 1766.

We are of opinion then, that these lots in the House Square were not purchased from the Representatives of the freemen under open forever as a public green and walks, that no such trust of them was declared or ordered to be declared by the Assembly, but on the contrary, the trust declared was for any uses which from time to time the Assembly thereafter should limit and appoint, and that the proviso was at any time revocable by law, not only by the general power of the legislature over public uses, but by the special power, which, by necessary implication from the act of 1735, it was intended by the Legislature to retain, or by the exercise of the general power of appointment.

And such was the interpretation given to it by the Governor and Assembly in 1762; for by the Act of 17th February of that year, they directed the estate to be "settled upon and vested" in Isaac Norris and others, new trustees, "freed and discharged, and absolutely acquitted, exempted and exonerated of and from, and against all and every the uses, intents and purposes mentioned and contained in the said Act" of 1735, and declared the said act "to be repealed, null and void, to all intents and purposes." This was an emphatic declaration by the Legislature, that all the trusts of the ground were entirely under the control of the Assembly for any uses whatever, as in point of law they were by the general power of appointment, and that the proviso was revocable at least by the same body that enacted it.

The Act of 1762 then, directed the estate to be settled and vested in the new trustees, upon the same trusts, and subject to a general power of appointment by the Representatives in Assembly, in nearly the same words as in the Act of 1735, and a proviso, declaring the intent and meaning of the act, is also added, in nearly the same terms as in the preceding act; and we need not make any remarks upon the true construction and effect of this act, because our remarks upon the Act of 1735, apply to it. The trusts are equally separated from the proviso, and annexed to the estate of the trustees. The same general power of appointment is to be continued to the Representatives in Assembly met, to be exercised by them, at any time or times thereafter; and the proviso in the same declaration, of the intent and meaning of the act, that the ground should remain open forever, was subject to revocation also, if the proviso to the Act of 1735, was so subject.

The subsequent act of 14th May, 1762, which directed the purchase of such of the lots comprising the Square, as remained in the hands of private proprietors, directed that they should be settled upon and vested in the trustees, upon the House was not at any time brought within the proviso, and that such a meaning and intent was never declared in regard to the after purchased lots. The whole subject seems to have been kept within the power of the Assembly, and nothing more than a purpose declared in regard to the ground then purchased. The result of the whole, in our opinion, is, that no part of this State House Square was at any time during the Province affected with a trust for public use, either as a walk, or otherwise—that the uses limited in regard to it, were entirely within the power of the Representatives in Assembly met—and that whatever was the meaning and effect of the proviso, it did not extend to several parts of the Square, and particularly that it did not extend to a large part of the Walnut Street front, nearly the whole of which was purchased after the Act of 1762; that as to the parts to which the proviso did extend, it was revocable both upon general principles and by the true interpretation of the Acts of 1735 and 1762.

The Commonwealth, without doubt, acquired by the Revolution all the estates and all the powers in regard to the State House and grounds which belonged to the freemen of the Province in their public capacity; and the act of 28th February, 1780, did but declare the effect of the change of government. From that time, in our opinion, the State House Square was public property, as much at the disposal of the Commonwealth by law, as any other public property, and so the Legislature has regarded it, and acted in relation to it.

It is necessary only to refer to the instances in the statement of the case, in which the Commonwealth has by law disposed of parts of the Square, by appropriating them for the purposes of building, in direct opposition to the terms of the proviso referred to. The grant to the Philosophical Society, the grant to the City of a part of the Square, enlarging the lot originally excepted out of the Act of 1762, and the grant to the County of a similar part of the Square, enlarging the lot for the County Court House, are all of this description.

The right of the Commonwealth to dispose of the whole Square for buildings, is expressly asserted in the Act of 1816, and enactments were made in that act to carry this disposition into effect by public sale. The city, by their purchase, under a section of the same act, probably alone prevented the appropriation of the Square for building lots.

These Acts of the Legislature, the more than sixty years since, have never been mentioned, but were acquiesced in: and they are of great weight in the interpretation. If they were valid, it is impossible, we think, that the Commonwealth did not own the Soil of the State, in the same sense, and could dispose of it by law, as any other real Commonwealth.

We have considered the case thus far, and will be necessary to bring it to a conclusion.

Under the Act of 1816, the Governor's Commission in fee simple the State House, with the exceptions mentioned in the act, and the condition, "that no part of said ground lying within the State House, within the wall as it is now in use of for erecting any sort of building, the same shall be and remain a public use forever."

This restriction is in substance the same as the proviso, in the Act of 1762, including the proviso of 1762 did not apply, but by the Legislature of their own authority, and not under the proviso. This is clear from the previous Acts of the Square for building lots; and the condition.

The questions which remain seem to be:

1. Whether the Commonwealth, the restriction, cannot by law rescind the purpose stated in the Act of 1847, with the consent of the city, the proprietors of the fee simple.

2. Whether if, under the Act of 1847, with her consent to the erection of buildings on any part of the Square, the restriction will be removed, and the application of the ground for buildings, become lawful.

And we are of the affirmative opinion. We are of opinion that the Commonwealth, with the consent of the grantee, remove the restriction, as has been done by the Act of 1847. If, without the consent of the grantee, the restriction in the condition, we think that it is not inherently such a power over the public use, as with the consent of the grantee.

or change them for other public uses. The Commonwealth has, we conceive, a larger power in regard to public uses, not being corporate uses, nor private uses, but uses for all the public, to which private property has been devoted or applied. It is exercised constantly without question in regard to State and County roads—the highways of all the citizens. It is a power essential to the public interests—and all public uses are vested in the Commonwealth for the benefit of all, and therefore to be controlled or qualified by the public proprietor, who is the representative of all. In its high Legislative capacity, the Commonwealth may take private property for public use, upon making compensation. Cannot a public use be vacated, and a new public use instituted by the same power? And if compensation is to be made, to whom is it to be made, when the use vacated was already a public use? The present case, in our apprehension, is a much narrower one, and involves powers and principles of a narrower and more definite character, than these powers of the Commonwealth are competent to reach. We give no opinion upon the effect of rescinding a public use of or in property, upon the rights of a private proprietor of the land, by whom it has been so devoted, nor upon a case in which a contract of any one is violated by the act of the Commonwealth. This is not, in our opinion, a case in which any question of contract, or of a resulting right to a private proprietor can arise. The city is the proprietor, and her consent is made necessary by the Act of 1847. If the Commonwealth has the power, as we are of opinion she has, then the necessary effect of the consent of the city, given according to the Act of 1847, will, in our opinion, destroy pro tanto the restriction in regard to the buildings so erected, and make the use of the ground for that purpose lawful.

There is nothing, we think, in any decision of the Supreme Court, either in the Commonwealth vs. McDonald, 16 S. & R. 390; or in the Commonwealth vs. Alburger, 1 Wharton, 469; or in Rung vs. Shoneburger, 2 Watts, 23; or in the Commonwealth vs. Bowman, 3 Barr., 202; or in any other reported case, that militates against the view we have taken of the questions submitted to us; and we have answered them according to their substantial meaning, without answering them in the terms in which the last question, at least, has been asked.

We are clearly of opinion that the city does not hold the State House or Independence Square under any trust at all; but she holds it under a condition or restriction which the Commonwealth may lawfully rescind fully recinded pro tanto, by the cons Act of 1847. We are not prepared much of the second question as refer County Commissioners to the city, for county purposes. The power sioners to convey those buildings, is pending upon other laws than that not had time to examine, and we structure of the second question, has been asked.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

FOR THE YEAR 1849,

TO THE

Select and Common Councils of Philadelphia.

REPORT.

YOUR Committee most respectfully present, the usual Annual Report of its expenditures during the past year. It is to be hoped, that it is enabled to offer a favorable prospect of the Works; and the attention called to the increase of the water rents due, the amount paid into the Treasury, in 1849, is 10 per cent. greater than the amount paid in, in 1848, and this, notwithstanding some considerable increase has been made in the rents of small dwellings.

Immediately after the passage of the ordinance, authorizing the laying down of a thirty inch main on Fairmount, contract was entered into with Messrs. Colwell & Co., and the pipe castings are now being made at the expense of those gentlemen, at Conshohocken, on the Schuylkill river. It is hoped, that should the weather permit, the laying of the main may be commenced on or about the 1st of March next, so that a large portion may be made useful before the extreme hot weather.

In order that a very high portion of the City may be supplied with water, from Schuylkill Fifth to Eighth street, the full advantage of the large main, your Committee propose to lay a pipe of twelve inches diameter on Fifth street, from Arch to Chestnut street, the necessary sum is included in the estimate for next year. There is also a sum included for the purpose of laying a sixteen inch main on Cedar street, from Schuylkill Fifth to Eighth street; this main has been several times laid, during the past year, both by the proper authorities of the City, and by the authorities of the D menting, and if it be laid, will complete the plan of distribution, on that border of the City.

It will be seen from the Accounts of Expenditure, that the purchase of the lots of ground, authorized by the ordinances of Councils, has been concluded. Your Committee does not propose doing any thing towards the construction of Reservoirs thereon, at the present; the object in making the purchase at this time, being merely to secure a favorable site, whilst an opportunity offered. It may not, however, be amiss to mention, that on several days together, in June last, over 7,000,000 of gallons of water were supplied to the City and lower Districts, per day, whilst the contents of all the present reservoirs, is but 22,031,976 gallons, or a little over three days supply; this is scarcely a sufficient surplus to admit of the subsidence of the earthy matter, sometimes contained in the water, after spring freshets, in the Schuylkill; from which fact, it will be seen that the time when it may be expedient to construct additional reservoirs is, perhaps, not very distant.

In the month of January,	an average of	3,097,165	ale gallons per day.

" February,	" "	3,189,160	" "
" March,	" "	3,495,810	" "
" April,	" "	4,109,110	" "
" May,	" "	4,661,080	" "
" June,	" "	5,987,480	" "
" July,	" "	5,597,040	" "
" August,	" "	5,335,710	" "
" September,	" "	3,315,735	" "
" October,	" "	4,231,770	" "
" November,	" "	4,323,765	" "
" December,	" "	3,710,465	" "

Being an average throughout the whole year of 4,421,190 ale gallons per day.

The above supply of water was distributed to 16,888 tenants, who pay for the water in the City, and about 3,500 families who receive a supply from public hydrant pumps.

Together, in the City,
 And by private hydrants in Southwark,
 " " " Moyamensing

Together,

It will be seen, that although the quantity of water used in the month of June was very large, yet of the year, it was rather less, in proportion of tenants, than it was in 1848. This can be accounted for by the fact that, during the most extensive use of the wash pavement pipes, and the machines was, in a great measure, discontinued to which, the manner of cleansing the streets was much improved after the month of June for that purpose, whereby the work was effectually done with a smaller quantity of water. The Committee would earnestly recommend this to be pursued in future years.

The iron pipes laid during the year, amounting to 100 $\frac{1}{8}$ miles, which makes the total amount of pipes, now laid, a little over 77 $\frac{1}{8}$ miles.

The pipes now laid in the District of Southwark, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ miles; and in Moyamensing, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ miles; total length of iron pipes in the City amounting to 100 $\frac{1}{8}$ miles.

There are in the City, 682 fire plugs; and in Moyamensing, 94.—Together, 776

There are also in the City, 821 hydrants

Year.
1797,	Benjamin Franklin was the first person known to have urged the necessity of a supply of water in Philadelphia. In
31, 1798,	The first petitions were handed to Councils, asking for the introduction of pure water into the city.
1798,	Councils offered £50,000 pounds, for one-half of the water of the Delaware and Schuylkill Canal, which offer was rejected by the Canal Company.
1798,	H. B. Latrobe surveyed Spring Mill Creek, with a view of bringing its waters into the city in an aqueduct twelve miles long—and made a report thereon to Councils.
Mary, 1799,	Mr. Latrobe's plan for the Centre Square and Schuylkill Chesnut St. works was adopted. On
2, 1799,	These works were commenced—and
21, 1801,	The first water was supplied from them.
1810,	They become inadequate to the wants of the city.
24, 1811,	Councils directed the Watering Committee to enquire for a better method of supplying the city; with this object they again turned their attention to the Delaware and Schuylkill Canal plan, but again rejected it.
Dec. 18, 1811,	Frederick Graff and John Davis made surveys of Wissahickon and Spring Mill Creeks, and of the Schuylkill river generally, and reported in favor of steam works at Fairmount; which report was adopted, and
Aug. 1, 1812,	The steam works at Fairmount were commenced.
Sept. 7, 1815,	They first commenced supplying the city—when the use of the Centre Square works was discontinued.
April 8, 1819,	Councils resolved to erect water power works at Fairmount.
April 19, 1819,	The building of the dam was commenced, and on July 25, 1821,	The water first flowed over it.
April 28, 1821,	The corner stone of the present mill buildings was laid.
July 1, 1822,	The first wheel and pump was started to work to supply the city.
Oct. 25, 1822,	The use of the steam works at Fairmount was discontinued.
1829,	The buildings at Centre Square were taken down.
April 2, 1842,	The re-building of the dam from low tide upward was commenced, and
Dec. 6, 1843,	it was finished.

The general examination of the buildings within the city and adjoining districts, as required by the Ordinance of Councils of the 22d November last, has been made, and reported to the Board by the agent, and brings the subject more fully under review. His estimate of the amount necessary for repairs and permanent improvements is $21,884—which the Board has reduced to $19,460.

By the erection of additional buildings, and by maintaining the property in as good repair as practicable, with the means afforded them, the Commissioners have been enabled to increase the rents of the real estate annually from 1843 to the present time, in the following ratio, viz:

					Increase.
Receipts from Real Estate in 1844,	-	-	-	86,081
Do do do do 1845,	-	-	-	88,176	2,095

Do do do do 1849,	-	-	-	115,555	5,813

The large proportion of unproductive property, greatly diminishes the net revenue of the residuary estate, and sound policy demands the early improvement of such as can thereby be made to yield a largely increased income.

A considerable portion of the estate in the Northern Liberties and Spring Garden, is of this description, and the entire property in Schuylkill County, though immensely valuable, is almost entirely unproductive.

The extension of rail-road and other improvements, however, gives us reason to expect that within a few years a large income will be derived from the coal and timber lands of the estate in that county.

The bill making appropriations to the Girard College, includes an amount sufficient to enable the Directors to admit an additional 100 boys, and thus, within the short period of two and a half years from the opening of the institution, will have been accomplished the philanthropic design of the testator, by the maintenance and education of, at least, three hundred poor orphan boys, out of the residuary income of the bequest.

There is also provision made, in accordance with the recommendation of the Directors, for the organization of a principal department of instruction, which is rendered necessary by the advancement in their studies of the older classes of pupils.

To the President and Members of the Select Council:—

GENTLEMEN :—The City Commissioners respectfully submit to Council the subjoined list, showing the number, description and situation of new buildings for the erection of which permits have been granted from their office, between the 26th February, 1849, and the 28th November, 1849; and also a notice of new buildings erected on private streets in 1848, without permits, and not included in the report for that year. They are not aware of any new buildings erected under similar circumstances, in 1849, but think that the number may be safely estimated at from thirty to forty in each year.

They also transmit herewith a certificate, dated 28th December, 1849, received from the Clerk of the Commissioners of the District of Spring Garden, in pursuance of a request made to them by the President of the City Commissioners, agreeably to the directions of Councils; and showing the number of new buildings erected in that District during the past year, amounting to 498. Should similar information be furnished by the Commissioners of the other districts in the vicinity of the city proper, to whom applications have been addressed on the same subject, they will be transmitted to Councils.

Respectfully submitted,

By order of the City Commissioners.

ROBERT H. SMITH, City Clerk.

APPENDIX No. X

Philadelphia

GENTLEMEN:

By order of the Board, I herewith submit to you the Report of the Board of Directors of the Girard College for Orphans, together with an account of the property of the College for the year 1849.

Very respectfully,
Yours,

JOHN

of the G

SECOND ANNUAL

to the Select and Common Councils
of the City of Philadelphia.

THE Directors of the Girard College
Annual Report.

On the fifth day of December, 1849, there were one hundred and five orphans, of whom of Philadelphia, and 31 in other parts of the State of Pennsylvania. Since the last annual report, thirteen pupils have been admitted, of whom ten were born in the city, and three in the county of Philadelphia.

Within the same period, the indentures of two orphans have been cancelled at the request of the surviving parent, or next friend, for causes which, in the opinion of the Directors, rendered the separation of the pupil proper; and one—viz., Charles G. Maier—was removed by death, after suffering for some months from painful illness.

The number now receiving instruction and maintenance in the College, is two hundred and fifteen; and the Board is actively engaged in making suitable preparations for the admission of an additional number, not exceeding one hundred, in conformity with the authority given by the Ordinance passed on the tenth instant.

When this additional number shall have come in, the accommodations furnished by the buildings appropriated for the residence of the pupils, will be as fully occupied as a proper attention to health and comfort will justify.

Until new buildings shall have been erected, or until a portion of these three hundred and fifteen shall have finished the course of instruction which their several capacities may warrant, the admissions will be limited by the vacancies which may be produced by death, or the cancellation of indentures. It is to be hoped that these casualties may not be numerous, and for a period of three or four years to come, the labors of the officers of the establishment will be directed to the training and culture of such orphans as are now, or may be placed under our care in the present year.

We may, therefore, regard the Institution as in the state contemplated by the Will of Stephen Girard, so far as to the number of orphans to be first admitted; but there are still large preparations to be made, not only in the matters which concern the physical comforts of the children, but also in those which their growing intellectual natures will require.

To some extent the new building which has been authorized, will afford the means of introducing instruction in the simpler handicrafts, and such gymnastic exercises, within doors, as will tend to strengthen and improve the carriage of the body.

The proper cultivation of the grounds—a portion of which it is proposed to lay out for a kitchen garden, while other parts of them will be appropriated to general husbandry and to ornamental culture—will, with the play-ground and swimming pool, give the means for a gradual introduction of the children to labor, and afford amusement and healthful occupation in the open air.

But to these must be added libraries, adapted to the various stages of pupilage; cabinets in Natural History, Mineralogy, Geology, &c.; apparatus for the proper illustration of Mechanical and Chemas Second Assistant, we have children receiving instruction in the alphabet, spelling, reading, writing, and the elements of arithmetic, geography, and grammar. In this school there are one hundred and eleven pupils; and the examination just completed, shows such progress on the part of these youthful, and heretofore much-neglected orphans, as entitles the teachers to our warmest commendation.

In Primary School No. 1, under the charge of Miss Mary H. Turner, as Principal Teacher; Miss Angelina C. Turner, as First Assistant; and Miss Susan M. Statzel, as Second Assistant, we have now one hundred and four pupils.

These consist chiefly of the orphans admitted on the first day of January, 1848: a few whose progress warranted the promotion, have been transferred to it from School No. 2.

The Board refers with pride, as well as pleasure, to the attainments of these scholars, and desire to mark their sense of what has been accomplished by the most emphatic praise.

In this School, the instruction in reading, writing, spelling, and arithmetic, is continued, both in the elementary and advanced branches.

Geography, grammar, the elements of history, the elements of English composition, and the elements of algebra, are also well and faithfully taught; and a considerable proportion of the pupils have been found by the last examination to be ready for passing into the first classes of the Principal Department, which it is proposed to organize forthwith.

Under the authority given by the appropriation made December 21st, 1848, Dr. Henry McMurtrie was appointed, on the 26th day of December, 1848, Instructor in Natural History and Physiology; and on the same day Professor J. A. Deloutte was selected as Instructor in the French and Spanish languages.

On the 3d day of April, 1849, Professor G. J. Becker was chosen as Instructor in Drawing.

Dr. McMurtrie and Mr. Becker have, with the exception of the time allotted to the summer vacation, been engaged in teaching large classes from School No. 1, for one hour per day on alternate days. The instruction by Professor Deloutte was given daily to three classes, of about fifteen each, from the date of his appointment until the first day of June, when, for reasons satisfactory to the Board, he was at his request permitted to suspend his course.

It was resumed, however, on the first day of December, and the classes are making satisfactory progress in all of these studies.

The Board proposes now to begin the organization of the Principal Department. It will, as its name imports, ultimately be the chief school of the College, and from it the pupils will make their first entrance into the busy walks of life.

Its courses will be calculated to give a thorough practical education, and must reach those points which form the purely distinctive features of collegiate education.

The change in the ancient system of apprenticeships, will render it necessary for us to retain our pupils a few years longer than would have been requisite if they could be transferred to the home of a master, who, as in former days, would be responsible for their moral guidance, as well as their instruction in an art or trade.

Our pupils having in all instances lost their fathers, and many of them being deprived of both parents, will need a better preparation both by age and education, for meeting the trials and temptations of life, than those who may, to a greater or a less extent, rely upon parental counsel and aid.

We must, therefore, strive to make them desirable apprentices, and so to furnish them, mentally and morally, as to command the best places, and at those rates of wages which may, under the new system, suffice for their respectable support until they attain majority.

Such will be the purpose of the Principal Department; its graduates will have a thorough education in English and Mathematics—in Mental and Moral Science—the French, Spanish, and other modern languages—Natural History, Physiology, Chemistry, and Mechanical Philosophy in the most extended sense of both terms—Drawing, Practical Mechanics, Engineering, Agriculture, Navigation, &c., &c. Thus prepared, we may anticipate for them that improved lot in life which it was the cherished purpose of the founder of the Institution to secure, and for the attainment of which he made such munificent provision.

On the first day of June, 1849, the connexion which had existed between the Institution and the Hon. Joel Jones was terminated by his resignation, and from that day until the first of January, 1850, the office of President of the College was vacant.

The efforts of the Board to supply the vacancy were continued during this interregnum, and they at one time resulted in the choice of Fredk. A. Packard, Esq., who declined to accept the appointment.

On the 23d day of November, 1849, William H. Allen, Esq., then Professor of Mental Philosophy and English Literature in Dickenson College, Carlisle, Pa., was elected, and, having accepted the appointment, was duly installed on the first day of Jan. 1850.

President Allen, has been engaged in the business of instruction for a period of upwards of seventeen years, as a general instructor, and also as a teacher of the physical sciences, and brings with him a reputation for skill and energy, from which the best results are anticipated.

The office of President of the Girard College is unlike that of the chief executive head of ordinary educational establishments.—

He must stand actually in the place of the parent of each child admitted to the College, and is responsible to his fellow-citizens and to God for his fidelity to his trust.

No detail must be too insignificant for his scrutiny ; the formation of each habit, the influence of particular associations—in short, everything which the scholar marks by thought or action, must claim his attention ; and he must check, encourage, and reprove, so as to make the child the pattern of the man. To the President, and to the Matron, Teachers, Prefects, and Governesses, the pupils look for moral and religious guidance, as well as the caring for the culture of the mind and the clothing of the body ; and all below the President should be able to look up to him as the sun and centre of the system, whose light and whose power shine upon and control the motions of the minutest as well as the grandest parts.

From the first day of June, 1849, until the first day of January, 1850, the entire government of the household, and the discipline of the Institution, were placed in the charge of the Matron, Miss Jane Mitchell, under such advice and assistance as could be given by the appropriate Committees of the Board.

It is difficult to speak of the manner in which these novel and complicated duties were discharged. To understand and fully appreciate the value of the services thus rendered, it was requisite that they should be daily witnessed in the personal labor—the true self-sacrifice—the generous, patient, love-giving attentions which were bestowed freely upon orphans, officers, and servants.

A tone and character were given by these labors, which the Institution cannot now readily lose ; they have illustrated what can be accomplished when the whole mind is given to any work, and they merit a richer reward than praise or pecuniary gifts are possible to bestow.

While Miss Mitchell is entitled to the highest and fullest public acknowledgment of her services which the Directors can make, and to the thanks of the Councils and of her fellow-citizens, for her truly maternal care of the orphans of the College, we beg leave to recommend that some substantial token of approbation be presented to her by the Corporation of the City, which shall testify its gratitude for her services, and perpetuate the memory of her worth and labors.

With the exception of the death of one pupil, and the occasional visitations of slight disease, the whole of the family at the College have been blessed with a full measure of health.

The fearful epidemic, which attacked so many sections of our land during the past year, was not permitted to enter the Institution, and the Board has the pleasure of now reporting all the inmates in ordinary good health.

APPENDIX No. XXXVIII.

FIFTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE PHILADELPHIA GAS WORKS.

THE Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Works present their Fifteenth Annual Report.

The quantity of gas manufactured during the year 1849, was 135,509,000 cubic feet, being an increase of 28,736,000 cubic feet over that produced in 1848, and making a total of 815,843,000 cubic feet, yielded from the Works since their establishment.

The greatest quantity produced in one day during the year, was 709,000 cubic feet, which was made from 162 retorts on the 20th day of December.

The largest consumption was on the 24th day of December, when the demand reached 792,000 cubic feet, being only about 1 per cent. less than the quantity reported to Councils a short time ago as the expected maximum daily demand for the month of December.

The stock of coals on hand January 1, 1849, was 210,562 bushels; 531,937 bushels were purchased during the year. The quantity carbonised was 409,717 bushels, leaving a stock on hand January 1, 1850, of 332,782 bushels.

The stock of rosin on hand January 1, 1849, was 3357 barrels; the quantity purchased in 1849, was 7972 barrels. There were 8529 barrels used for the production of gas, leaving the stock on hand January 1, 1850, 2800 barrels.

The stock of coke on hand January 1, 1849, was 22,700 bushels; the quantity produced was 578,715 bushels. 380,006 bushels were used under the retorts; 7500 bushels were used in the offices, &c.; and 129,409 bushels were sold, leaving a stock of 84,500 bushels on hand January 1, 1850.

Owing to the depreciation in the stock of coals on hand January 1, 1849, arising from the spontaneous firing of them in 1848, the yield of gas has not been so great per bushel as in some previous years. The coal purchased in 1849 has, however, been of a very good quality, and as the injured coals are now nearly used, our working results for 1850 will probably reach the usual standard.

The Board has the pleasure of stating that a portion of the coals purchased in 1849 was brought from the mines in Allegheny county over the state commissioners have in the tariff of considerable reduction in the toll now probable that we shall be able to supply for 1850 from the mine.

The distribution of the gas has been owing down of the large supply in the usual extension of the lines of

From the detailed table appended it is perceived that 56,202 feet of pipe were laid in the year 1849; this makes, with the previous year, an aggregate of 475,025 feet, or

The number of applicants registered in 1849; there have been 1180 registered in 1850, making an increase in the number of

The whole number of customers registered in 1849, using 94,462 lights. The number registered in 1850, being an increase of 74, making the total number 5,958. In the districts, there are 1,000 public lights. In the District of the City and only a few public lamps are provided. The Commissioners of that district have arrangements for private customers to have at their own expense laid down pipes at the corner of Cedar and Ninth streets. The wellings are supplied at the expense of the customers residing in the city.

The whole number of lights now in use is 110,591.

During the year there has been a great increase in the number of lights supplied per new service. In 1849, the present being 17½. The number placed in the year 1850 is 110,591, an introduction of those of comparison.

The quantity of gas consumed in 1849, 10,713,200 cubic feet, in Southwestern Pennsylvania 195,800 cubic feet. In all the districts 13,231,800 cubic feet, of the whole quantity made.

Although every effort was made to complete the large main in the autumn and winter months, it was impracticable, in consequence of the tractors to deliver their pipes at the times required, to complete the connections with the ordinary conduits until the 9th day of November.

These delays, while they increased considerably the cost of the work, led to a full and satisfactory conviction that large channels for the flow of the gas had become absolutely necessary. Before the junctions could be made, the complaints of an insufficient supply of gas became very numerous. The inconvenience was felt by the Trustees as well as other citizens, and no effort was spared to apply the remedy promptly.

The consumption on the first week of November, 1849, averaged 462,000 cubic feet per diem: on the 9th, the line of the new supply mains was used for the first time, and the consumption immediately rose to 655,000 cubic feet.

The increase was sustained during the months of November and December, giving us a demand for 49 per cent. more in the former, and 40 per cent. more in the latter month, than we had in 1848 for the same months.

In order that the public might be prepared for this increase in the supply, and be enabled to take proper precautions against using a greater quantity than would be required for a well regulated and economical use of it, notice was given in the public papers of largest circulation, of the effect which might be anticipated from the use of the large mains, and suggesting the means to be used for controlling and lessening the flow of gas to the burners.

Should any customer find the quantity used by him to be beyond what he may deem economical, the officers of the establishment will, whenever requested, check the flow from the street mains to any required minimum.

No change has been made in the price during the year, the result of the business showing that not quite the sum authorized to be taken for enlargements from the profits, was realized.

Under the authority given by Councils, the wharf property immediately south of the bridge at High street, on Schuylkill, was purchased from Mr. William D. Lewis, for the sum of six thousand dollars. Thirty-seven hundred dollars, part of the purchase money, were paid at the time of the execution and delivery of the deed. The property, when purchased, was subject to a mortgage of twenty-three hundred dollars, which, as the purchase money was to be wholly discharged out of the profits of the works, was allowed to remain until the accounts for the year were discharged early in the present year, and will pass into the possession of the city branches.

The purchase of this property gives entire control of the whole river front, front streets, on the Schuylkill. Arranged early in the year 1849, to secure for the Works, a suitable portion of the wharf on High street, and for the lots originally since obtained, a rent of four thousand dollars now paid into the city treasury.

The improvements made on this wharf the year, have been the extension of the limits fixed by the wardens of the port, and the erection of the first three sections of These improvements give us the convenience of 20,000 square feet additional wharf surface for 150,000 bushels of coals. The coal stacks are brick buildings covered with slate, and it is completed them the present year.

The enlargements of the manufacturing apparatus reported as in progress last year, have been the beneficial effects anticipated from the apparatus have been realised, and the gas from the Works in unrivalled purity.

129,048 bushels of lime have been used of the gas. This lime is calcined on oyster-shells, and a new and large kiln is carrying on this process.

The first section of retort-house No. 2 is a proper apparatus, and it is proposed to complete the remaining section, and to have every thing for setting the retorts early next autumn.

The extraordinary repairs and renewals have been more extensive than were necessary when the last Annual Report was issued. When the last Annual Report was issued down the retort beds in the western section No. 1, it was discovered that the sustaining floor had been dislocated so much by the tractions caused by the great variations in the pressure by the repeated ordinary repairs of pipes that they require a thorough rebuilding of the whole foundations. This extensive reconstruction sary to remove the entire line of hydraulic main, and all the stand pipes and other fixtures connected therewith.

These changes enhanced the estimated cost of the repairs, but they have enabled us so to reconstruct the work and to improve the arrangement of the flues, &c., as to allow of changing the settings of the retorts and of experimenting upon the new and varied plans proposed by the Superintendent for economising fuel, and working up some of the residuary products of the manufacture which do not now find a ready sale.

It is contemplated within the present year to erect a new gas-holder of 140 feet in diameter and 70 feet in height, of the telescopic form, with its tank and dry-well, &c. This, as has been stated heretofore to Councils, will cost about as much as three of the size lately erected, and have a cubical content equal to five of them.

To complete the enclosure of the lots occupied by the Works, and to extend the lines of street mains and put in such services and meters as may be required by new customers, will, with the enlargements already noticed, be all that will probably be required to protect the property and to meet any reasonable increase in the business. The continuation of a large demand during the present month, and the applications daily registered, indicate, however, full employment for our new sections, as rapidly as they can be made ready for action, and approve the wisdom and liberality of the Councils in making the seasonable provision for them which has been granted to the Trustees by the Ordinance passed on the 10th instant.

Full statements of the accounts of the Trustees are hereto annexed, which show the receipts and expenditures, the profit and loss account, the general state of the assets and liabilities, and the amount and investments of the Sinking Fund, and the Contingent Fund, and the increase thereof during the year 1849.

The Committee on City

REPORT,

showing what they have had under consideration relative to rebuilding the Permanent B of the same for a railway—and also, the resolution of Councils to inquire into the expediency of terminating the rail-road on the western side of the river Schuylkill. That full authority is vested in the city, to alter, remodel, and rebuild the bridge so as to accommodate both rail-road and general travel, has been, in the opinion of the Committee, clearly demonstrated by the several acts of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

Ample assurances have already been given by Councils, that, whilst altering the bridge at great expense to the citizens of Philadelphia, for the purpose of adapting it to new modes of intercourse with the interior, resulting from iron roads, every precaution will be observed to insure to the public safety and facility, in a degree at least equal to what they now enjoy in the passage of the Schuylkill.

The investigations made by the Committee regarding the propriety of terminating the rail-road on the western side of the Schuylkill, and delivering goods at that point, or distributing from thence to the various parts of the city—have convinced them that such a remote terminus would be highly objectionable and inexpedient. Even if the depot for merchandize and passengers were located on the western side of the river, and no railway extended into the city—the increased business would require more space than is afforded by the present bridge.

Its structure is such, that the cartways could not, without rebuilding, be sufficiently enlarged, besides which the gradual, but advanced stage of decay of the principal bearing timbers will imperatively require renewal. The Committee, therefore, see no reason to justify a suspension of the contract to reconstruct the bridge, and lay the rail-road thereon, and along Market to Broad street, in fulfilment of our plighted faith to the Commonwealth. If the city should for a moment hesitate to extend the rail-road to the centre of business by the route deliberately chosen and adopted,—it will assuredly reach the Delaware by other avenues.

The opinion of the City Surveyor has been had on the proposition to construct the rail-road along High street on an elevated platform or arched-way, and is adverse thereto.

The Committee concurring in this opinion, do not apprehend any serious inconvenience to the public from the railway in so wide a street. The Committee also report, that it is not contemplated at this time to remove the western market houses, but to continue the railway on either side of them.

CITY SURVEYOR'S OFFICE,
23d February, 1850.

To A. S. ROBERTS, Esq.,

Chairman of Bridge Committee.

SIR,—In accordance with your request, I proceed to submit to the Committee my reasons why the elevated railway on High street is an objectionable means of transporting the trade of the great rail-road route to its points of destination within this city.

Passing by the unsightliness of such an object in the very centre of one of the finest thoroughfares we have, and one destined to become (through the operations of the great central communication) one of the most thronged in the Union; there are considerations of a mere business character, that should make us pause, arising from the probability, almost certainty, of a vast increase in the business of that part of High street west of Broad.

Persons owning property there would naturally turn their attention to the erection of depots for the forwarding business along a great portion of its route, they would ask for turn-outs from their various stores to the main channel of communication. How are these turn-outs to be arranged? Of course on a level with the road, reaching the second stories of the buildings. This subjects the street to multiform inconveniences.

The turn-out roads must be supported by at least one column or pillar between the main line and the warehouse which connects with it. For all practical purposes this pillar, or succession of pillars, reduces the ordinary travel road between the rails and the pavement one third, thus very sensibly blocking up what must be the main transport line of the great mass of products to and from their several points of destination in the city, and very seriously interfering with the vested rights of citizens in the use of the permanent bridge, by rendering its access unnecessarily difficult.

But even were all these considerations put aside, what is to become of that portion of the trade east of Broad street, where improvements are already made, and others still contemplated, in view of the anticipated route through High street. At Broad street the elevated railway must stop. How are the eastern forwarding houses to bring their goods to the level of the present road? Not, it is to be hoped, by an inclined plane in the very centre of Penn Square, after all the expense that is to be incurred to avoid all other planes upon the entire route.

Without this the trade east of Broad street must perish; and all the improvements connected with this line of business must be sacrificed.

I suppose, of course, it cannot be in contemplation to continue the elevated line east of Broad street, as the expense for damages, including the remodeling or removing of the market houses, would be of so enormous a character as to affright the boldest projector.

What, then, is the utility of the enormous increased expenditure of at least $130,000 to make the elevated way, presenting, as it certainly does, most serious disadvantages; when the level route only calls for an expenditure of $30,000.

Taken altogether, it appears to me, that there is no advantage to be gained by the proposed measure that could compensate a tithe of the inconveniences, delays and injuries that would accrue to the city and citizens by adopting the plan of an elevated road.

Very respectfully,

SAMUEL H. KNEASS,

City Surveyor.

APPENDIX No. XLV.

An Ordinance

Creating a Loan for the expense of altering, remodeling and renewing the Permanent Bridge over the Schuylkill at High street, and for laying iron rails over a portion of the said bridge, and continuing a rail-road in connection with the said rails.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That for the purpose of paying the expense of altering, remodeling and renewing the Permanent Bridge over the river Schuylkill at High street, and for procuring and laying iron rails over a portion of the said bridge, and of constructing and continuing a rail-road in connection with said rails along High street to Broad street—the Mayor is hereby authorized, under the direction of the Committee on Finance, to borrow on the credit of the City Corporation, at an interest not exceeding six per centum per annum, payable half yearly, on the first days of January and may be required for the said purchase the sum of one hundred certificates shall be issued in the way be convenient to the lender. Each certificate shall contain any fractional part of a dollar: the said loan to be repaid on the first day of January, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and one, and not before, unless the holders of said certificates; and the said certificates shall be transferable in like manner with the said loan.

SECT. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the sinking fund on the par value of the loan authorized by this Ordinance, shall be applied to the sinking Fund, out of the income of the said Corporation; and any premium on the said loan, shall likewise be paid into the sinking fund.

APPENDIX N

The Commissioners of the General Land Office referred the application of John L. Smith, of the City of Philadelphia, for the eastern portion of the lot, to cause the same to be surveyed.

REPORT

That a sufficient survey was made of the said lands, and it seems it inexpedient at this time to lease the said lands.

The Board of Commissioners assents to the same, as is in the annexed resolution.

REPORT,

That they have had under consideration the resolution of Select Council, passed the 28th of February, 1850, requiring the Committee to report an estimate of the cost of constructing a bridge across the river Schuylkill at High street, including the cost of a double track railway across the said bridge, and extending through High street to Broad street: also the probability of negotiating a sale of the lot belonging to the City in West Philadelphia.

In the investigation of the matters mentioned, the Committee called to their aid the able City Surveyor, Mr. Kneass, and as a result, they have come to the conclusion that a sum of one thousand dollars is the smallest sum that will cover the completion of the work; and it is proposed that in the estimate made, it is proposed to include the whole of the Southern Wing Wall of the bridge on the eastern side of the river, and also a portion of the Southern Wing Wall on the western side. It may become necessary to replace a portion of the wall, or less extensive, which of course would increase the expenditure—other contingencies may also be added more to the estimated cost of the work. In this kind, with all the lights your Committee can procure, they feel that it is impossible to give an accuracy of data, to enable them to make an approximate estimate. But your Committee are of opinion that a less sum than ninety-five thousand dollars will be inadequate.

Your Committee state that the work with Mr. John Rice, is progressing satisfactorily, and there be no delay in the delivery of material after the accident, the whole will be completed within the time specified in the contract.

With regard to a sale of the lot in West of the bridge, your Committee state that two or three parties are interested in it, and there is some probability of a sale, but not in such way as to make the proceeds available for the construction of the bridge and road.

The Committee report back the ordinance as amended.

REPORT,

That they have had under consideration a letter addressed to Councils by C. J. Ingersoll, Henry J. Williams and John Cadwalader, Esquires, attorneys "for a number of individuals specially interested in the Schuylkill Permanent Bridge," wherein they request Councils to take into consideration the propriety of suspending all operations in the matter of removing the present, and erecting a new bridge at High street, until the right of the City so to do is judicially determined; and desire them to unite in an effort to bring the suit commenced to a speedy determination.

In the absence of any mode being pointed out, to obtain such speedy determination, the Committee are at a loss to suggest one. They are informed, that in the usual course of judicial proceedings, a final hearing and determination of the right of the City to alter and remodel the Bridge, cannot be had within a period of at least six months.

They cannot advise a postponement of the work for that time; and, therefore, they recommend that Councils do not interfere to arrest it.

The Committee have directed the City Solicitor to appear and defend the suit commenced. They offer the annexed resolution.

An Ordinance

Making a temporary appropriation

Section 1. Be it ordained in Philadelphia, in Select and Common Council, that the sum of fourteen thousand dollars, the same is hereby appropriated to the Watering Committee, for the purpose of making a report, which sum shall form a part of the annual report of the Treasurer from the annual report for the year 1850.

APPENDIX I

MINORITY REPORT OF THE

of the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia, in relation to the Watering Committee report, and ask its adoption.

The undersigned, members of the Council, concur with a majority of the Council in the resolution made to Councils to raise the sum of $41,500, by the sale of city loan, received from the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, at a rate of tax at 58 cents on the value of the Real Estate, based on the last year—the sum of $41,500, which they are as much opposed to as the majority, but they consider it tax power to provide for any deficiency which may occur in making provision for the ordinary current expenses of the Corporation; the deficiency in the general appropriation bill, reported by the Finance Committee, is about $40,000, and in place of recommending a tax that would yield sufficient to provide for the deficiency, they propose to appropriate and sell $41,500 of certificates of city six per cent. loan, which were issued by virtue of An Ordinance, passed Nov. 12th, 1846, authorizing a subscription of $2,500,000 to the Capital Stock of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, and when the subscription was made by the city to the stock of said Company, a very stringent restriction bound the Company in regard to the payment of dividends, and is contained in the 10th section of the act incorporating the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, approved 13th April, 1846—the following is the section alluded to:

“That dividends of so much of the profits of said Company, as shall appear advisable to the Directors, shall be declared in the months of May and November, in each and every year, and be paid to the stockholders, or their legal representatives, on application at the office of said Company, at any time after the expiration of ten days from the time of declaring the same, but the said dividends shall in no case exceed the amount of the nett profits actually acquired by the Company, so that the Capital Stock shall never be impaired thereby, and if the said Directors shall make any dividend which shall impair the Capital Stock of the Company, the Directors consenting thereto, shall be liable in their individual capacities to the said Company for the amount of Capital Stock so divided, recoverable by action of debt, as in other cases, and each Director present when such dividend shall be declared, shall be considered as consenting thereto, unless he forthwith enter his protest on the minutes of the Board, and give public notice to the stockholders of the declaring of such dividend.”

The City, under this charter, made a subscription of two and a half millions of dollars, and under this charter had a guarantee that every dollar subscribed and paid to the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, would be expended in the construction of the road; but subsequent legislation was obtained, a Supplemental Act was passed, and approved on the 27th March, 1848, which authorized the Directors of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company to pay interest to the stockholders. The following is an extract of the act, and is contained in the Second Section of said act: "That the Directors of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company be, and are hereby authorized to pay to the shareholders entitled to receive the same, in the months of May and November, in each year, interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, on all instalments paid by them, which interest shall be charged to the cost of construction, and continue to pay the same until the said road shall be completed, and that until the period for which a dividend shall be declared, all the profits and earnings of said rail-road shall be credited to the cost of construction." The Directors, under the authority given, commenced the payment of interest in May, 1848, and have continued it up to the present time, thereby diminishing their capital to the extent of the interest paid out; after the passage of said act of Assembly authorizing the Directors to pay interest, and after the Directors of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company had determined to pay six per cent. interest to all the shareholders in the months of May and November, Councils, on the 8th of June, 1848, passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the Committee on Finance be directed to pay over to the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, on account of future instalments due on the stock held by the City, until the same is fully paid up, all sums allowed by said Company as interest on moneys paid in by the City on said stock."

The Rail-road Company has paid to the City, including the November interest, the sum of $108,266 45; in cash $166 45; in certificates of City six per cent. loan, $108,100; and of this sum, $41,500 is proposed to be sold, and the proceeds used for current City expenses, the balance having been cancelled by the authority given to the Finance Committee, under the following resolution, passed Councils February 15th, 1849:

"Resolved, That the Committee on Finance shall be authorized, until all instalments on the stock of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company are fully paid up, to receive all sums due the City from said Company, for interest on the six per cent. loan of the City at par, and that all certificates of loan so received, shall be cancelled by the Committee on Finance."

It is very evident from the action of Councils heretofore had on this subject, that the policy adopted by the Directors of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company in paying interest out of their capital, has not received much, if any, favor from the Select and Common Councils. If the Directors, in allowing interest, were prompted by a desire to do equal justice to all subscribers, that object could have been attained by giving each subscriber a credit for interest on the books of the Company, without parting with any of their capital; all their cash means could then have been appropriated to the early completion of the road. It is not our purpose to find fault with the management of the fiscal affairs of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, but it is our duty to prevent, as far as lies in our power, the adoption of any financial measure by Councils, which may (in our judgment) be prejudicial to the interest and credit of the city. That the use of any monies for current city expenses, paid to the city by the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, as interest out of their capital, whether paid in cash or returned certificates of city loan, would be prejudicial to the interest of the city, and calculated to impair her credit with capitalists, cannot be questioned.

The undersigned have thus briefly expressed their views upon this important subject, and will conclude by remarking that if the policy is continued, which has been adopted by Councils, to pay any cash which may be received from the Rail-road Company, on account of interest on future instalments, and cancel all certificates of city loan, which may be received on account of interest, the indebtedness of the city for her subscription to the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, can never exceed the actual amount expended in the construction of the road; but if that policy is abandoned, and the cash received from the Rail-road Company on account of interest, or if paid in certificates of six per cent. city loan, they sold, and the proceeds used for current city expenses, the city tax can be reduced to 40 cents on the $100 of the assessed valuation, and ample provision made for all the demands of the Standing Committees of Councils. By pursuing the latter policy, the actual indebtedness of the city for the rail-road, will be much larger than the amount expended in constructing the road, the difference will have been used by the city in the payment of the interest on the bonds issued to pay the subscription to the stock of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, which is borrowing to pay interest; such a policy, the undersigned believe, will not be approved of by a majority of our fellow-citizens. They, therefore, respectfully recommend to Councils to adhere to the financial policy which has governed them heretofore, and to levy a tax to meet all the necessary demands for the current expenses of the Corporation.

JOHN TRUCKS,
J. E. HAGERT.

February 14th, 1850.

APPENDIX No. LII.

The Board of Commissioners of the Girard Estate REPORT,

That the greatly increased amount of taxes for the year 1849, on the lands in the State of Louisiana, and in Schuylkill county, makes it necessary to ask for an additional appropriation.

The amount required for Schuylkill county is increased further this year in a revision of the assessments, whereby it has been ascertained that several tracts were not included in the lists of 1847 and 1848. A statement of the expenditures is annexed.

The Board also report that it is deemed advisable to put granite fronts in the first stories of two stores on Delaware Avenue above High street. They are about twenty-four feet front each, and have wide brick piers, with narrow and small windows, being erected for warehouses, but are now used for general wholesale and retail stores, requiring more light, and should be adapted to the change of business. The estimated cost of the improvement is $980: and if it be made, several hundred dollars additional rent can be had for the stores, thus increasing the annual income at least 20 per cent. on the amount to be expended.

The appropriation of this year for permanent improvements was for specific objects, and the foregoing was not embraced therein.

The form of a bill is annexed, of which the Board of Commissioners recommend the adoption by Councils.

College with water, and for purposes connected with the economy of the establishment," has been contracted for within the amount of the appropriation, although several improvements were made on the original design. The work has been commenced, and is in active course of construction.

The Committee recommend the early introduction of gas for lighting the College, the present means being exceedingly inefficient and expensive.

The large hot-air furnaces have proved unsatisfactory. They fail to heat the apartments either effectually or with economy. The attention of the Directors has been called to the subject, in view of their furnishing Councils with such information as may lead to a cheaper and more effectual plan of heating and ventilation.

An Ordinance

Relating to the Girard College for Orphans.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That the salary of the Recording Secretary and Librarian of the Girard College for Orphans, shall be one thousand dollars per annum, commencing on the first day of July, 1850, and payable quarterly, and that so much of any Ordinance as is hereby altered or supplied, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

Philadelphia, April 22, 1850.

GENTLEMEN,—I have learned with great pleasure, that it is the intention of some of the members of Councils to make an effort for increasing the compensation of Mr. H. W. Arey, Recording Secretary of the Girard College.

The duties performed by him are varied, and embrace a large amount of clerical work, which requires great clerical accuracy, and are rare to be found combined.

The time occupied by Mr. Roberts in performing these duties, necessarily precludes him from attending to his professional business, and his compensation should bear some relation to the value of his services.

Practically, he may be said to devote each business day to the College, and a sum of one thousand dollars per annum would be a fair remuneration for his services.

This would seem to me but a fair compensation for the personal character of Mr. Roberts, his courtesy, and strict fidelity to duty, would entitle him to much more.

It will afford me unsolicited pleasure to see the Councils, with whom I consider myself to be in sympathy, have concurred with the proposed movement.

Yours, very truly,

Pres.

MR. A. S. ROBERTS,

Chairman of Visiting Committee.

We concur in all the President's suggestions of the duties performed by Mr. Roberts, and the sacrifices he is required to make, and think a sum of one thousand dollars more than a fair remuneration.

We concur fully in the above.

SAMUEL

We concur in the opinion expressed by Frederick Fraley, President of the Board, that one thousand dollars would be a fair compensation for the services rendered by Henry W. Arey.

A. S. ROBERTS, Esq.

Dear Sir,—Having learned that a proposition will be made in Councils to increase the salary of Henry W. Arey, Esq., the Secretary of the Board of Directors, I take the liberty to express to yourself, personally, the high estimation in which I hold Mr. Arey's services, and my earnest desire that his compensation may correspond more nearly than at present with the amount of labor required of him. Frequent personal and official intercourse with the Secretary, enables me to speak in high terms of his courtesy, promptness, industry and fidelity. His method of keeping the accounts and records of the College, is admirable; but it requires more time than a person would imagine, who has not examined the system by which all the complicated details of the College business are reduced to perfect order, and intelligible simplicity.

Allow me to suggest that Mr. Arey is willing to discharge the duties of Librarian, in addition to those of Secretary, and that such an office is now necessary in the College. He is fully competent for that post, and its duties would occupy all the time now left him by his present office.

Very respectfully yours,
WILLIAM H. ALLEN.

APPENDIX No. LIX.

The Board of Commissioners of the Girard Estates

REPORT,

That they have had referred to them by Councils a communication from Messrs. Henry Paul Beck and Charles Frederick Beck, and one from Messrs. John R. Penrose and John Burton, which were presented to Councils at their meeting of the 25th April.

The communication of the Messrs. Beck represents that the necessity which exists for the cleansing of the docks adjoining their wharves below Spruce street and below Market street, induces them to call the attention of the city authorities to the subject, and requests the prompt action of Councils in the premises. They ask Councils to review their former action upon the subject: and refer to the papers submitted by them to Councils in March, 1847. They also urge upon Councils the duty of cleansing the docks, arising from the claim and exercise of jurisdiction by the Corporation over the river Delaware, as a public highway.

The communication of Messrs. Penrose and Burton, sets forth that the docks adjoining their wharves above Pine street, require immediate and through cleansing, so as to afford proper accommodation for vessels. They urge upon the consideration of Councils, the liability of the City for the misapplication of the income of Mr. Girard's will, properly applicable to the purpose of such cleansing: and represent that the City Corporation is liable to the performance of the duty of cleansing the docks, by reason of its claim and exercise of jurisdiction over the Delaware river as a public highway.

In both communications the parties inform Councils, that in the event of the City failing to do so, it is their intention to cause the docks referred to, to be cleansed, and hold the City responsible for the expense thereof.

In February, 1847, a memorial was presented to Councils by a number of individuals; owners, or otherwise interested in wharf property, representing that some of the docks on the Delaware front of the City, were so filled up and obstructed by the deposite of sediment of the river, and matter poured into them from drains and culverts, and the streets of the City, as to interfere with the accommodation for vessels: And "that by the Will of Mr. Girard, the sum of 500,000 dollars was bequeathed to the City, in trust for the purpose of completely cleaning and keeping clean, all the docks within the limits of the City, fronting on the Delaware:" and concluding with a prayer, that Councils pass an Ordinance to appropriate, annually, a certain sum out of the income of the said fund, to cleanse the docks.

In March, of the same year, Messrs. H. P. and Charles F. Beck presented to Councils a communication, wherein they set forth that the condition of the docks on the Delaware, between Spruce and Pine streets, required that they should be immediately cleansed: and that they had made arrangements for cleaning them, in full confidence of being reimbursed the amount they should expend therefor.

These communications were referred to the Committee on Public Highways, who, on the 4th May, reported adversely thereto.

Subsequently, the Messrs. Beck filed their bill in equity, wherein they charge, that the Corporation of the City of Philadelphia are bound by virtue of the Will of Mr. Girard, to appropriate the income, or so much thereof as may be necessary, arising from the sum of 500,000 dollars, bequeathed by him to them, "to completely clean, and keep clean, all the docks within the limits of the City, fronting on the Delaware," and pray the Court so to decree: and also to decree that the City reimburse them the amount which they have expended in cleansing and keeping clean their docks.

The City, in the answer to this bill, allege that it is not required by the Will of Mr. Girard, so to cleanse the docks: and it is not required or authorized so to appropriate any part of the income of the said fund: but that it is to be applied to other and different purposes.

This suit is now pending and undetermined, and the Board of Commissioners cannot advise Councils to act in the premises, until their duties and responsibilities, under the Will of Mr. Girard, are determined by the proper tribunal.

In regard to the allegation in the memorials referred to them, that the City Corporation, by reason of its claim and exercise of jurisdiction over the river Delaware as a public highway, has devolved upon it the duty of cleansing the docks; the Board are advised, that the Corporation neither claims, has, or exercises such jurisdiction over the river, as imposes upon it any such duty.

The Board, therefore, offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That they be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

APPENDIX No. LXI.

To the Select and Common Councils:

GENTLEMEN:—"The Trustees of the Ice Boat" respectfully submit their Twelfth Annual Report.

During the present year, the Trustees have had the necessary repairs done to the upper portion of the Boat and wheels, which time and means did not allow their perfecting the previous year. The heavy outside frame work under each engine, the plank sheers, and part of the frame work, both main guard pieces, main beams and king posts, have been renewed.

The wheels required a thorough repair, after the severe service of the preceding winter. An alteration was also made in the heaters, on a new principle, much more economical, and have been approved by the engineers. The machinery was also thoroughly overhauled and repaired.

The Boat was put in service on the night of the 27th of December, to go to the relief of the schooner Emily Weaver, ashore on the Ledge, which vessel she relieved, and saved vessel and cargo. From that time she was regularly employed in towing and relieving vessels in distress, until March 12th, when the ice had disappeared, and preparations were made for laying up the Boat.

Application having been made by Messrs. H. & A. Cope & Co., for the use of the Boat, to tow the ship Tuscarora, (which had been ashore on the coast, and then in the Breakwater,) to New York, Councils were petitioned, and permission granted to the Trustees to use the Boat for that purpose: she left the city, Henry Verden, captain, on the 16th of March, arrived at and laid in the Breakwater waiting for favorable weather, until the 21st, when she left with the ship and a schooner with coal, in tow, and arrived in New York on the 24th, encountering a brisk gale and heavy snow storm off the Highlands. After performing her contract, she remained at New York until the 30th, cleaning up and repairing boilers, when she left for and arrived at the Breakwater April 1st, laid there until the 4th, and arrived at the city same day.

During the season the Boat has towed, from and to port, eighty vessels, 25,803 tons, and has earned $11,138 03, of which $10,694 34 has been collected.

The Boat is now in good running order, and will require very little repairs to her this summer. She is lying at the wharf of the Camden and Amboy Company, at Camden, New Jersey, insured against fire, for $21,000, with the engineer and watchman on board, to keep the machinery and boat in proper preservation during the summer. Should Councils pass the Supplement to an Ordinance presented at their meeting of January 31, allowing the Boat to be put in service during the summer, and act in the bay and adjacent coast, she is now in condition to be made effective in a few hours, and circumstances may (as they have done) arise, when her services may be required, and save our citizens from serious loss.

Annexed, are accounts of the receipts and expenditures for the year, from May 15, 1849 to May 15, 1850, inclusive.

*Select and Common Councils:—The Committee on City Property
REPORT,

On the 31st January last, Common Council referred to the accompanying bill, which had been introduced into Council, entitled "A supplement to an Ordinance passed on the 1st day of March, 1837, entitled 'An Ordinance to secure uninterrupted navigation of the river Delaware by means of a Steam Ice Boat.'" The bill provides that the Trustees of the Ice Boat may allow the Ice Boat to be used during the winter months of the year, for the towing of vessels in the Delaware river and bay: and that upon any occasion of great peril to any ship or vessel, the Trustees may permit the Ice Boat to be used for the relief of such ship or vessel, and that the same may be needed in the Delaware river or on the adjacent coast.

In 1837, Councils provided the means for the construction of a vessel adapted to the purpose of "breaking up the ice in the river Delaware," and of "preserving the navigation of the river open throughout the year." The object of the towing of vessels was not one of the objects for which the vessel was to be constructed or employed. The Trustees of the boat were authorized to allow it and its crew, &c., to be employed to relieve from danger in the Delaware river or bay, or harbour, or port of Philadelphia, any ship or vessel requiring assistance: and authorized the Trustees to charge for such service.

In November 1839, Councils, by an Ordinance, repealed the Ordinance of 1837, as authorized the Trustees to employ the boat to relieve ships or vessels in danger; and authorized them "to charge and collect such rates of compensation for the services of the ice and tow boats under their management as they might deem best for the interests of the commerce of the port." Since the passage of this Ordinance the Ice Boat has been employed in breaking up the ice in the Delaware, and in towing vessels during the winter inance, passed the 2nd day of March, 1837, entitled "An Ordinance for the uninterrupted navigation of the river Delaware, by the use of the Ice Boat."

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, that it shall be lawful for the Trustees of the Ice Boat to use the said boat to be used at any seasons of the year for the towing of vessels in the river Delaware and bay, and they may charge therefor such rates of towage as they may deem proper for the interests of the commerce of this port. And upon the occasion of imminent peril to any ship or vessel, the said Trustees may permit the said boat to be used for the relief of the said ship or vessel, whether the same may be needed in the river or bay, or on the adjacent coast.

Commissioners of the Girard Estate respectfully REPORT:

In the year one thousand eight hundred and eleven, on the second of March, the President, Directors and Common Councils of the first Bank of the United States, executed certain trusts to Trustees, to close up the affairs of the Bank, the charter was about to expire, and contained no provision to continue its corporate functions for the purpose of settling up its affairs. In the year one thousand eight hundred and twelve, the Trustees sold to Mr. Girard the Bank House on Third street, and the dwelling house on Chestnut street, then in the occupancy of George Simpson, cashier, and now occupied by Mr. Oakford, as a store. The Trustees reserved in the Banking House, as appears by the Indenture, the room or chamber therein, called the Directors' room, the northern side or moiety of the banking room on the second floor, the room or apartment called the President's room, the vault adjoining it, and one large vault in the cellar of the dwelling before mentioned; that portion of the Bank House to be so held and used "until the affairs and business of the late Bank of the United States should be closed," and the dwelling to be then stood, by George Simpson, 'ness of the said late Bank of the

After the death of Mr. Simpson Joseph Roberts, who acted as cashier for the old Bank, and also cashier for Mr. Girard, then acting as cashier for the dwelling on Chestnut street. Du Girard, Mr. Roberts, then acting as cashier, was provided by Mr. C Third street, adjoining the Bank removed into, and occupied it. M as well for Mr. Girard as for the death, and was afterwards one of

At the time of his (Mr. Girard) death, eight hundred and thirty-one, or as the estate, having become entitled, an inquiry was instituted should not be paid by Mr. Robert Third street, then occupied by responsibility for rent, as the house was substituted by Mr. Girard in lieu of the dwelling on Chestnut street, and in consequence of his death, all claim for rent was dropped, and the one on Chestnut remained in the hands of the City and her tenants.

These relations continued to the year one thousand eight hundred and forty, when Mr. Girard voluntarily abandoned the dwelling. In the course of the same year, the Bank, Paschall Hollingsworth and Charles Oakford, an action of ejectment for the dwelling against Charles Oakford, the tenant, was brought, and a verdict was obtained against him. The proceedings are still pending on appeal to the Supreme Court.

The case was decided, it is believed, in favor of the Trustees of the old Bank, and the affairs and business of the Bank were continued within the terms of the agreement made with the Trustees of the old Bank.

It will be well to observe here, that in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-three, of whom Mr. McCall was then one of the members of the Councils, offering to hand over or to the City. This offer was not taken of the reasons, possibly the only one existing at the time, was the opinion that the City did not possess the requisites, under her charter, to accept the Trust, and perform the duties incident thereto.

The long continuance of this Trust, the offer of the Trust to surrender the Trust Funds, and the verdict in the case recently obtained, have called public attention to the subject, inasmuch as the continuance of the Trust, as the case now stands, must very materially affect the income which might be derived from the Banking House, and may possibly occasion the loss of all rent from the street house.

The Trust be still in a condition to enable the Trustees to make, upon the literal construction of the reservation or condition made in their favour, then it is a matter of some moment to expedite the settlement and closing up that Trust, so that it is believed may be done, so far at an early day as to make the real estate, already described, fully available and productive as a source of income applicable to the support of orphan children in the Girard College.

It is believed, that under the view taken by the Trustees of their rights in that real estate, with a continuance of the Trust, there would be a loss of income to the College, amounting to about five thousand dollars. This is much to be regretted under any circumstances, and most especially so in the present case, as the occupation by the Trustees of the Banking House and dwelling house is limited to the purposes of business only, and no possible increase can be made to the income of the Fund thereby. The premises cannot be rented by the Trustees, and the Banking House is used so very little by them, that it is a source of regret to every one acquainted with the circumstances.

In the late session of the Legislature, a law was passed, authorizing the City of Philadelphia, in a certain event, to act as trustee if it should be deemed proper by the Court to do so, and by the City authorities, to accept. A copy of the act is appended. Two other sections were also passed, a copy of which are also appended, having for their object to hasten the closing up of this Trust. It is presumed, that every one entitled to come in on the Fund, for unclaimed claims, has not done so, from a want of knowledge of their rights. No notice has ever been published, with the names of the acknowledged claimants; as this will now be done very shortly, under the directions of this act, it is believed, that the balance in the hands of the Trustees will

REPORT,

Common Council, on the 23d May, instant, referred to their consideration the following resolution, which was offered in that body, namely: "Resolved, That the Committee on City Property be directed to let at public auction, to be set up at a limited price, the Pier or Wharf located on the river Delaware, at Sassafras street, for a term not exceeding three years, to commence at the expiration of the present lease. And also that all wharves belonging to the City be put up, on the expiration of the present leases." The Committee are not aware of the operation of any such resolution, and are unable to state the reasons why the present mode of leasing the wharves belonging to the City should be changed. It is believed that the amount of rent received is, in most cases, a fair return for the value of the property. The rent demanded is always in comparison with that of neighboring property: in the opinion of the Committee, no injustice is suffered by individuals or the community in consequence of the existence of leasing the City Property. The Committee therefore recommend to Councils to negative the resolution referred.

CITY SURVEYOR'S OFFICE
Philadelphia, 11th April,

Having examined a plan, exhibiting the present former location of Schuylkill Third, George, Charles streets, in the District of Spring Garden, City property, it is my opinion, that the right to the small portion of property at the intersection of Charles streets, as vacated and marked C, on plan, is of no importance to be retained, as advantageous to the owners of adjoining property proposed of by the City.

City

Spring Garden, April

ALGERNON S. ROBERTS, Esq.

DEAR SIR—I send you a plot of the small piece about which I spoke to you yesterday, with a certificate, as you requested. It forms, as you see, no part of the original lot conveyed to the City, rests in them in virtue of the Act of Assembly which I enclose. It is a detached piece, of no value but of some importance to the adjoining property. A piece adjoining to the eastward, has been recently sold for $250, and is of more than four times the size large enough to build upon; and I think $75 an adequate compensation for this piece.

Will you have the goodness to bring the matter before the proper Committee, and I would be glad if you could secure the passage of the proper resolution of Councils authorizing the conveyance of all the right, title and interest of the City in the said lot, to Walter B. Dick.

I am yours, truly,

PHILIP M. I

APPENDIX No. LXXIX.
The Committee on City Property
REPORT,

That they have had under consideration the communication of the President of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, certain resolutions of the Board of Directors of the Company, in relation to the work at the Permanent Bridge, were referred by Councils; and take the occasion to state that the reconstruction and adaptation of the Permanent Bridge, at High street, to rail-way and common travel, is progressing as rapidly and energetically as the magnitude of the undertaking, and the necessary regard for public convenience, will permit, and the great interest dependent thereon, appear to demand. Your Committee are mindful of the importance of its speedy completion, in the interests of the City.

The matter and the manner of these communications to the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, to Councils and the public, have occasioned some surprise, and much regret, being very liable to misapprehension, and tending to provoke censure, most undeserved, on the charge of the work, as well the City authorities as the competent and responsible agents and contractors by them appointed and employed.

The Directors of the Rail-road Company are deserving of praise for their energy and activity; it would be far better that it should not be heralded to the public, in connection with a reflection, by themselves or other public servants, who are engaged with equal energy and activity in the public service, in a common undertaking for the public good.

Trusting, that hereafter, if information be desired by the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Rail-road Company, or comment be deemed necessary by them, that they will pursue a less objectionable mode of procedure.

Your Committee submit the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee be discharged from further consideration of the subject.

REPORT,

Resolution of Councils, passed the 15th instant, the Committee on City Property to enquire into the expediency of causing the City Surveyor to run the line on the western bank of the Schuylkill, agreeably to a resolution of Assembly, passed at their last session."

Resolution has been laid before the undersigned by the said Committee, and he hastens to reply.

Delay has occurred in the fulfilment of the above duty, on account of the very limited leisure afforded the Surveyor from his other engagements, and in some measure from the difficulties experienced in getting convened those interested for the line in the several districts. This has been found up to this period, to be a very considerable obstacle, and the only resource has been for the City to proceed on that portion of the line bounding the city, and naturally falling within its control.

Trusting, therefore, alone, to the discharge of his duty in accordance with the requirements of the law, the Surveyor has nearly completed the portion properly appertaining to him. Some further examinations have yet to be taken, and trivial examinations to which will enable him to make a report to the War-Councils in all the month of September, when such further examinations may be taken as those bodies may see fit to direct.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL H. KNEASS,

City Surveyor.

An Ordinance

To restore the name of William street.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Council of the City of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, that so much of an Ordinance entitled an Ordinance to change the name of certain streets, passed June 27, 1854, as for the changing the name of William street to Lee street, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

APPENDIX No. LXXXIII.

The Commissioners of Girard Estates respectfully REPORT,

That the City, as devisees of Mr. Girard, are owners of several lots or stores on the north side of Jones' street, west of Front street, which have a width of street way of only forty feet, while the remainder of the street is sixty feet wide.

The value of these stores would be greatly enhanced by widening Jones' street, from their eastern boundary to Front street.

An opportunity is now presented of effecting this purpose. The Board of Commissioners recommend the City to make the subscription of a sum necessary, with the aid of the aid of individuals, to effect this purpose. One store on the north side of Jones' street has been destroyed by fire, and the present owner is willing to give $10,000 for it, previous to rebuilding. It is a good ground requisite for widening the street east of Front street.

Girard property is far more valuable than any other and will be benefited by the widening of the street, and the Board are entirely confident that the income of the Girard property on Jones' street, will be increased much beyond the amount of the appropriation asked for.

The Board of Commissioners herewith submit the form of resolution and recommend its adoption.

APPENDIX No. LXXXVI.

The Commissioners of the Girard Estates respectfully
REPORT,

that the building recently authorized by Councils and erected on the Girard College premises, is nearly completed, and an appropriation is necessary to furnish it in an economical manner, for the purposes to which it is adapted.

Some modifications of the original plan, together with the extent and capacity of the building, will enable the Directors of the College, by a comparatively small expenditure, to enlarge the useful application of the structure beyond what had been anticipated.

By steam drying of the clothes, the large rooms on the second story may be appropriated to other uses, and by heating the building throughout, better than was contemplated, heating all the apartments with waste steam from the large boilers, a great deal of valuable space can be adapted to such additional purposes as the Directors may find expedient.

The Board has personally inspected the building, and approved the plan of furnishing the same. Both have received their approval, and the subjoined bill is consequently recommended.

The Directors of the College urge the importance of gas introduced into the buildings. The Commi-cur in the necessity of this improvement, not only is economy and comfort, but also the proper discipline institution. They, therefore, recommend the sub-early attention of Councils, and that the Board of prepare a careful estimate of the cost, with a state-the best method of lighting the College buildings with work be commenced within the ensuing month, it completed this season, and the College derive the e of gas light during that portion of the year in is most needed; but longer delay will prevent its ion during the approaching winter.

The Watering Committee respectfully report an Ordinance to fix the salary of the Messenger of the Watering Committee at five hundred dollars per annum.

From a consideration of the increase of business of the office, and the necessity of the messenger devoting his time and attention to its duties, the Committee think that his salary should bear a fair remuneration for such service.
The present salary is four hundred dollars; this was about ten years since, when the duties of the office were about half of those now required.

The Committee feel assured that Councils will agree with them in the conclusion, that this officer is not adequately remunerated for his services.

To the Select and Common Councils:

On the fourth day of December, 1845, the City Councils subscribed for fifty shares of "The Schuylkill Railroad," by passing the following resolution:

The undersigned, in pursuance of a resolution of the Directors of the Schuylkill Railroad Co., report to the Councils, that unconditional subscription of more than $20,000 has been made, and the first instalment paid—that on the 2d of July, 1849, letters patent were issued by the State of Pennsylvania, and the Company regularly organized by an election held July 19th, 1849. The Directors subsequently appointed Edwd. F. Gay engineer, who in pursuance of his duty, has made a careful examination of the Schuylkill river front, and reports, (see his report and map accompanying this.)

We, therefore, on behalf of the Schuylkill Railroad Co. respectfully request Councils to instruct the Committee on Public Highways to examine said report and map, and urge at the next meeting of Councils an approval thereof. It is very much desired by the Company, that there shall be no unnecessary delay, in consequence of their wish to complete the road by the time the navigation opens next spring. We are urged to do so, by many persons now engaged in business on the river, and others who are only awaiting its completion to remove to the Schuylkill front of the city.

GENTLEMEN,

It seems necessary, under existing circumstances, to increase the Night Police force, in the southwestern district. From my present information, I should judge an increase of ten men would be sufficient. I am not prepared to say whether so large a number will be necessary as a permanent arrangement.

I beg leave also to suggest to you the expediency of providing arms to be kept at the Station Houses—to be used under proper regulations, by the Day and Night Police, in cases of riots and armed resistance to the law. To make this measure effectual, however, it would be necessary to authorize the appointment of an officer to be charged with the especial duty of drilling and training the police in the proper use of the arms provided, and of taking the command under the superior authority, on such emergencies as are contemplated by the Act of Assembly, passed April 12th, 1845, for the better regulation of the Police of the City of Philadelphia, &c.

I have the honor to be

Your obedient servant,

JOEL JONES, Mayor, &c.

DOCUMENT B.

On motion the following, offered in Select Council by Mr. Waterman, was referred to Committee on Police :

Whereas, It is demanded by the character and peace of our City, for the reasons here set forth, that the Police of the City should be effectually empowered to suppress the gangs of armed persons infesting our suburbs, and often coming into the City proper with riotous intentions :

First.—Because the number of these persons and their habitual use of fire-arms and other deadly weapons, enable them to defy the approach of a civil force.

Second.—Because in frequent attempts to arrest them, the Police officers have been severely wounded, and their lives imminently endangered in the courageous performance of their duties.

Thirdly.—Because the officers thus disabled and deprived of the means of support for themselves or families, have a just claim on the public treasury, which is thus taxed to a considerable amount.

Fourthly.—Because the ultimate recourse to the Military to sustain the Police, is an additional and very large item of expense.

Fifthly.—Because this recourse (to the Military) never avails, until the rioters themselves are wearied with the work of outrage, and have destroyed life and property to the extent of their momentary determination.

Sixthly.—Because the system of calling upon the Military to suppress riots, is becoming so odious to that class of our citizens, that there is great reason to fear the Military will not hereafter be a reliable source.

Lastly.—Because the protection of our citizens, in the enjoyment of every right, incident to the civil compact, is the duty of their representatives, and to be fulfilled without regard to consequences, to any class of the community which systematically violates that compact.

Therefore Resolved, 1st, That the Police Committee be authorized and empowered to procure arms and ammunition to be placed in the Mayor's office, to be used under the direction of the Mayor, by the Day and Night Police, whenever called out to suppress riots.

Resolved, 2d, That the Mayor may, whenever in his opinion it shall be advisable, arm that portion of the Day and Night Police, placed on duty in the suburbs of the City.

Reference concurred in by Common Council, Nov. 8, 1849.

DOCUMENT C.

On motion, the following, offered by Mr. Thompson, was referred to the Committee on Police.

Resolved, That the Committee on Police be requested to inquire into the expediency of forming a bill, which shall have for its object the election by a general vote of the county, of a Chief of Police, whose duty shall be the special and efficient regulation of the entire Police of the County; and also the election of a Captain and Aid for the City Police, by a vote of the City proper; and a Captain and Aid for each district, by the vote of each of the respective districts. The Chief of Police to have the command and control of the Captains and Aids, as well as of the Police under them; and the Captains to have the command and control of their Aids, and of the Police force of each of their respective districts. The Captains to be responsible to the Chief for the condition and discipline of their respective forces. The Chief of Police to have examining and committing authority over persons arrested for offences within the limits of the county; and the captains at their respective stations to have examining and committing authority over persons arrested in their respective districts.

APPENDIX, No. VIII.

An Ordinance

To provide for the appointment of a Committee on the Gas Works.

SECT. 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That immediately upon the passage hereof, and annually thereafter, on the organization of Councils, there shall be appointed a Joint Standing Committee of two members of each Council, to be called the Committee on the Gas Works, the Chairman of which shall be a member of Common Council: the said Committee shall perform such duties as shall from time to time be assigned to them by Councils, and the members thereof shall be ex officio members of the Board of Trustees of the Gas Works.

APPENDIX, No. IX.

To the Select and Common Councils:

OFFICE OF THE PHILADA. GAS WORKS. }

GENTLEMEN,

I have been directed by the Trustees of the Phila. Gas Works to present to you, in anticipation of the Annual Report, a brief statement of the present condition, and probable state of the works on the first day of January next.

Under the authority given by the Ordinances of 1848 and 1849, the sum of one hundred and seventy thousand dollars has been borrowed: the first section of the second Retort house has been built, fitted with Retorts and other apparatus, and is now fully employed. A new purifying house and apparatus has been constructed; the large distributing mains have been procured and laid, and about seven miles of ordinary street mains have been put down. The wharf property south of the Permanent Bridge, has been improved, and commodious buildings for the storage of coal have been erected. Independently of the increased demand from the Districts of Spring Garden and Southwark, the increase of the lights supplied in the City is 16,121, and there are now applications on our books for the supply of about 2,000 lights more. The increase of the manufacture over that of 1848, has already exceeded twenty-four per cent., but the increase in the month of November, since the completion of the large mains this year, is forty-nine and a half per cent., which increase is mainly owing to the more perfect supply furnished through the mains. Judging by the experience of past years, there will probably be a daily demand on the works in the latter part of the month of December, for nearly 800,000 cubic feet of Gas; the consumption now, under full lighting, is about 650,000 cubic feet. Our productive ability will not average, with all our apparatus in usual working order, more than about 750,000 cubic feet. It is true that a greater production per retort than that has been obtained at our works, but then nearly all the retorts were new and every part of the apparatus in the most effective working condition, and supplied with the best gas making coals. To maintain the production at that point will require the doing of the ordinary repairs under the most unfavourable circumstances, such as the resetting of the retorts amidst a mass of red-hot surrounding brick work. It is exceedingly difficult to obtain workmen who are thus willing to expose themselves, and their refusal, or the occurrence of any extraordinary casualty in the retort beds or other apparatus would materially diminish our productive ability.

Our storage capacity in all the gasholders does not exceed 650,000 cubic feet, and from this and the foregoing statements it is evident that the demand upon the works is now nearly if not quite equal to their fair working capacity. It is therefore the duty of the Trustees, to bring the state of the works and the probable future, before the Councils, at the earliest moment, so that provision may be seasonably made for proper enlargements, or the official sanction of the corporation be given to the refusal of new applicants. The Trustees give it as their deliberate opinion that it will not be practicable to supply a greater number of customers than will probably be registered on the first of January, 1850, without considerable additions to the works. In order to meet the increase of demand in 1850, and to provide for the steady enlargement of it which may be expected in the two succeeding years, the Trustees think that it will be requisite,

Second. To increase the means of storing gas, by the erection of four Telescopic gasholders of the size recently put up, or by one of 140 feet diameter, which would contain as much as five of the former size, and cost but little more than three. If the one of large dimensions be put up, a large portion of the lot now appropriated for gasholders will be left for the storage of coke, rosin, pipes and other materials. That space would be wholly occupied by the erection of the four smaller ones. Considerations therefore of economy in money as well as the saving of space, decidedly recommend the erection of the largest size.

Third. To complete the coal stores south of High street, to extend the buildings for the preparation of lime for the purifiers and to enclose the premises.

In this way provision may be made for an increase of demand for the next three years of about twenty per cent. per annum, if the price of gas be continued at the present rate, and all the surplus profits be applied for new works in addition to the loan which we are about to ask you to authorize.

There is another difficulty under which the Trust has heretofore always labored, growing out of the necessity of purchasing our supplies of coal and other materials on credit. This undoubtedly enhances the cost of our gas, and to that extent diminishes our ability to enlarge the works. Provision should be made for an actual working capital of at least fifty thousand dollars, so as to enable the Trustees to make all purchases for cash.

Our engineer estimates the cost of what is now proposed as follows :

These make a total of two hundred thousand dollars if the large gasholder be adopted, or two hundred and twenty thousand dollars if the smaller ones be chosen ; and the Trustees respectfully suggest the passing of an Ordinance authorizing the needful sum to be borrowed and applied to the above named purposes as the money may be required. In order to secure the completion of the new work by the time it will be needed for the supply of an enlarged custom, the contracts ought to be made without delay. It will require nearly the whole of the next ten months to complete it, and if a delay of a month or two occurs it will not be available for use next autumn.

The disastrous consequences of a failure to supply the public and private lights dependent upon the works, can be so readily appreciated, that the Board deems it unnecessary to enlarge upon them, being assured that the Councils will either forthwith provide the means to guard against such an event, or authorize the Trustees to decline receiving new customers after the first day of January, 1850.

I have the honor to be,
Very respectfully,
F. FRALEY,
President.

December 6th, 1849.

APPENDIX, No. XIII.

To the Select and Common Councils:

The undersigned, a majority of the Committee on Police, to whom was referred the consideration of the following—

Whereas, By an Act of the Legislature passed the 12th day of April, 1845, the Superintendent of Police and the police force of the City of Philadelphia, are subject to the requisition of the High Sheriff, for the suppression of riots, and

Whereas, By an Ordinance passed the 19th day of June, 1845, the Mayor of the City, for the time being, is made Superintendent of Police, and

Whereas, The experiment of suppressing lawless bands of armed rioters with an unarmed police force, has been fully tried, and proved unsuccessful. And whereas, it is the duty of Councils to protect its police force by every means in its power, therefore

Resolved, That the Police Committee be directed to procure one hundred stand of arms, with ammunition, to be placed in the Station Houses, the Mayor's Office, or in some other suitable place, for the use of the City Police, under the immediate direction of the High Sheriff, or the Mayor, in his character of Superintendent of Police, whenever authorized by law to employ the same in the suppression of riots—

An Ordinance

To provide Fire-arms for the use of the Police.

SECT. 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That the Committee on Police be authorized to purchase one hundred stand of arms, with the necessary ammunition therefor, and cause the same to be deposited in the Mayor's office, under charge of the Mayor.

SECT. 2. The said arms shall be for the use of the Police, under the direction of the High Sheriff of the City and County, or of the Mayor in his character of Superintendent of Police.

SECT. 3. That the sum of _____ is hereby appropriated to the Committee on Police, for the purpose of carrying into effect this Ordinance.

APPENDIX, No. XIV.

To the Select and Common Councils :

The minority of the Committee on Police beg leave to submit the following reasons, which have induced them to dissent from the provisions of the bill, entitled "an Ordinance to provide Fire-arms for the use of the Police," reported to Councils by direction of the majority of that Committee.

First, Because they doubt the right of Councils, under existing laws, to put fire-arms in the hands of the City Police, to be used at the discretion of the Sheriff or Mayor.

Second, Because they believe, that such means of offence placed in the hands of the civil police, are unknown to this country, except in one or more of the Southern cities, where the habits of the people are derived from laws and customs entirely different from those which have prevailed in the Northern States.

Third, Because they believe it better to have resort in extreme cases, where fire-arms are required, to an organized military company, on whose discretion and firmness more reliance can be placed.

Fourth, Because having three hundred and fifteen men in the service of the city, the undersigned think that there are sufficient means under the control of the authorities, if properly used, to preserve the peace of the city, without having recourse to the questionable measure of placing in their hands "one hundred stand of arms and ammunition."

Fifth, Because the infractions of the peace are generally occasioned by persons residing in the adjoining districts, where they cannot be pursued by the armed City Police, unless under the direction of the Sheriff, whose posse would more properly consist of persons provided by, or connected with, the districts themselves.

Sixth, Because the efficiency of the police force is in great measure destroyed by the want of an active Superintendent. The duties of the Mayor as a magistrate, occupying much of the time, which would be better employed in directing and regulating the police, and employing means to prevent disturbances.

Seventh, Because there is a prospect of the establishment of a general police for the city and districts, distinct from their separate municipal governments; and the undersigned, therefore, consider it inexpedient to adopt, at this time, the provisions contained in the bill referred to, which the proposed change may render entirely unnecessary, and possibly injurious.

An Ordinance

Making an appropriation for Lighting Delaware Avenue with Gas.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia in Select and Common Councils assembled, That the sum of six hundred and fifty-eight dollars, together with the unexpended balance remaining to the credit of the appropriation for Lighting Delaware Avenue, amounting to the sum of five hundred and forty-two dollars, be, and the said sums, amounting together to twelve hundred dollars, are hereby appropriated, under the twenty-second item of the will of Stephen Girard, for the purpose of Lighting Delaware Avenue with Gas, and for fitting and repairs incident thereto, for the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty. The said appropriation to be paid by the Commissioners of the Girard Estates upon the requisitions of the Committee on Police. Provided, That the price to be paid for gas shall not exceed that paid for the public lamps in the streets of the City.

APPENDIX, No. XIX.

To the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia :

The Committee on Finance, to whom was referred a communication from the Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Works, asking for authority to borrow the sum of $200,000, to procure the means of extending the said works, and to furnish a cash capital for carrying on the same, respectfully report—

That they have had the subject referred to them under consideration, and, after having examined into the facts upon which the request is founded, the Committee have come to the conclusion that the plans of the Trustees are judicious, and should receive the sanction of Councils.

There can be no doubt, that unless the works are enlarged the Trustees must soon cease to take new customers. The latter step would be much to be lamented, because the City Corporation, from the manufacture and sale of gas, is gradually accumulating a fund sufficient to pay off the cost of the works, and thus obtaining a valuable property, free from incumbrance of any kind, which result will be accelerated by increasing the production and sale of the article. Besides which, as the existence of the City works practically prevents the erection of other establishments, it would be unjust to deprive our citizens who may desire the new introduction of gas into their buildings, from the privilege of consuming it.

The Committee would therefore ask leave to present the accompanying bill, and earnestly recommend its enactment by Councils.

All which is respectfully submitted.

SECT. 2. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the certificates to be issued to the lenders of the money so borrowed, shall bear an interest not exceeding six per centum per annum, payable half yearly on the first day of January and July, and be redeemable on the first day of January, Anno Domini eighteen hundred and seventy, and shall be in like form and transferable in like manner with the certificates of the other loans authorized for the purposes of said Gas Works.

APPENDIX, No. XXVII.

The Committee on Public Highways Report—

That on the 25th of October, 1849, Councils referred to them a communication from the Schuylkill Rail Road Company, relative to a subscription to the same, in accordance with a resolution of Councils, passed Dec. 4, 1845. The communication also submitted to Councils for their approval a plan of the location of said road.

On the 15th of April, 1845, an Act of Assembly was passed, authorizing the Governor, when 500 shares of stock of $100 per share should have been subscribed, and a payment of $5 on each share made, to incorporate a Company, to be styled "The Schuylkill Rail Road Company," which should have authority "to construct, lay down, establish, and put in operation a suitable rail road, with a single or double track, commencing at and connecting with the Philadelphia and Columbia Rail Road, at a point between the east side of Schuylkill Front street (continued) and the west side of Fairmount street, thence southwardly by the most convenient and practicable route, approaching as near to the Schuylkill river as the nature of the ground, the accommodation of trade and business, and other circumstances will reasonably admit, until it reaches South street, with the liberty of extension, if the Stockholders approve, from South street to the intersection of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Rail Road, at a point above Gray's Ferry:" and to make the necessary depots, and such turnouts, branches or lateral rail roads leading to and from the premises bordering on the road, and to and from the wharves and buildings on the eastern bank of the Schuylkill, as might be necessary or convenient to accommodate the trade or business connected therewith. In the prosecution of the work, and for the management and protection of the same, it is provided by the same act, that the Company is "to have all the rights, powers, and privileges, and be subject to all the restrictions, provisions, and penalties conferred and imposed upon the Northern Liberties and Penn Township Rail Road Company, by the act of 23d April, 1829."

The manner and place of forming the connection with the Philadelphia and Columbia Rail Road is to be approved by the Canal Commissioners, or an Engineer or Superintendent by them appointed for that purpose.

By reference to the act incorporating the N. L. and Penn Township R. R. Co., it appears, among other things, that the rail road thereby authorized to be made shall be constructed, in such manner, that no part of it, unless stationary power be employed, shall rise above two feet in every one hundred feet. That the road shall be so constructed as not to impede the free use and passage of any public street, which may cross or enter at the same: provided that the level of the rail road shall not be interrupted by such street.

The Schuylkill Rail Road Company, as appears by the act last referred to, are therefore required so to locate the rail road as not to interfere with the use and passage of any public street crossing the same: provided the level of the road shall not be interrupted by such street.

In Oct. and Nov., 1845, petitions were presented to Councils from residents, and persons engaged in business on the Schuylkill front of the City, asking Councils to authorize the construction of a rail road from the Columbia Rail Road, near Fairmount, along the western front of the City, and suggesting the propriety of the City subscribing for a portion of the stock: These petitions were referred to the Committee on Public Highways. That Committee on the 4th of December, 1845, made a report on the subjects so referred to them, wherein they state that they are "of opinion that the value of the public wharves, and other property belonging to the City on its western front, would be greatly enhanced by the proposed Rail Road, and that it would be right and proper that the subject should be encouraged by Councils;" and report a resolution to subscribe to the stock of the Company.

This resolution, after several amendments, was finally adopted by Councils on the 26th of March, 1846, in the following words:

"Resolved, That the City Treasurer be authorized to subscribe, on behalf of this Corporation, for fifty shares of stock in the Schuylkill Rail Road Company, when directed to do so by the Committee on Public Highways: provided that such direction shall not be given by said Committee until the plan and location and cost of such rail road be submitted to, and approved by Councils: and provided further, that twenty thousand dollars shall have been first subscribed by others."

On the 18th of March, 1846, a supplement to the act to incorporate the Company was passed by the Legislature, by which the original act was amended in such wise as to authorize the Governor to issue letters patent when two hundred shares of stock was subscribed, in lieu of five hundred, as required by the original act. It was further provided by this Supplement, "That the said rail road shall not be constructed within the corporate limits of the City of Philadelphia, until the location thereof is approved by the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia." The same act further provides : that the Company shall not have power to lay down any rail road in any of the streets, &c., of the District of Spring Garden, without first having obtained the consent of the Commissioners thereof.

Before the Company, therefore, can locate and lay down their road, they must obtain, 1st. The consent of the Canal Commissioners, or of an Engineer or Superintendent, appointed for that purpose, to the manner and place of forming the connection with the Philadelphia and Columbia Rail Road.

2d. The consent of the Commissioners of the District of Spring Garden, that the rail road may be laid in the streets, &c., in that District.

3d. The approbation of the Select and Common Councils of the location of the road within the corporate limits of the City of Philadelphia.

Before the Company can ask the subscription of the City to be made to the 50 shares of stock, they must submit to, and obtain the approval of Councils, to the plan and location and cost of the road : and also procure the subscription of twenty thousand dollars from other sources.

The consent of the Canal Commissioners has not yet been obtained "to the manner and place of forming the connection with the Columbia Rail Road," nor has it been asked. It is considered a matter of course, and can, without doubt, be obtained whenever applied for. Such consent being required by the Commonwealth to all connections with the public works, in order that the sufficiency of the turnout for its purposes may be ascertained.

The consent of the Commissioners of the District of Spring Garden has been given to the Rail Road Company for the purposes mentioned.

The Committee hereunto submit a plan, which will show the proposed location of the road in the City ; it has been approved by the Trustees of the Gas Works, to whom it was submitted by the Committee, because the road passes near to the works, and through a lot on the south side of Market street, upon which your Committee are informed it is desirable to erect some additional fixtures, necessary for the purposes of the Gas Works.

The Committee think the location of the road is obnoxious to as few objections as any rail road can be, in the streets of a large city.

They therefore submit a resolution approving of the location, which they recommend Councils to adopt.

The plan of the road, that is to say, the size and form of the rails, and of the superstructure, &c., is set forth in a letter from Edw. J. Gay to C. Johnson, Pres't. of the Company, and which is hereto annexed.

The subscription of twenty thousand dollars has been obtained: this is shown by the fact, that letters patent have issued, erecting the subscribers of two hundred and fourteen shares into a body corporate. The law authorizing the Governor to issue such letters patent, requiring that three of the Commissioners named in the act shall verify by affidavit, that at least two hundred shares of stock shall have been subscribed, and five dollars on each share paid thereon.

The estimate of the expense of road will appear in the letter of Mr. Gay, before referred to.

The Committee present an Ordinance to authorize the subscription, on the part of the City, to 50 shares of the Capital Stock of the Company, and making an appropriation therefor.

All of which is submitted,

Resolved, That the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia do hereby approve of the location of a rail road, to be constructed by the Schuylkill Rail Road Company, within the corporate limits of the City of Philadelphia, as the same is delineated on a plan herewith presented and annexed:—

The description of which is as follows, namely:—Commencing at the intersection of Vine and Washington street, thence crossing by a reverse curve a vacant lot eastwardly to Ashton street, thence southwardly along Ashton street to about one hundred feet south of High street, thence across a lot of ground belonging to the City of Philadelphia to Beech street, thence southward to the north side of Walnut street, thence southwestwardly along the heads of the wharves on the Schuylkill front of the City to Cedar street.

An Ordinance

To authorize a subscription, on the part of the City, to the Capital Stock of the Schuylkill Rail Road Company, and to make an appropriation to pay the instalments thereon.

SECT. 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That the Mayor of the City be, and he is hereby authorized to subscribe, in the name of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of Philadelphia, for fifty shares in the Capital Stock of the Schuylkill Rail Road Company; being the same subscription that was directed to be made upon certain conditions by a resolution of Councils, passed on the 26th March, 1845.

SECT. 2. That the sum of five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated to the Committee on Public Highways, for the purpose of paying the respective instalments on said shares of stock, as the same may become due and payable, according to the provisions of the act incorporating the said Rail Road Company.

To the Committee of Councils on Public Highways.

The location of a Rail Road along the eastern bank of the Schuylkill river, received the attention of Councils, and was favorably reported by a Committee, as early as December 24th, 1829, as follows :

The Resolution was “unanimously adopted.”

On the 4th of December, 1845, a Committee of Councils reported, “ That they have deliberately considered the subject (of the Schuylkill Rail Road,) and are of opinion that the value of the public wharves and other property belonging to the City, on its western front, would be greatly enhanced by the proposed rail road, and that it would be right and proper, that the project should be encouraged by Councils. They therefore recommend a subscription to the stock of the proposed Company, of five thousand dollars, and herewith submit a resolution to that effect.”

The resolution was adopted, with slight alteration.

Thus encouraged and supported by Councils, the Company procured further subscription from individuals, and on the completion of the number of shares, and having complied with all other requisitions of the law, they obtained letters patent and organized the Company.

The report of their Engineer, Edward F. Gay, containing the location, plan, and estimate of cost, accompanies this. It is approved by the Company, and all other persons interested in the road, to whom it has been shown. It is believed to be the best, and probably the only practicable route, if we consult the interest of the Gas Company and the proposed Market street rail road.

In addition to the above-mentioned proceedings, showing that the subject was introduced as early as 1829, and entertained in the most favorable manner as late as 1845, we inform the Committee that we have regularly communicated with many members of Councils, and are not aware of change in the views of any person who is interested or informed on the subject ; on the contrary, there is almost daily inquiry made as to the progress of the enterprize, and we are much urged to complete the work.

Although we do not consider the Committee on Public Highways charged with an investigation of the merits of the proposed rail road, but merely, with an examination of "the location, plan, and estimate of cost," and the correctness of our allegation, that all the requisitions of the act of incorporation have been complied with, we invite their attention to the following facts, that induce us confidently to believe, our proposed rail road will very much enhance the value of the western front of the city, and that the investment will realize a large direct interest to the city.

Previous to the business of the Schuylkill river being diverted from it by the Reading, Willow street, and Southwark rail roads, the annual rental of the city wharf property on the Schuylkill, was seven thousand one hundred and twenty-five dollars ; since then most of it has been idle ; and now, when the increase of the business of the city is almost beyond control, the same property only rents for one thousand nine hundred dollars, a difference of more than twenty-five per cent. on the whole cost of the road, and more than one hundred per cent. on the city subscription. We have not sufficient data to estimate accurately the licensed City Tax on the Schuylkill, but we are convinced, beyond a doubt, that this item alone would amount to more than twenty-five per cent. on the city subscription.

Private interest has suffered in greater proportion. An estimate would include a history of each property on the river. It is sorrowfully depicted by the grass-covered wharves, the vacated and dilapidated buildings and the sheriff's handbills—they tell a tale that can not be misinterpreted by interest or ignorance. These items will afford data for a full account. The three properties alluded to, at one time rented for eight thousand three hundred dollars, they now rent for one thousand two hundred dollars.

The only question of doubt, that we can imagine, relative to the proposed improvement is, will the Schuylkill Rail Road bring back the lost trade? We answer,—Was not the trade lost to the Schuylkill by the terminus of the Reading, Willow street, and Southwark roads, and does not the Schuylkill offer the best outlet for the anticipated business of the Central Rail Road that can be found in the City or County of Philadelphia? Are not our Delaware wharves groaning under their increasing burdens? and can any Eastern commercial house, or produce forwarding house, find wharf room between Vine and South streets, without a detention to shipping that is loudly protested against by the owners of coasting vessels.

We conclude with the following commendation of our enterprize.

Edward Miller, Civil Engineer, writes: "Such a road must increase the value of property on its route; the Willow street and Southwark roads, only touch single water communications, while the Schuylkill Rail Road will traverse an entire harbor. The coal yards of Broad and Willow street, will be removed to the Schuylkill, where alone they can enjoy the full advantage of connection with the Schuylkill Canal and the Reading Rail Road."

S. W. Roberts, Civil Engineer, writes, (among many other favorable arguments): "When the Central Rail Road is made, which will bind together the two ends of the State, and connect Philadelphia by unbroken line with the Ohio river, and the great west, the necessity of an additional number of branch roads about the City, must be apparent to all. I believe the Schuylkill Rail Road will more than repay its cost, but it is when viewed as part of a system of metropolitan improvements, that its importance to the public at large is seen in its strongest light."

Very respectfully,

CALEB JOHNSON,

Presdt. of the Schuylkill Rail Road Co.

Phila., Nov. 5, 1849.

C. JOHNSON, Esq., PRESIDENT. SCHUYLKILL RAIL ROAD CO.

SIR :—The plan of Railway proposed, consists of the H rail, weighing 50 lbs. per lineal yard, secured to longitudinal string pieces, five by six inches square, which rest on cross sills three by ten inches square, laid four feet apart. In the streets the pavement to be laid flush with the top of the rails on the outside, and on the inner side to be one inch and a half below it. This form of track for streets, has, in other cities been found the least objectionable of any of the various plans in use ; and I am of opinion that it will be found much the cheapest, and best, in the end, as it is simple in form, easily constructed, and can be repaired with as little difficulty as any other.

The route of the Railway as proposed, will be seen by reference to the accompanying plan.

The following is an estimate of its cost.

1½ miles superstructure, @ $7.200 per mile,	$10,800 00
10,000 Cubic yards, excavation and embankment, @ 15 cts.,	1,500 00
2,600 “ “ gravel ballast, @ 20 cts.,	520 00
6,000 Square “ paving, @ 25 cts.,	1,500 00
1,000 “ “ do. @ 50 cts.,	500 00
Materials and work at 19 street crossings,	950 00
Turn-out castings, laying, &c.,	503 00
Raising and altering grade in Beech street, estimated, @	1,000 00
	$17,273 00
Contingent and unforeseen expenses 10 per cent.,	1,727 00
	<hr/>

The above estimate may be changed in some of its items, but, in the aggregate, is believed to be sufficient to finish the road in a workmanlike manner.

Should the work be placed under contract during the present Fall, it can readily be completed early in the ensuing Spring.

Yours, very respectfully,

* A connection in Market street not included in the estimate.

To the Select and Common Councils :

The Committee on Legacies and Trusts have had referred to them a petition from the members of the Schuylkill Hose Company, praying that so much of the annual appropriation usually made to them by Councils as has been withheld may be paid, and report thereupon, That in July last an appropriation was made, by the Committee, to this Company of one hundred and fifty dollars; this was before the events occurred which are mentioned in the petition of the Company, but was not paid in consequence of the absence of the Clerk of the Committee from the City.

The Committee are of opinion that this accident of the absence of the clerk, should not deprive the Company of what has been heretofore allowed them : and have therefore directed their chairman to ask Councils that the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars be appropriated to their use in the annual appropriation bill, and submit a resolution to that effect.

The financial condition of the Corporation, it is believed, will fully realize the expectations entertained the past year in regard to it.

A total of - - - -	-	$4,312,784 44

Which may properly be considered as the amount of the City debt on the 1st of January, 1851. To meet this indebtedness, besides the annual appropriations to the Sinking Fund, the City Corporation will own Fifty Thousand shares of the capital stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, not embraced in the items of City Property reported as yielding an income—various pieces of unimproved real estate yielding little or no income—and between twenty and thirty acres of real estate in West Philadelphia now yielding a gross income of only $537 50, and but little net revenue, which it is believed is worth about $100,000.

There has been received from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for interest on stock, the sum of $108,100 00 in City Loan at par.

If this amount the sum of - - - - 66,600 00 has been cancelled; and Councils having directed that the balance, $41,500, should not be cancelled, this amount is held subject to the disposition of the corporation, and is included among the available means of the City for the current year.

A sale of the shares of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's stock now held or to be subscribed for by the City at their present price, would reduce the estimated City debt $2,000,000.

The City has during the past year paid off a debt which then fell due, of - - - -	$100,000 00
And cancelled of the Railroad Loan, returned to it by that Company as interest, - -	66,600 00
	<hr/>
Amount carried forward,	$166,600 00

Amount brought forward,	$166,600 00
And will cancel in like manner during the present year, about - - - - -	115,000 00
<hr/>
Making a total reduction, during the years 1849 and 1850, independently of the $41,500 of Railroad Loan retained uncanceled, of -	$281,600 00

It is to be regretted that any new debt beyond that to meet the Railroad subscription, has been incurred, but the necessity of furnishing an ample supply of water, made it incumbent on the Corporation to borrow for that purpose, - $166,000 00
 And the like necessity of connecting the City Railroad with the extension of the Columbia Railroad at West Philadelphia, will require a further Loan of about - - - - - 100,000 00

Both, however, of these new Loans are included in the sum total of the probable City debt before given in this report.

The Schedule of City Loans hereto annexed, will show the respective dates of their maturities. The only Loan falling due this year is part of that created in 1827, amounting to $40,000, and which will be payable the 1st of next July; to meet which payment, besides the sum of $500 of that Loan held by the Sinking Fund, there is now a cash balance in the City Treasury to the credit of the Sinking Fund of $65,857 16.

Having thus exhibited the permanent financial condition of the Corporation, we proceed to examine the state of the treasury in regard to its current or yearly expenditures and receipts, and we desire to explain them more fully than we have done at the commencement of this report. It will be perceived by referring to our estimates there given, that during the present year the City property will yield a revenue as follows :

Water Rents, - - - - -	$123,000 00
Market Rents, - - - - -	35,000 00
Rents of Wharves, Stores, &c., belonging to the Corporation, - - - - -	32,858 80
Tobacco Warehouse, for charges for receiving and sampling, &c., tobacco, - - - - -	10,000 00
Contingent Moneys, - - - - -	5,000 00
	$205,858 80

This will be found to be an increase of $16,738 80 over the estimated receipts from these sources for the past year, and about $2000 less than was then actually received. It is not probable that our estimates for this year will bear a less proportion to our actual receipts, than our estimates for the past year did to the actual receipts during that time. It is indispensably required by prudence to place the sums to be received from these sources at the lowest possible amount to which they can fall, and the item of rents of the wharves, stores, &c., belonging to the City is the only one among those now referred to, which can be accurately computed before they are collected.

By referring to our estimates, it will be perceived that we compute the amount to be required this year for the payment of interest on the City Loans, at about $240,000 and it will hence be perceived that by the increased City debt incurred to meet the payment of the City's subscription to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, there will be this year less revenue from the City property, if the interest on the Pennsylvania Railroad stock is excluded, than the amount of the interest on its Loans, which the Corporation will be this year required to pay.

The rise of rents during the next year under certain existing leases of City property, and the probable ground rent to be then received from the West Philadelphia property, will increase the annual revenue of the Corporation, it is believed, about $6000; and the tolls to be collected from the use of the City Railroad now in the course of construction, to connect the new extension of the Columbia Railroad at West Philadelphia with the present City Railroad at Broad and Market streets, will, it cannot be doubted, return an income of considerable amount. The only other item of anticipated income from Corporation property during the next year, will be dividends from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which will before then be completed (as its Directors inform us) to the eastern terminus of the Allegheny Portage. Should this road, entirely free from debt, only earn 3 per cent. a year on its capital, the City will receive from it a yearly revenue of $75,000, one-half of which, or yearly dividends of only 1½ per cent. on that Company's capital, will almost suffice to make the City's property income equal to the whole of the annual interest on its debt.

This brings us to the question of the propriety of using the sum of $41,500 of uncanceled Railroad Loan now held by the Corporation, and which has been before referred to in this report. An examination of the Interest Account appended to the last Annual Report of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, will show that they have paid out for interest less than $75,000 beyond what they have received for interest and as net profits. The City owns less than half of the stock of that Company; and if we assume that the Corporation owns one-half of it, it will follow that the City's share of the capital of that Company has been diminished by their payment of interest on stock, $37,500; while we have already cancelled, as sunk, nearly double that sum, and we will cancel in the same manner, during the present year, an additional amount of say $115,000, being almost treble the same sum. In point of integrity, then, it is clear that the creditors of the City cannot complain of the use of the small sum paid to us by the Railroad Company, now under consideration, as this Company held and employed the money received from the Corporation, before using it on their works, long enough to realize an interest much more than the amount in question. It is needless to refer to the legislation of the State, which partly produced this result, or to examine minutely the exact causes which led to it—the actual earning of the interest being the only matter which ought to concern us for the present purpose.

Nor can, as we submit, any questions of expediency prevent us from adopting the proposed measure, the only argument which, we have believed, could be suggested on this head, being that the earning was from a temporary source, and that we should not base a financial course on any temporary revenue; but this admits of the easy answer that the earnings of the Railroad Company during the present year, from the actual use of its road and machinery, cannot be estimated at so low a sum as not to produce, as the share of the City from those earnings, considering the Corporation as a partner with the other stockholders, a sum greater than the amount of the uncanceled Loan in question;—and yet the whole sum to be received by the Corporation during the current year from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, will be paid in City Loan at par, and will be cancelled. Besides all which, if our estimates should prove to be as correct as those of the Finance Committee have heretofore been, the greater part of the sum of $41,500 will be a surplus, and will not be used unless some extraordinary expenditures should be made by the Corporation during the current year.

The condition of the Sinking Fund has already been incidentally noticed. Its precise state will be found detailed in one of the Statements which accompany this report.

to the credit of the Fund on the 1st of January, 1851, in cash and investments;—so that in the preceding two years this Fund will have paid off $140,000 of the City debt, and increased over and above that sum, $46,423 30.

It will not be necessary in this report to explain in detail all the Receipts and Expenditures of the City Corporation; they will be found by any of our citizens, in minute detail, in the reports of the receiving and disbursing officers of the Corporation; but the Committee have judged it expedient to annex hereto some Tabular Statements, presenting a condensed view of all the fiscal operations of the City.

As the administration of the Corporation is honest and economical, its officers invite the scrutiny of the citizens at large to their acts;—and if we can establish the precedent of a year exhibition of the administration of our municipal government, to be yearly presented to the public, it is believed that the practice will create a useful check upon careless or unfaithful representatives, if any such should hereafter be elected.

By an examination of the table of the cash payments made by the City Treasurer for the past ten years, it will be found that the increase of expenditures between those periods, will be accounted for by the items of expenditure by the Watering, Police, Highways, and City Property Committees. The first named Committee purchased the last year about twelve acres of the highest ground in the immediate vicinity of the town, as the site of a new reservoir, which when constructed, will not only raise the head of water supplied to the City, but afford with the present reservoirs, storage for nearly a week's consumption, enabling the Superintendent to stop the water pumps at times of freshets, when the water is muddy and perhaps unwholesome.

The Police expenditure has been increased, as it is well known, by more than doubling the number of the City police officers. The Highways Committee has augmented its expenditures by greatly increasing the City sewerage and extending the street pavements; and lastly, the Committee on City Property have for some years made considerable outlays of money in permanent improvements of the Corporation real estate, yielding large annual returns of money.

For more distinctness, it is proper to add that our report omits any reference to the City Gas Loans, as the Gas Works and its finances are managed by an independent board of trustees. It is sufficient to say, that the Corporation owns in those works a property worth $500,000 above the amount of the outstanding Gas Loans, and that large additions are yearly made to the separate Sinking Fund of the works, from their net profits. The details of their management and financial condition will be found in the annual report of the trustees of the works.

The Committee annex hereto a tabular statement of the net sum yearly raised by the City taxation for the past ten years.

The Committee propose, besides the usual personal tax, an assessment at the rate of Fifty-eight cents on the One Hundred Dollars on the valuation of the real estate in the City—the same rate as the past year, but yielding an increased sum from the intervention of the triennial assessment, and the consequent increase in the value of the real estate within the Corporation limits.

The Committee report herewith a bill making the annual appropriation for the different items of the City's annual expenditure, and providing the money for meeting the same.

CHARLES A. POULSON, ESQ.,

Chairman Committee on Police,

DEAR SIR :—I have read the application of the Managers of the Rosine Association to Councils for the passage of an Ordinance to prohibit “the vending of small articles through the streets by children,” if such a practice is not forbidden by existing laws; and if such laws do exist, then to cause them to be enforced. Councils have no authority to pass such a by-law as is applied for. There is no law of the Commonwealth specifically against such vending by children. In many cases such selling is doubtless without the license required by Act of Assembly; in some cases the law against vagrancy may be invoked, and in others a commitment to the House of Refuge may put a period to the practice—but the enforcement of these laws belong to the magistracy; Councils have no right to direct, and possibly may not be sufficiently informed in the premises to advise. Yours truly, EDW. OLMPSTED, City Solicitor.

March 25th, 1850.

Resolved, That the Committee be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

An Ordinance

Relating to Water street.

SECT. 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That the Committee on Public Highways be, and they are hereby authorised and required to pay to Daniel Barr the sum of nine hundred and ten dollars, which amount he has agreed to accept as compensation for injury done to his property situate on the west side of Water street, commencing at the distance of nineteen feet eleven inches more or less from the north side of Sassafras street, and extending in front on said Water street northward nineteen feet nine inches by taking a portion thereof from the front on Water street, by the laying out of Water street anew.

Kneass, Principal City Surveyor and Regulator, dated the 28th day of March, A. D. eighteen hundred and fifty.

APPENDIX, No. XLII.

To the Select and Common Councils :

The Committee on Police respectfully submit the annexed draft of an Ordinance, changing, in part, the method of measuring and estimating the amount and cost of gas consumed in the public lamps ; and recommend its adoption by Councils ;

Because, such an arrangement will enable your Committee to ascertain and estimate with more certainty than heretofore, the probable amount of the cost of gas during a year, and thus supercede, it is hoped, the unpleasant necessity by which they were impelled to exceed the amount appropriated to their use at the close of the last year.

To the Select and Common Councils:

The Committee on Police, to whom was referred the memorial of several citizens, complaining “of a board-yard recently established on Schuylkill Eighth street, near Walnut street, as a nuisance;” and asking “that some action may be taken, if within the power of Councils, to remove such objects of danger to the property of their fellow-citizens”—

Respectfully Report :—

That the existence of board-yards within the city, does not appear to be inconsistent with any existing law of this Commonwealth ; and therefore your Committee are of opinion, that Councils have no power to interfere in the matter complained of by your memorialists.

Your Committee ask the adoption of the resolution annexed.

Resolved, That the Committee on Police be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

APPENDIX, No. XLV.

The Committee on Police, to whom was referred the memorial of a number of citizens, residents and owners of property, or doing business in the city proper, west of Schuylkill Second street, asking “ the protection of Councils for their lives and property, from the infractions of law by gangs of young men and boys who infest the western portion of the city,” and “ complaining of the conduct of the Police, whose visits beyond Schuylkill Front street are so rare, that for many hours during the night an officer can not be found beyond that line ;”—and further, “ that application has been made frequently to his Honor the Mayor, to protect them and their property from the depredations of those outlaws, thus far without effect”—And, who are also by resolution “ instructed to inquire into the abuses complained of, and report to Councils such measures as they may deem necessary to correct the same”—

Respectfully Report :

That having carefully examined and considered the important matters referred to them, it is deemed proper in the first place to call the attention of Councils to the following statements, which are intended to show the increase of the number of men employed as Police to preserve the peace of the city.

Previous to the passage of the Ordinance on the 16th of March, 1848, increasing the Police force, that force consisted of one hundred and seventy-seven men, viz :

- 1 Lieutenant of Police.
- 1 Second Lieutenant of do.
- 2 Special Constables.
- 4 High Constables.
- 11 Day Policemen.
- 1 Captain of Night Police.
- 1 Lieutenant of do.
- 26 Night Policemen.
- 4 Captains of Nightly Watch.
- 126 Nightly Watchmen.

177 Men in all.

Under the provisions of the Ordinance of the 16th of March, 1848, the following were appointed, and are at this time under the control of the Mayor, viz : three hundred and eleven men, as follows :

- 1 Lieutenant of Police.
- 1 Second Lieutenant of do.
- 2 Special Constables.
- 4 High Constables.
- 34 Day Policemen.
- 4 Captains Night Police.
- 4 Lieutenants do.
- 200 Night Policemen.

250.

In addition to this number, it is provided that the services of the lamplighters and their superintendents, may be employed by the Mayor, "for the preservation of the peace in all cases of emergency," viz :

- 4 Superintendent Lamplighters.
- 57 Lamplighters.

Which gives, as above stated, the total number of three hundred and eleven men.

From these statements, it will also be perceived that there has been an increase of one hundred and thirty-four men, since the time referred to ; and your Committee are of opinion that the aggregate number at this time, is sufficient to prevent or remove the causes of complaint.

Your Committee are further of opinion—and they are sustained by knowledge and experience in asserting,—that even a less number of men might suffice, provided they possessed the requisite qualifications; amongst which vigilance and activity are foremost; and were they induced by the controlling influence of a prompt and energetic superintendence, to feel and act in accordance with the great responsibilities they have assumed. Indeed, without such qualities and supervision, and a due sense of such obligations as a part of its organization, there can be no permanent usefulness in any police system—it would be vain to hope it.

The suggestions of experience teach also, that to increase the number of men, is not the most effectual means of augmenting the utility of the police. And it is believed, should Councils be induced, however, to accede to such a proposition,—in the present relaxed state of discipline among these guardians of the welfare of the community,—they would not only be liable to fail in the purpose of amendment, and thereby subject the people to a heavier burthen of taxes, but multiply the number of loungers at the corners of the streets, and other reprehensible rendezvous.

It is from such considerations your Committee are induced to conclude,—the legislative power of the Commonwealth, and of Councils, having provided the means of upholding the maintenance of good order, and for the suppression of vice and immorality within our bounds,—that further responsibility rests where the executive power has been confided, with which it is deemed inexpedient to interfere, unless through an application to the Legislature of the State for means to procure more certainly the salutary ends desired.

Your Committee therefore beg leave to offer the resolution annexed, and respectfully ask that it may be adopted by Councils.

OFFICE OF THE PENNSYLVANIA RAIL ROAD CO.

THOMAS SNOWDEN, ESQ., PRESIDENT.

DEAR SIR—May I ask the favor of you to lay before Common Council the enclosed resolutions, which were unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Board of Directors of this Company, held this evening.

With the hope that such action will be taken in the premises, as may be deemed by the body over which you preside, best calculated to secure to the City, at the earliest practicable period, the benefits of the proposed connection, I have the honour to remain,

Very respfy. yr. obt. svt.

W. C. PATTERSON, President.

OFFICE, PENNSYLVANIA RAIL ROAD CO.
Philadelphia, June 26th, 1850.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held this day, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That the President be instructed to inform the Select and Common Councils, that on or before the first day of September, the Pennsylvania Rail Road will be finished and in use to the base of the Allegheny Mountains in connection with the Portage Road, and from that period the trade of the City with the West may be expected to pass over the Pennsylvania improvements.

Resolved, That he be further instructed to inform the Councils, that in the opinion of this Board, so soon as the branch road now building to avoid the Inclined Plane is ready for use, (which may be expected in the month of August,) the trade will suffer serious injury for want of a Rail Road communication between that Branch and the City road in Broad and Market streets.

Resolved, That he be instructed to urge upon Councils the necessity of more energetic measures for the early completion of the Market street Bridge and Rail Road.

Extract from the minutes,

Thus it will be observed, directs the attention of the Companies to those points which the Committee consider of infinite importance, and which are required by the Ordinance relative thereto.

The visit of the Committee was confined to the Companies that have accepted of the provisions of the Ordinance of January 4th, 1844, entitled "An Ordinance for the better regulation of the Fire Department," and the several supplements thereto, and they have great pleasure in stating that their condition is such as would admit of their doing most effective service on occasions where their respective services should be required.

The cleanliness exhibited in the Houses, the systematic arrangement of the appendages to the Engines and Hose Carriages, together with the general neatness and order which prevails were highly creditable to the Companies designated in the Report, and afforded much satisfaction to the Committee. This is perhaps not the time, but the Committee contemplate at an early day to suggest certain alterations, and perhaps improvements in the Fire Department, as would in their opinion add greatly to the efficiency of those Companies who so justly merit commendation, but would lead to such general reform, as would be highly conducive to the public good, and render a body of men not only benefactors to their fellow citizens, but enable them to remove the deep stain which has blotted their former fair character.

Annexed is a resolution which the Committee recommend should be passed. All of which is respectfully submitted.

Mayor's Office, July 11th, 1850.

Gentlemen of the Select and Common Councils of the City of Phila.

With a view to be prepared for an emergency, expected to arise during the late fire, I called on the officer commanding Marines at Philadelphia to send me a body of men, to be employed in case it should be found necessary to remove any buildings by gunpowder.

Major John Harris, with great promptness, sent up twenty men and one Sergeant, under the command of Lieut. Graham. I detained them until it was apparent that the necessity of employing them would not occur.

During the evening, the Mayor of Wilmington generously offered to send on three Fire Companies, I accepted his offer, and, as I have been informed, some Companies came, and were received by our Firemen on the ground.

I received also during the evening, the same generous offers from the Cities of New York and Baltimore, but declined them, with many thanks for their kindness.

I have the honour to be

Your obt. servt.

To the Common Council:

The undersigned Committee appointed by, and on behalf of Common Council, to confer with a similar Committee on the part of Select Council in relation to the subject of the annexed resolutions, and upon "referring the same to the Committee on Cleansing, with power to take such measures as they may deem necessary,"

Respectfully Report—

It is the unanimous result of said conference,—that it be recommended to Select and Common Councils to adopt said resolutions with the following amendment, viz: Strike out all the words of the first resolution after the word "cleanliness" in the sixth line, and insert in lieu thereof the following, viz: To make report of any neglect on the part of the Contractor for Cleansing to the City Commissioners, and report weekly the condition of his district generally to the Committee on Cleansing, which Committee shall meet weekly until the day above named, to receive said reports. . Thus

Resolved, That until the 30th day of September next, the City shall be divided by the Clerks of Councils, into 31 Sanitary Districts, that each of the said districts shall be assigned by the Clerks to some one member of Councils, whose duty it shall be, if practicable, to inspect at least once a week each part of his district, in relation to its health and cleanliness, to make report of any neglect on the part of the Contractor for Cleansing to the City Commissioners, and report weekly the condition of his district generally to the Committee on Cleansing, which Committee shall meet weekly until the day abovenamed to receive said reports.

Resolved, That the Police of the city are hereby directed to obey the orders and directions of the members of the Councils, in relation to their respective districts, in all matters appertaining to the health and cleanliness thereof.

REPORT.

To the Select and Common Councils :—

The undersigned Committee of Visitation to Girard College, for the months of May and June, 1850, in contemplating this magnificent undertaking, would do injustice to their feelings and obligations were they to omit, on this occasion, to tender to their constituent bodies a testimony of satisfaction, and their cordial and sincere gratulations on the happy results Select and Common Councils have, successively achieved “through evil and through good report,” by the fulfillment of the requirements of the Will of STEPHEN GIRARD, as now exhibited throughout the Girard College for Orphans. And your Committee are fully persuaded that no impediment can possibly arise to obstruct the great and beneficent design of the Donor, even to the utmost extent of his liberality, while a system of clear, well-defined, and uniform government is maintained therein, by Councils; and whilst the ministration of its blessings is confided to competent and responsible agents.

The arrangement of their members by Councils, into Committees of Visitation, is worthy also of commendation. The practical advantages derived through this direct medium of communication, have been abundantly demonstrated; and it is obvious that the legal obligations imposed on Councils by Mr. Girard's Will, have been thus satisfied. Through these Committees, the facility of acquiring every species of information, even the most minute details in every department of the College, is placed within the reach of each member of Councils in turn; and hence it follows, that no abuse or defect in the government, or in the operations of the Institution, can escape observance, or be permitted to exist within its boundaries. The watchful care, and responsibilities of Councils, are thus afforded the means of satisfaction: the great objects of the Testator thus secured; the welfare, health and happiness of the inmates preserved: and the community at large, through these may, at all times, be assured of the faithfulness and care with which the benefits of the Institution are administered.

The minute books, and books of accounts, exhibit with great exactness the proceedings of the Directors, and the expenditures of the Institution.—Every Committee of the Board is responsible for the expenditures of the particular department under its care. Before being paid, the bills thus incurred, are supervised, first by the Committee on Accounts, again by the Board of Directors, and lastly by the Commissioners of the Girard Estates. Each bill is then copied in detail, and the amount posted to the account book of the appropriate Committee, where it is analyzed with care, under the heads of Subsistence, Fuel, Wages, Salaries, Books, Stationery, &c. The aggregate amounts thus analyzed, are again transferred to the Ledger, which shows, at a glance, the fiscal condition of the Institution, the amount of each separate item of support, the cost of each pupil, &c. At each stated meeting, a balance sheet is laid before the Board of Directors, exhibiting the appropriations, the expenditures, and the unexpended balances.

This system, although somewhat novel, and requiring much labor and care—which is very satisfactorily attended to by Mr. H. W. Arey, the Secretary and Librarian—is not, however, complicated, and will form a reliable and most interesting history of the College, and the labors of its Directors.

Your Committee deem it unnecessary further to particularize the varied matters which have been presented to their notice; or to commend where evidences of approval are so numerous; it may, however, be proper to add, that the new building, intended to increase the accommodation and promote the health and convenience of the family, is progressing with steady activity, having due regard to the durability of the structure, and will be completed within the time proposed.

It has been suggested, that the use of gas light throughout the establishment, would greatly promote the general purposes of the Institution, and eventually prove more economical than the ordinary means of lighting.

With the exception of one of the teachers, now restored, three pupils slightly sick, and one pupil afflicted with a disease, by which it appears he must have been afflicted in its incipient form, at the time of his admission, the health of this large family has been uninterrupted during the season of visitation.

The thanks of the Committee are due to the officers of the College, upon whom they have had occasion to call for information, especially to the gentleman who has recently been called to take charge of the Institution, Mr. William H. Allen; and Councils are largely indebted to the prescience and discrimination of the Board of Directors for their judicious choice of this gentleman. His kind and winning manners, exemplary piety, eminent mental endowments and qualifications, together with his experience as an instructor and guide of the youthful mind, have most suitably fitted him for the position he occupies—the Executive Administrator and Head of Girard College.

The Committee on Legacies and Trusts,

To whom was referred the petitions of the Neptune Hose Company, the Good Will Fire Company, the Reliance Engine Company, the Schuylkill Hose Company, and the United States Fire Company of the District of the Northern Liberties, for aid in consequence of injuries represented to have been received at the conflagration of July 9th last, and also the "Board of Trustees of the Philadelphia Association for the relief of disabled Firemen," for aid to the fund, Report, they have had the same under consideration, and have addressed to each of the accepting Companies under the Ordinance in relation thereto, requesting a statement of the injuries sustained ; and so soon as replies are received, the Committee will make such investigation as will enable them to come to a result as to the amount of aid which each may stand in need of.

Those embraced in the above category, are the Neptune Hose Company, the Good Will Fire Co., the Reliance Engine Co., and the Schuylkill Hose Co.

The Committee beg leave further to report, that they do not consider themselves authorized to take cognizance of the following, for reasons which they now assign—for instance,

The United States Engine Co., being located in the County, and the Philadelphia Association for the Relief of Disabled Firemen, not coming within the province of the duties prescribed by Ordinance to this Committee.

They however respectfully recommend them, under the circumstances, to the consideration of the Committee of Relief appointed July 10th last, and to which Committee they suggest their reference.

APPENDIX, NO. LXI.

The Committee on Public Highways report, that on the 5th July, 1849, Council referred to them a Resolution directing the City Surveyor to make a survey of the sewers of the City, and report upon a complete system of underground drainage.

The City Surveyor has had this subject under consideration from that time, and at the last meeting of the Committee made a report in part on this important matter, which report is herewith presented to the Councils.

SAUN. LEWIS,

ALGN. S. ROBERTS,

A. J. DERBYSHIRE.

CITY SURVEYOR'S OFFICE,

Philadelphia, 28th August, 1850.

GENTLEMEN—In projecting a system for the thorough drainage of the City of Philadelphia, the most serious difficulty that presents itself, is the very plain or flat surface of the City plat. Upon ground already sufficiently low in its natural condition, still further efforts have been made to reduce the elevation, until it stands so nearly on a level as to materially increase the difficulty of freeing it rapidly from heavy inundations, whether by rains, thaws, or any adventitious deluges, arising from the free use of water for the extinguishment of fires.

In a complete system of sewerage, all these elements must be taken into the account, and due consideration must be given to the action of these several causes, singly and in combination. It is of course impossible to change the level of the City; and remedial means must be sought, to obviate as far as possible the evils entailed by its injudicious adoption. One of the most important is the insertion of frequent inlets at short distances, so that temporary obstructions in the gutters cannot confine, above ground, any considerable amount of fluid. In aid of these means, whenever repairing becomes necessary, the level of the street should be increased as much as possible at its summit, so as to allow the greatest possible descent from the crown of the paving to the entrance of the inlet.

So far as I have been able to inform myself, the culverts in the City have been laid down without due reference to the areas which they were intended to drain. The first step to a perfect system is to ascertain with as much exactness as possible, the several areas requiring particular sewers, and to apportion the culverts to the necessities of each.

The necessary examinations and surveys with a view to this information are now being made; but it is a labor of patient research and extended time, and will delay a full and final report on the whole subject for a considerable period. Without such data it would be fruitless to lay down any definitive plan of sewerage that could meet the increasing wants of the City on this point.

No sewer should be constructed until its amount and character of drainage has been carefully ascertained. Hawkesly, in an examination before Commissioners of Inquiry into the state of large towns, &c., answers: "In respect to drainage, it may in many instances be found that owing to the neglect of the natural water courses, the waters of the District are very imperfectly carried away. * * * * It will therefore be necessary to introduce a searching survey, and to construct a comprehensive plan for the purpose of ascertaining and determining the nature and extent of those improvements which may be deemed necessary to promote the health and comfort of the population that is to be affected. Such survey and plan would also materially contribute to the efficiency of construction, and the economy of management. The extent of survey must be determined by the natural features of the country, and must not be limited by any artificial boundaries."

That the most prompt measures should be taken to project and lay down a complete system of sewerage, is apparent to all who have paid the least attention to the subject. In the hot season especially, the stench arising from our courts and alleys is abhorrent to the senses, from the amount of putrid water in the gutters, and the effluvia arising from the abundance of well privies, both which evils should be, if possible, removed.

As far as practicable, privilege should be given, under proper restrictions, and perhaps at proper rates, to open into the common sewers, outlets for water-closets and other drains, for the passage of the debris accruing from various sources. These restrictions should embrace, that each and every water-closet or hopper, should be made with a proper trap, not exceeding four inches in diameter; where a series of water-closets is introduced into one pipe, there should be sufficient fall given to the receiving pipe to prevent the possibility of the filth deposited into one closet from backing upon another; and further, that a trap should be placed at the point where the receiving pipe is introduced into that which leads to the main sewer.

The propriety of thus getting rid of the necessary refuse of a crowded population, cannot be too strongly insisted upon. Every new sewer should be made at such a level as would permit as far as possible this use of them. A use to which many of those already existing cannot possibly be appropriated. Such a construction of sewerage would lead largely in future building to the introduction of water-closets, in lieu of the old system of well privies, a system nauseous in all its features, and more or less always tending to inconvenience and disease.

The granting of these privileges would be compensated by certain rates of assessment, the details of which fall properly within the province of Councils to determine ; but the benefits accruing to the owners and tenants from their substitution, might well afford a liberal compensation for such use of the culverts, and relieve the city in some measure from the heavy expenditure incurred in their construction.

In this connection, it is to be remarked that experience has demonstrated that the most proper form for sewers is the egg-shaped, with the narrow point at the bottom.

It is unnecessary here to urge the scientific arguments which prove that such a form more readily frees itself of the semi-fluid mass of which it is the outlet. Wherever this shape has been adopted, it has received the favorable testimony of every one conversant with the subject, and may now be considered as a point definitively settled.

In determining upon the erection of a complete system of sewerage, a certain classification of their capacity is necessary, which should be commensurate with the areas they are intended to drain, as well as the supplies of water required by the same. This classification, with a proper attention to ventilation, it is supposed would fully meet all contingencies. The absence of any ventilation in many of the sewers already built, very materially reduces their capacity, as it frequently happens that less than one-half the capacity of the culvert is appropriated to the transmission of the water and heavier substances, the remainder being occupied by compressed air.

The ventilators at present in use, are exceedingly injudicious in their elevation, and I think unnecessarily complicated in their machinery. It is suggested that in all future constructions for this purpose, the conducting pipes should be carried up to the average height of the buildings in their vicinity, so as to throw the nauseous effluvia into the atmosphere beyond the ordinary inhalation of the inhabitants. This might conveniently be done by bringing the pipes to the surface, close to or within the walls of the buildings, and continuing them either annexed to the water spouts, or entirely removed from view through the brick work of the houses.

This method would furnish a continual ventilation, and lessen the liability to derangement, and remove the nuisance at times so annoying by their present insufficient elevation.

It will be seen that I have in this hasty sketch confined my observations entirely to the subject of sewerage, omitting altogether any notice of other matters properly falling within the sphere of my official duties.

In a more full and extended report, wherein a perfect system of drainage will be attempted, other considerations, suggested by my researches for the examination of the main subject, but only incidentally connected with it, will be treated upon. The manner in which the requirements of legislative and municipal acts for the erection of tenement walls is evaded in spirit, while apparently fulfilled to the letter, may be instanced as one of the subjects which should be thoroughly examined, and proper remedies provided.

The great importance to the city of the projected improvements, requires a corresponding care in the examination of all the points connected with them, and calls not only for the most minute investigation, but also for the most careful consideration and digestion of the whole subject. This will necessarily consume a considerable amount of time and labor. The full and final report cannot be completed prior to the first of December ensuing. As much force as can be advantageously employed, is now engaged in determining the areas to be drained by particular sections of sewerage, and in the endeavor to ascertain the amount and locality of the sewers now existing.

The final report will embrace a map of the old sewerage as far as the researches of the examiners will enable me to prepare it, with a statement of what portion of the same may be made available in the intended general system, and how much, from various considerations, it will be proper to close and discontinue altogether.

Respectfully submitted,

SAML. H. KNEASS,

CITY SURVEYOR.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your inquiries of yesterday, I beg to state that the subscriptions to the capital stock of the Company thus far, amount in round numbers to $7,000,000. The receipts to the 1st inst. on account of subscriptions other than those of the City of Philadelphia, County of Allegheny and District of Spring Garden, were $2,290,000, and the disbursements to same date, $4,787,204 87. The estimates presented since 1st inst. exceed $170,000, and there is a large sum due to contractors for labor and materials, which will be payable in cash, and the stock of the Company when their contracts are completed. The profit upon City loan amounts to $7,712 08, of which the City is entitled to one-half. I would add that it would facilitate our operations and in all probability enhance the amount of premium to be divided between the City and this Company, to place us in possession at this time of all the loan to which we are entitled under the subscription made to-day, less the amount to be retained for interest due the City in November next.

Respectfully and truly yours,

W. C. PATTERSON.

The business of fulfilling the purposes of this fund, was, by Ordinance of Councils, Sept. 9th, 1841, vested in the Franklin Institute of the State of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic arts. The provisions of the Ordinance expired in September of that year, and has been renewed for seven years.

The Board of Managers having certified to the following award, it was paid by the Committee, viz :

To B. Franklin Palmer of New Hampshire, for his invention of an artificial leg.

SAMUEL SCOTTIN'S LEGACY.

This legacy, for the purchase of bread for the poor of the City, and Southwark, to be distributed annually on the 23d of February—the birth-day of Mr. Scottin—unless the same shall fall on Sunday, consists of An irredeemable ground rent of $12 per annum.

PAUL BECK, JR.'S LEGACY.

For the use of Soup Societies of the City, was beneficially distributed during the severe weather of last Winter. It consists of

A ground rent of $500 per annum.

THE BOUDINOT LANDS.

These lands were visited by a sub-Committee in the year 1848, and to this report the Committee would refer, should information be desired in relation thereto.

The foregoing embraces such subjects as the Committee believes would be interesting to Councils, but full details in any, and all the premises, can be readily reached when required.

Before concluding the Report, however, the Committee deem it proper to state that a portion of their body visited the Wills' Hospital on the 23d inst, an Institution, which, under its excellent management, contributes greatly to ameliorate the condition of sufferers labouring particularly from affection of the eyes, and lameness. Its usefulness would, however, in the opinion of the Committee, be much increased, were Councils to act upon one of two suggestions which they now make, to wit :

1. To enlarge the present building by the addition of wings, or any other mode which might be deemed preferable, of such capacity, and as would admit of various improvements for the benefit of the afflicted ; or,

2. What would be still better, in the opinion of the Committee—dispose of the present building, and all the ground or square attached thereto, and then to purchase further West, a suitable lot, and build thereon an edifice more appropriate, and better adapted to the present size, as well as future growth of our City.

The Committee do not doubt for a moment, but that a sale could be made at this time, of the lot or square now appropriated, from the proceeds of which a beautiful and extensive structure could be raised, and also an income, which, with that now employed, would be ample for a much enlarged charity.

With the expression of these views, the Committee close their Report, and most earnestly urge Councils to an early consideration of the subject.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

APPENDIX, NO. LXX.

To the Select and Common Councils :

The Joint Special Committee appointed by virtue of a resolution of Councils passed the 11th day of July, 1850, with instructions "to examine into and report upon the causes of the great fire" of the 9th July, "and of the explosion thereat, and to inquire and report whether any further restrictions should be made as to the storage of goods within the limits of the City, and diminish the risk from fires to life and property,"

REPORT,

That the fire, for an investigation of the causes of which, &c. your Committee was appointed, took place on the 9th day of July, late in the afternoon, and originated in the upper room of a warehouse, situate on Water, near Vine street, occupied by Messrs. Berger & Butz, and used for the storage of baled hay ; the lower rooms were used by the owners of the premises, Messrs. John Brock, Sons & Co., and at the time of the fire contained large quantities of saltpetre, sulphur, sugar and molasses.

The cause of the fire your Committee has not been able to ascertain. An investigation into the cause of the explosion has sedulously engaged their attention ; popular rumor assign it to the presence of gunpowder ; it was also alleged that saltpetre was the agent.

The owners of the premises assert that there was no powder in the building at the period of the fire ; and that there had been none therein for a long time previous. Your Committee are satisfied of the truth of this assertion. It appears from an examination of the Register kept at the Powder Magazine on the banks of the Schuylkill, wherein, by act of Assembly, all powder introduced into, or manufactured in the County of Philadelphia, is required to be stored, that no powder has been either stored therein by, or delivered therefrom to the owners or occupants of the store in which the explosion took place, for a long time antecedent thereto. The books of the Messrs. Brocks, Sons & Co. were without hesitation submitted to the inspection of your Committee, and after a rigid scrutiny thereof, and of the accounts of those gentlemen from 1847 to the date of the fire, they were unable to discover any evidence that powder had been stored in their warehouse in Water st., or in any other place in their control. It will appear from the letter from Mr. Dupont herewith presented, that saltpetre, mixed with the substances which it is conceded were in the warehouse of the Messrs. Brocks, will make an explosive compound. The Committee have heard of abundant testimony to corroborate this statement; and they are constrained to conclude that in their opinion, the explosion referred to, was caused by the combination of saltpetre with the other merchandize which was in the store at the time of the fire.

The Committee are decidedly of the opinion that the storage of saltpetre with other substances should be prohibited; and they recommend that Councils should apply to the Legislature for the passage of laws to require that saltpetre should be stored alone; and they ask leave to call the early attention of the next Councils to the subject of such application.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

LETTER FROM ALFRED DU PONT, Esq.

Wilmington, July 20th, 1850.

BENJAMIN GERHARD, Philadelphia.

Sir,—In compliance with our late conversation, I give you the following statement:

Saltpetre is a non-combustible substance, but is one of the most powerful supporters of combustion; hence its use in making gunpowder, fire-works and other mechanical compounds of more or less energy, as may be required.

The combustible substances commonly used in making gunpowder, are charcoal and saltpetre.

Experiments made, long since, at Essone, by order of the French Government, show that gunpowder made with eighty-five parts of saltpetre and fifteen of coal, has nearly half the strength of common gunpowder, when used for artillery service, and that when used in much larger quantities, its strength approximates more to that of powder.

A composition made with saltpetre and sulphur, well triturated and mixed, say eighty saltpetre and twenty sulphur, will produce in small quantities a violent fire, but not an explosive mixture; in large masses, such a compound is no doubt explosive. The three ingredients, saltpetre, coal and sulphur, when made into gunpowder, give the explosive mixture of the most power for ordinary use.

It has been remarked by the early writers on the subject, that the effect of gunpowder increases in a greater ratio than the weights used; ten pounds fired at one time, giving more than ten times the result of one pound; modern improvements have decreased the ratio, yet there can be no doubt that the explosive force or breaking power of gunpowder is more than doubled, when used, as two is to one.

Mixtures of saltpetre and coal, or of saltpetre and sulphur, increase in energy, as larger quantities are used, in a ratio much greater than in the case of gunpowder; the cause is simple—gunpowder is made so as to give out the greatest amount of caloric in the shortest time possible; the other compounds when in large quantities will, on taking fire, burn and fuse; thus heat sufficient is evolved to cause an explosion.

Saltpetre stored separately from any combustible substance, can cause no explosion, because the coal produced from the bags and the wood-work of the building, cannot mix through it; such coal causes the fire to burn more or less rapidly, according to the quantity of wood-work, &c.; but there are vegetable substances, such as shell-lac, resin, pitch, tar, &c. &c., which melt at a low temperature, and which, when stored in the same building with saltpetre, will melt if the building takes fire; substances, when in a liquid state, fill all the vacant spaces between the crystals of saltpetre, and becoming charred, make an explosive compound. Sugar and molasses will have much less effect than shell-lac, resin, &c. &c. However, even saccharine substances will, when mixed with large quantities of saltpetre, make an explosive compound.

There is one mineral substance often stored with saltpetre; it is sulphur; it melts at a low temperature, and is then very liquid, will fill up every interstice between the crystals; as the heat increases the sulphur thickens, becomes viscid and will not flow as a liquid, it must, therefore, remain mixed with the saltpetre until the whole mass has acquired sufficient heat to explode. In such cases (the explosion of saltpetre and sulphur,) the heat required is of course much accelerated by the small quantity of coal produced by the bagging, timbers, &c.

It would be desirable that saltpetre should be stored by itself, in buildings under the control of your city authorities; this could be arranged so as to cost nothing to the owners of the saltpetre or to the public; for one-half a cent per bag, per month, would cover the cost of storage, and be no more than the expense of storing in a private store.

The owner of the saltpetre could always receive one or two dray-loads, at one time, to retail out; such quantities would be attended with no danger. If a greater quantity were wanted, it would be for export, and would go direct to the transportation lines.

The few instances of explosions produced in saltpetre which have happened within this century, (I know of none previous to 1800,) are

No. 1.—A schooner at the wharf at Boston; there must have been powder on board, because the quantity of saltpetre being trifling, it could not have caused the injury produced.

No. 2.—The great New York explosion, caused by shell-lac, and the explosion much increased by the materials being buried under an immense weight of coffee.

No. 3.—The explosion at Brooklyn. In this instance, combustible substances, of a nature to melt, were in proximity to the saltpetre.

No. 4.—The late accident in the Messrs. Brocks' store. Sulphur was in proximity, and there may have been on the upper floors some vegetable substances capable of melting. It should be remarked, that when fire has occurred in buildings containing saltpetre without any combustible substance, no explosion has taken place.

First. In the case of the burning of the French Government Refinery, at Paris, in the year 1794, the amount of saltpetre was enormous—it is believed not to have been less than one million of pounds; no explosion took place—all the wood-work was destroyed, the copper melted, but the walls remained standing and fit for use.

Second. When the Refinery of the Bellona Mills, near Baltimore, took fire in September, 1812, there was no explosion ; the walls of the building were extremely weak, but remained standing ; the fire was intense, and the sparks falling on the roofs of the powder mills, made four of them explode. The sulphur was stored in a separate building, which was near the Refinery ; this store-house took fire and was destroyed with all its contents, but from its location the fused sulphur could not flow in the Refinery, and thus no explosion occurred there.

Third. In 1824 or 1825, about eight hundred bags stored in your city were destroyed by fire ; the store stood in an alley running from the wharf to Penn street, below Pine, and the fire was so intense, that the smoke and gasses evolved, not finding sufficient vent through the doors and windows, actually forced their way through the joints of the brick walls ; no explosion took place, except a few puffs caused by some casks of liquor.

More instances might be brought in evidence, but the above is, I believe, sufficient.

Yours, very respectfully,

ALFRED DU PONT.

APPENDIX, No. LXXII.

To regulate the City Treasury.

SECT. 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Citizens of Philadelphia in Select and Common Councils assembled, That it shall be the duty of the City Treasurer to open, in such incorporated bank or banks in the City of Philadelphia as the Committee on Finance of the Select and Common Councils shall from time to time designate, two accounts, one of which shall be in the name of the Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Philadelphia, and the other shall be called the Collection and Transfer account of the Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Philadelphia: The credits to the first abovenamed account shall consist of the transfer of credits from the second abovenamed account, to be made in the manner hereinafter mentioned, and of deposits of such money belonging to the city as shall be paid to the City Treasurer: And the debits to said account shall consist exclusively of the payments of checks to be drawn on the said account by the City Treasurer on the back of the Mayor's warrants hereinafter mentioned. The credits to the Collection and Transfer Account aforesaid, shall consist of the deposits to be made to the credit of the same by any person or persons other than the City Treasurer, as hereinafter mentioned; and the debits thereto shall consist exclusively of the transfer of credits from time to time to be made from the said account to the first abovementioned account, whenever the City Treasurer shall direct the same.

SEC. 2. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it shall be the duty of every officer making any collection for or receiving any money on account of the city, to deposit the same as soon as he can reasonably do so after the receipt thereof, in such of the said banks as shall be named to him by the Chairman of the said Finance Committee, to the Credit of the Collection and Transfer Account of the Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Philadelphia; and on making such deposit he shall receive from said bank an acknowledgment of the same in such form as shall be directed by the said Committee on Finance, which acknowledgment he shall deliver to the City Treasurer and be entitled to receive from him an acquittance for the amount of such deposit: And every lender of money to the city shall in like manner deposit the amount so loaned, receive such acknowledgment, deliver the same to the City Treasurer, and receive such acquittance as before named. And the City Treasurer, upon the receipt of any such acknowledgment, shall transfer the amount named therein to the credit of the said first mentioned account.

SEC. 3. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That no money shall be paid out of the City Treasury except upon a requisition on the Mayor in the manner prescribed by existing ordinances; and upon the receipt by the Mayor of any such requisition, he shall file the same in his office, and thereupon draw his warrant on the City Treasurer for the payment of the amount thereof to the person named in such requisition or his order; and the City Treasurer on the receipt thereof shall pay the amount therein named, by a check endorsed on the said warrant payable to the same person or his order. For the payment of interest due by the city, requisitions shall be made on the Mayor by the said Committee on Finance, for the whole amount due at the time of each stated payment thereof, who shall file the same as beforementioned, and draw his warrant on and in favor of the City Treasurer for the amount thereof; and the said Treasurer shall deposit the same to the credit of an account which he shall open in one of said banks, to be called an Interest Account, and the said Treasurer shall issue his checks on said account to the individuals entitled to receive such interest.

SEC. 4. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That all Certificates of City Loan shall be signed by the Mayor and City Treasurer, each of whom shall keep a Register of such certificates; and no original certificate shall be signed by the Mayor without the production to him of an acknowledgment as beforementioned of the amount deposited for the same; and no certificate to be issued on a transfer of City Loan, shall be signed by the Mayor without the cancellation and production to him of the prior certificate in the place of which such new certificate is to be issued.

SECT. 5. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That whenever the Mayor shall be absent from the city, or unable by reason of sickness or any other cause to perform the duties herein required of him, then such duty shall be devolved upon the President of the Common Council for the time being; and such absence or inability of the Mayor shall be certified on the back of the instrument to be issued by the Clerk of Police.

SECT. 6. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the City Treasurer may depute a person to perform the duties herein required of him, when he may be incapable thereof by reason of sickness, absence or other inability: but such deputy shall first be approved of by the said Committee on Finance, and the consent of the sureties of the said Treasurer must be had thereto.

SECT. 7. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That so much of any Ordinance as is hereby altered or supplied, be, and the same is hereby repealed.
